made by Lech Walesa, Solidarity's leader, at a factory meeting in Radom on Thursday. "There is no national agreement, for there is no one to agree with," Mr. Walesa said. "The other side cheats."

The union presidium claimed that the talks had proved fruitless on Solidarity's basic demands. It listed the demands as the right to inspect the nation's food supplies, autonomy of local administrations.

economic reform, rule of law, and access to the government-con-trolled mass media particularly the television news service, which is widely criticized as being under the control of dogmatic Commu-

The Solidarity declaration moved into the foreground last weekend's resolution by a plenary session of the Communist Party's policy-making Central Committee, which called on the government to submit to the Sejm, or parliament, a bill empowering the regime to ban strikes, to curtail press freedom and the rights to assembly and travel abroad, and to turn offenders over to military rather

Unpublicized Session Solidarity sources reported that group of the union's leaders met

Friday morning in an unpublicized to discuss the bill. The draft law has not yet been presented by the Sejm's top official to the membership at large or to the committees that would have to pass on its provisions. Presumably the union leadership wants to persuade the regime to withdraw or alter the Wojciech Jaruzelski, the premier and Communist Party leader, and Communist Party leader, made no official statements on the conflict Friday, it showed its deep concern over the deterioration of the situation in statements in the official press.

While the government of Gen.

session with parliamentary leaders than civil courts.

Sakharov and Wife Put in Hospital

By Dusko Doder

MOSCOW — The Soviet government moved Friday to end a hunger strike by Andrei D. Sakharov, the country's foremost civil rights activist, by taking him to a hospital on the 13th day of his protest. Indications here are that Mr. Sakharov and his wife, Yelena Bonner, who had joined him in the hunger strike, were involuntarily hospitalized in Gorki, the industrial city 400 kilometers [248 miles] east of Moscow to which he was banished almost two years ago.

A statement in the government newspaper Izvestia said the Sakharovs were being ad-ministered "prophylactic medical assistance to prevent any complications in the state of their health." The phrase indicated that they may be receiving intravenous feeding.

Mr. Sakharov, in a message a few days ago, asserted that he would not end his protest or seek medical help unless the government allowed a young woman to join his stepson in the United States. "Now the only possibility for terminating our hunger strike is the exit" of Lisa Alexeyeva, the nuclear

The brief statement in Izvestia Friday night was coupled with a long commentary that sharply criticized his past political activities and asserted that he had gone on a hunger strike in an effort to turn personal family problems "into a cosmic crisis."

There was no information here about the state of the Sakharovs' health. An acquaintance of the physicist reported by phone from Gorki Friday night that the Sakharovs were not in their apartment. Miss Alexeyeva had send a telegram early Friday to Mr. Sakharov and had received by midmorning an official confirmation from Gorki that the cable had been handed per-Knowledgable sources said earlier that because of their age the Sakharovs' condition was likely to become critical after two weeks of fasting. Mr. Sakharov is 60, and his wife is 58. They reportedly have been taking only mineral water since Nov. 22.

The timing of their move to a hospital suggests that Soviet authorities were beginning to worry about possible negative world reaction should Mr. Sakharov die while protesting Soviet noticies

Observers here suggested that the Sakharovs' health may not have deteriorated a great deal yet.

The hospitalization seemed to have been designed to head off the approaching crisis and adverse headlines in the West. But the Izvestia commentary indicated that Soviet authorities are going to use the occasion to discredit the physicist, who had helped develop the hydrogen bomb for the Soviet Union and had been one of the leading Soviet scientists before falling from favor in 1968 for writing an essay critical of Soviet

In what was the first mention of the hunger strike in Soviet media, Izvestia said that the hunger strike was a trick and a provoca-

on every ballot, China vetoed him

each time while the United States

The most prominent of the possible compromise candidates are

Foreign Ministers Jorge Castañeda

of Mexico and Jorge Illueca of Panama: veteran Peruvian diplo-mat Javier Pérez de Cuellar; former Guyanan Foreign Minister

Shridath Ramphal, now secretary-general of the Commonwealth; Carlos Ortiz de Rozas, Argentina's ambassador to Britain; and Prince

Sadruddin Aga Khan, a former

UN high commissioner for refuconsistently vetoed Mr. Salim.

West's attention to Sakharov's anti-Soviet views and to play up to forces trying to und-ermine detente and aggravate international But the central theme of the commentary focused on the case of Miss Alexeyeva.

The paper said that Mrs. Bonner's son. Alexei Semyenov, while married to Olga Levshina, had an illicit relationship with Miss Alexeyeva. Mr. Semyenov was permitted to emigrate to the United States and Mrs. Levshina and their child joined him there under the noversion of "femily counification of the state of the stat there under the provision of "family reunifi-

"Alexeyeva was deserted," the paper said. "She tried to commit suicide but was saved by doctors." Subsequently Mr. Sakharov and his wife took Miss Alexeyeva into their apartment as a "maid" and "started to brainwash her," it added.

The paper said that Miss Alexeyevna, who is not Jewish, tried first to emigrate to Israel "at the invitation of a fictitious aunt." Her father, a retired lieutenant colonel, and mother both "categorically objected" to her plans for leaving the country, it said.

Later, when her application was rejected, she used a "trick" devised by the Sakharovs, the paper said. Mr. Semyenov and his wife were diverced in the United States and Mr. Semyenov married Miss Alexeyeva in a proxy ceremony in Montana. Izvestia said that Soviet laws allow "neither bigamy nor proxy marriages."

Andrei D. Sakharov and Yelena Bonner

... in February, 1980

Salim Won't Drop Bid In Stalemated UN Race

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. -Tanzania's foreign minister, Salim Ahmed Salim, has refused to withdraw from the deadlocked race for UN secretary-general, and Security Council members indicated that they consider Kurt Waldheim still to be a candidate despite his offer to step aside. Olara Otunno of Uganda, the Security Council president for De-cember, said Thursday that he had asked both men "to step aside so we can consider other candidates, and Mr. Waldheim complied." But African delegates met later and decided that Mr. Salim, the Third World candidate, should not do so. "There is no question of with-drawal." Algerian representative Mohammed Bedjaoui said efter the meeting Mr. Salim, 39, who has been running with the endorsement of the Organization of African Unity and the 93-nation nonaligaed move-

Proposal Opposed

, ...

The second of th

T ME

Mr. Otunno said that, if the 15member council could not agree on a compromise candidate, it might agree to split the five-year term between Mr. Salim and Mr. Waldheim - but only as a last resort. The proposal is strongly op-posed in the council. Under UN rules, the organization must have a secretary-general by Jan. 1, Mr.

Nothing is completely ruled

From Agency Disputches
WASHINGTON — Unemploy-

was the highest since the 1974-

1975 recession, and joblessness

among teen-agers reached a record

21.8 percent.

The number of people who cannot find jobs has climbed by 1.5 million since July, However, 98 million people were employed in the United States last month.

President Reagan was asked at a

White House regemony if he was 10 percent in Britain.

out," he said. "It might be possible for the council to arrive at a con-

There was also a possibility that Mr. Waldheim or Mr. Salim could be picked without formal ballot-ing. This would provide a face-sav-ing device for either China or the United States, whose vetoes have deadlocked the election. A Western member of the council said that, rather than a split term, he foresaw the possibility of the council's deciding by con-sensor to extend Mr. Waldheim's current term for two years.

"I want the matter to be settled before Dec. 15," when the UN General Assembly's current ses-sion is due to adjoin until next September, Mr. Otumo said. The Security Council nominates a candidate for election by the assempected the council to begin consultations with a view to opening the race to more candidates. Mr. Waldheim has served 10 vears as the United Nations' chief administrative officer, having succeeded U Thant of Burma in December, 1971. His main support has come from the West and the Soviet Union, which apparently prefer to stick with a tried, skilled Asmolaib

His second five-year term expires Dec. 31, and 16 rounds of balloting that began more than a month ago in the Security Council have failed to elect a candidate for submission to the General Assembly. Although Mr. Waldheim led alarmed by the sudden, pre-Christ-

MIDDLE EAST TALKS — Philip C. Habib, the U.S. Middle East envoy, with Foreign Minister Yitzbak Shamir of Israeli before starting formal talks in Jerusalem on Friday. Israel reportedly expressed concern about a possible Palestinian buildup in Lebanon. Page 2.

Unemployment in the 10-nation

European Economic Community reached a record 9.1 million in August - 8 percent of the EEC workforce - in the last quarterly figures released by the EEC. The jobless rate is 7.5 percent in France, 8 percent in Italy, 6.4 percent in West Germany and nearly people back to work.

Haig Calls on Americas to Counter 'Threats' by Cuba and Nicaragua

By Don Oberdorfer

Washington Post Service
CASTRIES, St. Lucia — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. Friday called on the nations of the Western Hemisphere to take collective action against what the United States considers threats to peace and security from Cuba and Speaking to the General Assem-bly of the Organization of Ameri-can States, Mr. Haig described in strong terms rising dangers of "ter-ror and war in the region," but he did not propose specific actions which the OAS or its member nations might take in response.

Mr. Haig mentioned the 1947 Rio treaty of collective defense against aggression in the hemisphere, but he did not propose that the treaty be invoked formally at this point against Cuba or Nicara-

A senior aide to Mr. Haig on Latin American matters said in a briefing that the address was aimed at "starting a process" and "launching a concept" that might lead in time to collective action. The official forecast follow-up meetings to include some, but not all members of the OAS.

Another State Department official said that "joint contingency planning" by the United States and some of its hemispheric allies could be one aim of forthcoming

Mr. Haig's address, and his discussions with senior Latin American diplomats here in the last two days, suggested an administration decision to mute the talk of unilateral U.S. military steps in Central America and to shift the focus of attention to regional responsibility and regional solutions.

Nicaraguan Foreign Minister Miguel d'Escoto immediately challenged Mr. Haig's charge that his country is intervening militarily in El Salvador by aiding the guerrilla forces there.

Nonintervention Principle

Mr. d'Escoto charged in a press conference following Mr. Haig's speech that Washington, rather than Managua, "is clearly violating the principle of nomintervention" in Cental America and elsewhere.

The consensus of comments by Latin American diplomats on Mr. Haig's address appeared to be positive. But it was unclear how many hemispheric nations would be willing to endorse military steps to combat Cuban or Nicaraguan ac-

"The United States is prepared to join others in doing whatever is prudent and necessary to prevent any country in Central America from becoming the platform of terror and war in the region," Mr. Haig told the OAS assembly.

He declared that "President Reagan has made clear that we have no plans to send combat troops to Central America," but he also declared that the United tions to resist "illegal intervention" and will supply economic and mili-tary assistance when needed.

Speaking of U.S. proposals to Nicaragua made several months ago by Assistant Secretary of State Thomas O. Enders, his top aide on Latin matters, Mr. Haig told the OAS meeting, "if Nicaragua ad-dresses our concerns about interventionism and militarization, we are prepared to address their con-

His senior aide said, however, that Nicaragna had sent a letter to Washington saying that "they rejected our proposals" and that Mr. d'Escoto presented "nothing new" on this subject to Mr. Haig in their meeting here Wednesday.

The Nicaraguan foreign minister gave a different account of the recent diplomatic dialog ty, thus curbing the activity of Nicaraguan exile groups who are conducting paramilitary training on U.S. soil, and to issue a joint statement with Nicaragua foreclosing threats or use of force or foreign intervention as principles of their relationship.

Mr. d'Escoto said that "we didn't reject this," but that Nicaragua asked in its reply for U.S. actions in line with these proposals as a next step. He said that Nicaragua's message had not been an-

Senate Approves Funds He said that the United States made two written proposals: To enforce the U.S. laws on neutralimates the 100 planes will cost $28 By Robert C. Siner

nal Herald Tribune

By Henry Kamm

New York Times Service
WARSAW — The independent

The union made its threat in a statement adopted early. Friday morning, after a late-night session of its presidium in the town of Radom, and circulated it later in the day. The declaration is to be discussed by Solidarity's national commission at a meeting in Solidarity's leadership drafted its militant pronouncement after a series of debates within a number of its directing bodies following Wednesday's storming by riot po-lice and troops of a fire service academy in Warsew where cadets were striking. The assault signifi-cantly heightened the growing tension as the government found itself

thwarted in its effort to dampen

Solidarity's militancy without

Referring to talks under way between government and Solidarity groups to develop a framework for national reconciliation, the union presidium charged that the government had used the talks to mislead society and intensify "anti-union

Friday's Warsaw regional daily news bulletin of the union featured acceding to its major demands.

Gdansk next week.

WASHINGTON — The Senate on Friday approved a $208.6-billion military appropriation bill that includes funds for the B-I bomber and the MX missile in a victory for President Reagan's strategic weapons program.

The 84-5 vote ended four days of debate during which adminis-tration supporters beat back attempts on Thursday to delete $2.4 billion for the B-1 from the bill and cut off funds for research on basing the MX.

Just before passage, the Senate agreed by voice vote to add another $62 million to the measure to allow the Air Force to continue to operate three squadrons of B-52

Mr. Reagan's only real setback came Wednesday when the Senate voted overwhelmingly to force the administration to spend almost all of the $354 million of the MX research funds on long-term basing for the MX rather than on an interim plan proposed by the president to place the missiles in super-hardened Titan and Minuteman missile sites.

The proposal to build 100 MX missiles and house the first 30 or 40 of them in existing silos was annonnced by Mr. Reagan on Oct. 2 as part of a broad strategic defense plan. It has been sharply criticized by pro-defense congressmen who say that basing the missile in an immobile silo would not close what Mr. Reagan has called the "window of vulnerability" in the late 1980s.

However, on Thursday, Senate Republicans who joined in the 90-4 vote sought to blur their differences with Mr. Reagan by noting that about $20 million was still available for research on the superhardened silos. And Democrats said that the vote was not a repudiation of the president but an ex-pression of disapproval designed to speed up the decision on long-term basing.

The measure must now go to a conference with the House, which passed its own bill last month. The House also approved funds for the B-1 and MX but its bill totals $197.4 billion President Reagan had asked for a $200.9-billion military appropriation. On Thursday, the Senate spent nearly six and a half hours in debate before rejecting on a 66-28 vote an amendment by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, Democrat of South Carolina, that would have re-moved $2.4 billion in fiscal 1982 funds for the B-1 bomber and reallocated the bulk of the money to conventional forces and basic readiness programs. Opposition to the bomber has centered on questions of both cost and capability. The Air Force estibillion (with inflation), while the Congressional Budget Office has estimated the cost at $39.8 billion. Sen. Hollings called the plane a "$400-million monstrosity" and cited testimony last month by Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger that the plane would be unable to penetrate Soviet air defenses after 1990. Mr. Weinberger has since retracted that testimony and now says the B-1 will serve as a ready to replace it. The B-1 opponents also expressed the fear that the twobomber approach would eventually force the administration to drain money from the development of the Stealth, a plane whose technology remains to be perfected.

penetrating bomber well into the 1990s, when the Stealth or advanced technology bomber will be

'A Happy Day'

"This is a happy day," said Bas-tian Hello, head of Rockwell's North American aviation operations. Thursday night after the Senate refused to cut B-1 funding from the military spending bill.

Mr. Hello said Rockwell, which has been deluged with job applications since President Reagan made the B-! a major part of his military modernization program, is ready to move quickly. Officials estimate the bomber could mean as many as 16,000 jobs in Ohio at peak pro-

"We could get a turn-on [start order] the beginning of the year," Mr. Hello said, adding that contract negotiations with the Air Force are in their final stages.

INSIDE

Inside Criticism

In a series of unusually critical comments, a senior Republi-can official has said that both David A. Stockman and Richard V. Allen will be forced to leave office because of credibility problems in the Reagan administration. Page 3.

Chinese Patience

A Communist official has cautioned the Chinese not to expect immédiate results from Peking's proposal for reunification with Taiwan. Page 5.

Dali's Comeback

At the age of 77, Salvador Dali is making a comeback after struggling for almost two years with disease and depression, and chaos in his financial life. In Weekend, Page 7W.

Guatemala Political Strife Grows Conflict Believed to Have Taken 11,000 Lives This Year

By Raymond Bonner . New York Times Service

GUATEMALA CITY - While international attention has been on the civil war in tiny El Salvador, Guatemala's neighbor to the south, the insurgency in this country has grown to what many Guatemalans believe is a revolutionary war. Religious leaders who have tried to keep track of the killings say nearly 11,000 Guatemalans have been slain in the political violence this year. Meanwhile, the Guatemalan Army has opened its first major operation against the guerrillas threatening the govern-ment of President Romeo Lucás García. U.S. Embassy officials say the government, while still in control, is in trouble and needs military assistance. None has been supplied by the United States since 1977, when aid was cut off because of the country's human rights record. Amid the shooting, Salvadorans and Guatemalans are hearing the promises of politicians. Presidential elections are scheduled for March in both countries, and U.S. officials hope that the voting will provide a solution to the political violence and bring some stability to the region. But with left-of-center groups not participating in either country's elections, the out-

Nevertheless, in some respects they have demonstrated more military prowess than the Salvadoran guerrillas. They have attacked several medium-sized cities, including the provincial capital of Solola, where, they killed the governor. Ten national policemen were killed when three busloads of guerrillas attacked Escuintla, a provincial capital and the country's second largest city. The chief of staff of Guatemala's armed forces, Gen. Benedicto Lucás García, the president's younger brother, has put the insurgents' armed strength at 2,000 to 4,000. Most of the guerrillas are peasants, workers, students and young professionals. U.S. officials know little about their leaders, although it is widely accepted that many of them received

Except for a few military jeeps filled with combat-ready soldiers and an increasing number of armor-reinforced station wagons that wend through the narrow streets, there is little evidence of war in this capi-

In July, the army discovered 28 guerrilla "safe houses" here. One was a factory for sewing uniforms like those worn by the National Police and army soldiers. The raids also netted machine guns, automatic rifles and other weapons. Since those raids, there have been several attacks against police stations here. Four policemen were

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

There are four guerrilla organizations in Guatemala. Unlike the five guerrilla groups in El Salvador, they are not unified under one military command.

U.S. Unemployment Up to 8.4%, Highest Rate in 6 Years 21.8 percent and for blacks, at a criticized the administration be-the last two months during which "The economic downturn is widespread," she said, noting that less than one-third of the 172 industries checked by the bureau recorded employment increases during the two-month period, while in prior months about half of the incause of the situation. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Dem-that the government should encourage anti-trust enforcement, more business productivity and should urge labor and management to employ wage and price restraints.

his program to help alleviate the unemployment problem.

employment even higher, possibly to a postwar record of 9 percent.

ere unemployed. 364,000 people lost their jobs dur-

Reagan administration and private economic forecasters expect the current recession to send un-

The figure of 9 million people out of work is the highest since 1939, according to Labor Department figures, but the severity of the current problem is nowhere near as great because the population and labor force are much larger now. At the depth of the 1974-1975 recession, 8.4 million people The government said that

ing last month, mainly because of layoffs. Unemployment also rose (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Democratic critics also accuse Mr. Reagan of intentionally causing a recession through a tight credit policy. But the president has rejected suggestions that he alter Democrats on the committee mas jump in unemployment. He retary Larry Speakes said that the replied: "I'd be alarmed if it were administration had anticipated the ment climbed to 8.4 percent in the United States last month, with only half that." increase in the jobless rate. "This is ocrat of Massachusetts, said that He added that the increase was o surprise because the administration knew that the economy we feel that the proper measures Bureau Commissioner Janet more than 9 million Americans out the administration "did not inherit no surprise because the adminis-Norwood told the congressional of work in a deepening recession. the recession - they caused it. the government reported Friday. tration knew that the economy Joint Economic Committee in a Wisconsin Democratic Sen. Wilwould "be in the doldrums for the are in place to put the economy latter part of this year." However, back on the track and that unem-The White House said that joblessstatement that the deterioration in liam Proxmire urged economic ness should begin to abote next the labor market, which began durpolicies to end the recession withhe expressed confidence that his ployment will begin to abate someing the summer, has accelerated in out causing more inflation, saving economic program would help put The overall unemployment rate time next year."

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that nearly all groups of workers were affected by the over-the-month increase, but the jump was especially large for those in blue-collar jobs. The unemployment rate for adult men rose to 7.2 percent, just below the high following World War II. Unemployment also remained extremely severe for teen-agers at record 16.8 percent. For minority teen-agers, the jobless rate was the unemployment rate increased nearly a full point.

dustries showed gains.

Lond

A Pala Pares.

Ex-Minister Returns, Agrees to Work With Regime in Afghanistan

By Tyler Marshall

NEW DELHI - A leading political figure during the reign of Af-ghanistan's last king has returned to Kabul from abroad and expressed his willingness to work with the Marxist regime there, a development expected to increase the regime's prestige.

Abdul Sattar Shalizi, who was King Mohammed Zahir Shah's deputy premier and interior minister for about a year in the mid-1960s, is believed to be the first prominent non-Communist political figure to return to Afghanistan since the Russians intervened in the country nearly two years ago and installed Babrak Karmal as

In an interview during a brief trip here following two weeks in Kabul, Mr. Shalizi made it clear that he had no plans to join the Karmal government. But he indicated that he was willing to work with it in a search for a political settlement in Afghanistan where the government and Soviet troops are engaged in a civil war against fundamentalist Moslem guerrillas.

Negotiating Role Sought

Referring to the Karmal regime, he asked, "If you want to find peace and go to the conference table, what is the alternative?" He said he hoped to play a role some-how in launching negotiations. That a respected former minister to the king, whose reign lasted from 1933 to 1973, has returned to Kabul and expressed a belief that Mr. Karmal's government might be acceptable as part of a political solution is viewed by analysts here as a significant boost for the unpopular Marxist leader.

Mr. Karmal and his Soviet advisers have failed to attract popular national figures into the gov-ernment despite efforts to broaden has made public a report proposing new approaches to a Middle East settlement that calls on the Reagan administration to hold exploratory discussions with the Palestine Liberation Organization to determine if it is ready "to nego-

3 Trapped in U.S. Cave-In WEBSTER SPRINGS, W.Va.

A coal mine caved in Thursday night, trapping five men, but workers rescued two of the miners early

Friday. Rescuers said they were hopeful of saving the three remaintiate peace" with Israel.

ing trapped miners.

within hours of his arrival. A few days later, he met with Mr. Karmal for more than two hours.

"The meeting was cordial and mainly an exchange of pleasan-tries," Mr. Shalizi said. "He didn't press me." He said the possibility of a future role in the government was not discussed

Reagan Policy Criticized

Earlier this year another of the king's former Cabinet ministers, Siddiq Farhang, fled Afghanistan in distillusionment a year after he agreed to work with Mr. Katmal on the promise of an early Soviet troop withdrawal. Mr. Farhang, however, was already in Kabul when he accepted an offer to join the government, Mr. Shalizi criticized the Reagan administration's Afghanistan policy, which he said indicates a willmess to accept his country's continued suffering in order to keep the Russians involved in a essy insurgency. Mr. Shalizi, who described himself variously as a maverick, a loner and a rebel, said his decision was "an act of conscience, not po-litical will." He said he represents no political organization. "I want to be with my people during their time of suffering and in some way help to end that suffering," he said. "My motive is that simple."

Jailed briefly after the 1973 coup that ended the Afghan monarchy, Mr. Shalizi has lived in the United States for most of the ast seven years. He said he bega thinking about returning to Afghanistan about a year ago. He said he failed to persuade his Indian-born wife to accompany him and admitted that he had "met no one who agrees with what I am Afghan refugee leaders ex-pressed bitterness at Mr. Shalizi's decision, asserting that his pres-ence in Kabul will add support to its precariously narrow political the Karmal regime they oppose. The is trying to do what $5,000 and the Karmal regime they oppose. The is trying to do what $5,000 and the Karmal regime they oppose. The is trying to do what $5,000 and the Karmal regime they oppose. The is trying to do what $5,000 and the Karmal regime they oppose. The is trying to do what $5,000 and the Karmal regime they oppose. The is trying to do what $5,000 and the interest is trying to do what $ Kabul airport on his return early man the Russians put in power," last month and met with Foreign said an Afghan refugee leader in Minister Shah Mohammed Dost New Delhi.

STORMS IN BRAZIL — A man struggles to free himself from mud caused by heavy rains in Teresópolis, a mountain city about 30 miles (50 kilometers) northeast of Rio de Janeiro. Mudslides and flooding have killed at least 43 persons and left 700 homeless in the Rio area.

Israel Tells U.S. Diplomat of Fears Of Palestinian Buildup in Lebanon day told Philip C. Habib, the U.S. special Middle East envoy, that it was concerned about what it called a heavy buildup of Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon, Israeli offi-

Mr. Habib, who arrived in Jerusalem from Jordan Friday on his current Middle East peace mission, went directly into talks with Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir.

An Israeli official quoted Mr. Shamir as telling the U.S. envoy that Israel was "dissatisfied and concerned over the heavy rainforcements that the Palestinian terrorists have brought into their lines Mr. Habib would say only that

JERUSALEM — Israel on Fri- Palestinian buildup would violate a cease-fire agreement reached in July after heavy fighting between the guerrillas and Israeli and allied rightists in South Lebanon. Mr. Habib has also visited Syria and Lebanon during this tour. Mr. Habib's assignment is to continue to hold down tensions created when Syria stationed antiaircraft missiles in the country. Israel has said that the missiles are a threat to its security.

Mr. Habib met Defense Minister Ariel Sharon for two hours but both refused comment afterwards. Mr. Habib was to go Saudi Arabia on Saturday, U.S. officials reported. He may return to Israel next week, Israeli officials said. Meanwhile, Egypt urged West April.

European nations and the United States on Friday to cooperate more closely in efforts to solve the Middle East problem. Boutros Ghali, deputy foreign minister, told reporters that he had raised the question at a meeting with Simone Veil, president of the European Parliament, who is visiting Egypt as guest of the Egyptian

The discussion between Mr. Ghali and Mrs. Veil also touched on European participation in a Sinai peacekeeping force, officials said. Britain, France, Italy and the Netherlands have offered to contribute units to the peacekeeping force, which is to patrol the Sinai after Israel completes its withdrawal from the peninsula next conflict, and the PLO will have an important influence on that pro-

The report said that Palestinian desire for a separate state in the prospect for peace will be radically

Israel has adamantly rejected a Palestinian state on its borders, and the United States has said a

The report said there was "wide-read conviction in the Middle East that only the United States can effectively help to achieve peace, but there is deep doubt that the United States is prepared to play a role as a just mediator and cess," it said.

of nuclear missiles in Europe was of burning public interest" in Vestern Europe. Meanwhile, the deputy director of Geneva University's strategic studies department, Onkar Marwah of India, said at a news conference that the Soviet Union — which has rejected Mr. Reagan's offer — would gain by peace among the parties to the agreeing to it.

Mr. Marwah said Soviet missiles would still be able to reach Western Europe even if withdrawn behind the Ural Mountains. He addnationalism and the Palestinian ed that he thought the Geneva region "must be fairly faced and negotiators faced a very tight schedule if they were to complete the talks before the scheduled date for deploying the U.S. missiles, toward the end of 1983. dealt with in negotiation in ways consistent with the rights and se-curity of their neighbors or the

The talks are planned to alter-nate twice a week between the U.S. and Soviet missions, with the next round scheduled for Tuesday at trol and Disarmament Agency.

Official Opposes Kosovo Republic

VIENNA — A high-ranking Yu-goslav Communist Party official has ruled out granting republic sta-tus to the autonomous province of Kosovo, the scene of violent clashes between police and ethnic Albanians last spring.

Stane Dolanc, a member of the Communist Party Presidium, said in a lecture Thursday in Vienna that the demand for a republic based on "ethnic purity" for Al-banians in Yugoslavia was counterrevolutionary and would cause national division.

The riots last March and April left at least nine persons dead and about 250 injured, according to official Yugoslav accounts. They also triggered mass purges of officials and scores of arrests.

Russia Vows WORLD NEWS BRIEFS Good Faith in

Missile Talks

Refers to Pleas That

Accord Be Reached

GENEVA - The Soviet Union

pledged Friday to do all in its power to make a success of negotiations with the United States on limiting nuclear missiles in Eu-fore the second formal session began at the Soviet mission in Geneva, the Soviet delegation said it had received numerous messages urging the two sides to reach agreement, in the interests of peace and European civilization.

The delegation promised to "do everything that depends on it to achieve positive results." Soviet sources said the messages came both from organizations and individuals." but they did not identify of what happened at Friday's talks at the Soviet mission. A U.S. statement said simply that the talks lasted two hours and 25 minutes.

Spokesmen said they could add nothing to this. Soviet officials

The chief U.S. negotiator, Paul H. Nitze, and his Soviet counter-part, Yuli A. Kvitsinsky, agreed earlier this week to impose a news blackout on the talks. Mr. Nitze said he would not "engage in a de-are taking place against a back-ground of public concern in West-fact these negotiations are taking place reflects solidarity and solid renarations within the alliance."

not to deploy 572 new Pershing-2 and Cruise missiles in Europe if the Russians dismantle their own medium-range missiles was "no propaganda ploy." The Americans were aware, he said, that the issue

He said President Reagan's offer off to a satisfactory start.

Western sources said they bebate via the media."

were not available for comment.

Neither side gave any indication any of them

In a statement issued shortly be-

China Offers to Sell Uranium to EEC

BRUSSELS - China has offered to sell uranium to the European Economic Community as long as it is used for peaceful purposes, senior EEC officials said Friday.

The offer, a reflection of the Community's growing links with China was made during a visit of European geologists to Peking earlier this year and repeated at the meeting last month of the EEC Chinese joint trade commission in Peking.

China, regarded as potentially one of the major uranium producers.

wants belo to find and extract reserves for its nuclear power station program. If the Community agrees, more talks on the proposal and other aspects of cooperation are likely when Chinese experts wait the EEC Commission next spring the officials said. But they emphasized that contacts are at a tentative stage.

Reagan Concerned by Death Threat

WASHINGTON — President Reagan said Friday that he is concerned about reports that a Libyan assassination squad has entered the United States with orders to kill him and other top government officials.

The president told reporters at a White House bill-signing ceremony.

"Obviously you have to be concerned about all the people that have been named in this." Mr. Reagan on Thursday ordered agents to protect presidential counselor Edwin Meese 3d, chief of staff James A. Baker 3d and deputy chief of staff Michael K. Deaver - the men who make up his

Mr. Reagan said that the press "has carried the story pretty well, that

Thatcher to Move on Canada Request

OTTAWA - British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher personally assured Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau on Friday that her government would deal as quickly as possible with Canada's request to retrieve its constitution from Britain.

In a telephone conversation, Mrs. Thatcher told Mr. Trudeau that the necessary legislation could not be passed by the British Parliament be-fore Christmas as some Canadians had hoped, But she said it would be introduced and receive its first reading in the House of Commons before the holidays, according to Mr. Trudeau's spokesman, who said Thursday the prime minister would abide by Mrs. Thatcher's judgment.

Canada's lower house of Parliament passed a government resolution Wednesday asking Britain to return Canada's founding document, the 1867 British North America Act, after adding a charter of rights and lieved that the negotiations, which formula for its amendment here. The resolution was based on a compro-mise accord reached last month between Ottawa and nine of Canada's ern Europe at the prospect of more missiles being placed there, were 10 provincial governments. A senior diplomat from a NATO country said: "The very

Stranded Tourists Leave Sevchelles

VICTORIA, Seychelles - More than 500 tourists stranded by last week's attempted coup left Friday after the Seychelles airport, severely damaged when white mercenaries attacked, reopened.

British, French and West German planes took out tourists from Victoria on the main island of Mahe and brought in a group of 30 foreigners booked for holidays on the archipelago. Another 500 tourists are due to leave over the weekend.

A curfew imposed since the attack has been lifted during the day but remains in force from dusk until dawn. Authorities say at least two mercenaries have been arrested and they are still searching for three believed to have escaped during the fighting.

Reagan Backs $4-Billion Budget Cut

WASHINGTON — President Reagan on Friday endorsed a compromise plan worked out by his staff and Republican congressional leaders to cut $4 billion from the domestic budget and avert another government

Deputy White House press secretary Larry M. Speakes announced that Mr. Reagan "is willing to accept the agreement" reached Thursday night and that he hopes it will be incorporated into new emergency spending legislation to replace a continuing resolution that expires Dec. 15. The cuts in the agreement would "go halfway toward meeting the request [Mr. Reagan] made in September," Mr. Speakes said.
Like White House had said it was willing to settle for half the amount

Mr. Reagan proposed in his Sept. 24 package of budget caus. Earlier Friday, Mr. Reagan signed the first of 13 regular appropriations bills for

Ex-Green Beret Guilty of Assault

FORT COLLINS, Colo. — Eugene A. Tafoya, a former Green Beret accused of being a hired killer for the Libyan leader, Col. Moamer Qadhafi, was found guilty Friday by a Larimer District Court jury of third-degree assault and conspiracy to commit third-degree assault in the Third-degree assault — the least-serious charge on which Mr. Tafoya could have been convicted - carries a maximum prison sentence of two

Mr. Tafoya, 46, was charged with attempted first-degree murder and conspiracy to commit first-degree murder in the shooting Oct. 14, 1980, of Faisal Zagallai, then a student at Colorado State University. Mr. Zagallai was shot twice in the head and lost sight in one eye.

U.S. Unemployment at 8.4%, The Highest Rate in 6 Years

(Continued from Page 1) during the month because there was a greater number of people looking for work but unable to

As in the prior two months, unemployment increases were espe-cially large for blue-collar workers manufactured goods. And these layoffs have retailers worried about a lackfuster Christmas shopping season. As a result, stores have not been hiring as many people to work part-time during the holiday season as in previous

The Labor Department noted that there was a sharp drop of 85,000 in retail employment last month because pre-Christmas hiring fell short of seasonal expecta-

In the depressed construction

The only significant job gains in November were in service businesses and mining the government

West Gennan Jobless Rate

NUREMBERG — Reflecting continuing weakness of the West German economy, the Federal Labor Office reported Friday that the unemployment rate last month was the highest in 28 years.

Unemployment rose to 1.49 million people, or 6.4 percent of the work force, from 1.37 million or 5.9 percent in October, the labor office said. The rate in November, 1980, was 4.2 percent.

Economic Minister Otto Lambsdorff has said that unemployment could top 2 million next year and a panel of independent economic advisers last month forecast near stagnation for the economy in

MADISON AVENUE AT JETH ST. NEW YORK 19821 CABLE: THECARLY LE NEW YO TELEX: 620692

Private Study Group Urges U.S.-PLO Exploratory Talks By Bernard Gwertzman The report, issued by the Seven Eastern and South Asian affairs in The report said the United Springs Center of Mount Kisco. New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — A private the Carter administration and long States "would be violating no for-N.Y., on the basis of a trip to the regarded as the top Middle East Middle East last summer by a spestudy group, including a former senior State Department official,

> "Many Arabs and Israelis are beginning to resign themselves to prolonged confrontation and violence because they see no alternative that promises a just comprehensive peace," it said.

> cial study group, said that "hopes for a negotiated peace between Israel and its eastern neighbors are

The members of the study group were Joseph N. Greene Jr., president of Seven Springs Center, who was head of the U.S. diplomatic mission in Cairo in 1972-73; Philip M. Klutznick, a prominent Jewish leader who was secretary of commerce in the Carter administration; Harold H. Stunders, assist-expert in government; and Merle Thorpe Jr., president of the Foundation for Middle East Peace, a Washington organization dedicat-ed to bringing Arabs and Jews to-gether in search of a settlement.

Mr. Saunders, the best known figure in the group, explained at a news conference Wednesday that he had felt previously that it was not necessary for the United States to refuse all contacts with the 1975, the United States promised Israel that it would not recognize or negotiate with the PLO until that group recognized Israel's existence and relevant UN Security Council resolutions.

Mr. Saunders said that the pledge later was interpreted to ant secretary of state for Near foreclose even exchanges of views with the PLO until the conditions

mal agreement if it explored the PLO's readiness to negotiate "The objective is to negotiate

2 Die on U.S. Carrier As Deck Cable Snaps United Press Internation

NORFOLK --- A cable designed to stop airplanes snapped and whipped across the deck of the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy in on the flight deck and injuring three, naval authorities said.

The wrist-thick steel cable, one of four tightly stretched across the carrier's 130-foot wide deck, snapped on Thursday when an A-Corsair-2 light attack bomber attempted to land during

to work actively for a negotiated UN Unit Backs Data Network for Developing States

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. -The UN Development Program has given approval for creation of an information network to disseminate economic, social and technical data of use to developing countries. The initial phase of the project will cost about $60 million over six years, program officials

The program's share of the initial outlay will be minimal, officials said, adding that the bulk of the founding costs would be met by contributions from countries interested in the project.

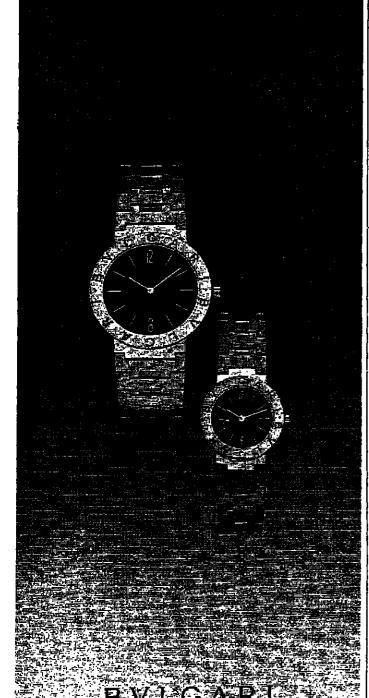

Project coordinator Aggarwala of India said Wednesday that the UN agency planned to turn over operation of the proposed network to a subcontractor. He said that the only bid under consideration was from the Maltaopment, or CODEV, and that the development agency would probably finish appraising its offer in a

He said CODEV was a nonprofit group with eight or nine members, including the Institute for Latin American Studies, the International Foundation for Development Alternatives and the Dag

Hammarskjold Foundation. CO-DEV's communications affiliate is Inter Press Service, which considers itself as the Third World news Mr. Aggarwala emphasized that the network would not be a news agency, but rather a clearingho for information of use in the planning and execution of development programs in the Third

ROMA - 10 VIA DEL CONDOTT NEW YORK HOTEL PIERRE GENEVE - 86 RUE DU RHÔNE MONTE CARLO - AVENUE DES BEAUX-ARTS PARIS · HOTEL PLAZA-ATHÉNÉE

Writing is a joy and a writing instrument a treasured object of beauty and precision, when it bears the distinctive and delicate touch of Pierre CARDIN.

Les stylos Piene Cardin

proudly present a fully comprehensive range of sophisticated writing instruments from which you will be able to choose to satisfy the most demanding recipient of an unusual gift.

The numerous inspections in the course of manufacturing produce an impeccable quality product as only the best materials and components have been selected by Pierre CARDIN to bring the excellence of writing to your finger tips.

Every Pierre CARDIN pen is fully guaranteed against any production defect, but more than this, we guarantee that every Pierre CARDIN pen will bring to you the joy of writing and the pleasure of treasuring an object of beauty and precision.

With Reagan in Office, Allen's Former Lobbying Firm Finds New Prosperity

By Phil Gailey

WASHINGTON - In this city's influence bazaar, where political connections are the coin of public relations and lobbying. Peter D. Hannaford has a definite advantage.

To no one's surprise, the Hannaford Co. inc., the new name for the public relations and lobbying concern that he founded in 1975 to promote, among other things, Ronald Reagan's political interests, has prospered since its original client became president of the United States,

Mr. Hannaford has other close ties to the White House, including the co-founder of his company, Michael K. Deaver, who is Mr. Reagan's deputy chief of staff; Edwin Meese 3d, counselor to the president, and Richard V. Allen, the national security adviser.

The company now has offices in four cities, including Washington, and, according to Senate records, in the past year has quadrupled the number of the domestic and foreign clients that it lobbies for on Capitol Hill.

Its clients included the Taiwan government and a group of conservative Guatemalan businessmen before Mr. Reagan's election. Since then, it has added the Tosco Oil Corp. National Public Radio, the Northwest Alaskan Pipeline Co., Merrill Lynch, Century 21 real estate and the New York Stock Exchange.

Effort Successful

Mr. Hannaford's company successfully lob-bied for a $1.1-billion loan guarantee for a Tosco synthetic fuels project, despite the oppo-sition of the budget director, David A. Stockman, and Energy Secretary James B. Edwards.
And the Guatemalan businessmen seeking a resumption of U.S. arms sales got just that in the early weeks of the Reagan administration. Although the decision was consistent with administration policy toward Central America, it did not hurt Mr. Hannaford's reputation as an effective lobbyist,

This kind of Washington success story is not that unusual, and it is rarely questioned. It was not until recently, when Mr. Hannaford's name was raised in connection with the investigation of Mr. Allen's acceptance of $1,000 from a Japanese magazine, that questions began to arise about Mr. Hannaford's dealings with his friends in the White House.

After the election last year, Mr. Hannaford declined an offer to become Mr. Reagan's chief speech writer. Instead, he purchased Mr. Deaver's 40 percent interest in their company, Deaver & Hannaford Inc., and bought a consulting company, the Potomac International Corp., from Mr. Allen. In both cases, part of the purchase price was to be made in deferred payments.

When questions arose about the propriety of a registered lobbyist making payments to White House officials, Mr. Hannaford paid Mr. Allen the remaining $50,000 he owed him last weekend. Mr. Deaver was paid off in July, according to Larry Speakes, a White House tablishment gray and California casual styles, has refused to talk to reporters in recent days, but friends and associates defend him as someone who is careful not to abuse his White House relationships.

Last April, Mr. Hannaford told a reporter he was keenly aware that some clients might view him as a direct link to the president and his aides. He added, however, that they would be in for a disappointment if they expected special favors.

Even after Mr. Reagan left the California governor's office in early 1975 and Mr. Hannaford went into public relations, he spent much of his time turning out speeches, columns and commentaries for Mr. Reagan.

Allen's Clients

WASHINGTON (AP) - Richard V. Allen firm's clients despite a legal requirement that any of them "directly involved" with him be listed if they paid him at least $5,000 during the two years before he joined the White House

Mr. Allen has argued that the White House counsel's office told him he did not have to list his clients because, technically, he was an employee of the company, Potomac International Corp., and the fees were paid to the firm.

Federal law requires an incoming government official to identify sources of "compensa-tion in excess of $5,000" in the past two years and to give "a brief description of the nature of the duties performed or services rendered."

The main exception to the filing requirement is if the official was an employee of the firm that provided the services and was not 'directly involved" in work for that client. Mr. Allen has said he did have "several clients" who paid more than $5,000 a year. He was Potomac International's founder, owner, president and chief consultant. J. Jackson Walter, director of the Govern-ident until he sold the company in Ianuary — a few days before joining President Reagan's White House staff. The discrepancy on the sale date is one of two matters the Justice Department is still ics of Mr. Allen's case Thursday, but said the issue of listing clients is a "gray area" in the federal disclosure requirements.

Mr. Allen initially reported that he stepped down as president and sold the Potomac International Corp. in 1978. But after press inquirics, he said he had made a mistake and amended his disclosure form to say he remained pres-looking at in its review of whether an independent special prosecutor should be appointed to investigate Mr. Allen. Last Tuesday, the department announced that no special prosecutor would be named to look into Mr. Allen's receipt of $1,000 from two Japanese journalists who interviewed Nancy Reagan on Jan. 21. The department ruled that it had found no criminal evidence in

To New York, UN is 'Boon' For Economy

Study Puts Revenue At $690 Million in '80

By Edward A. Gargan New York Times Servi UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. New York City's economy gained more than $690 million last year from the United Nations and the 35,000-member diplomatic community, a new study has conclud-

At the same time, it found that the financial burden of interna-'tional diplomacy on the city, in the form of tax exemptions and police protection, amounted to slightly more than $15 million.

In the last five years, according to the study by the New York City Commission for the United Nations and Consular Corps, spending by UN staff members and diplomats rose by 56 percent. It cited as contributions to the increase the construction of new missions, expanding diplomatic staffs, mounting salaries and the growing number of conferences organized by the United Nations.

The commission compiled its data from reports of the United Nations on expenses in New York City, and from a survey of consulates and missions of expenses for items ranging from salaries and operating expenses to purchases of furniture

The commission serves as a liaison group between diplomats and city government and helps mediate disputes between envoys and their landlords, the telephone company or businessmen.

What we are trying to say," -said the head of the commission, Gillian Martin Screensen, "is that given the city's obligations and its costs, the presence of the diplo-matic community is a boon to New has attempted to dispel what Mrs. Sorensen described as New Yorkers' "misconceptions" about the toll on the city for being host to ambassadors, consuls general, their staffs and families from 157

Common among the misconceptions, she said, are that police pro-tection is costing the city a great deal of money and that cars with diplomatic license plates are routinely flouting city parking laws and running up enormous fines that go unpaid, in fact, Mrs. Sorensen contended, $3.5 million of the $4.4 million in police costs in 1980 was borne by the federal government. And while it is true, she said, that umpaid parking tick-ets of diplomatic cars cost the city $1.82 million last year, they accounted for only 1 percent of all

Area Revived

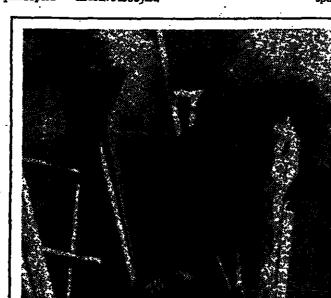

By far the largest cost to the city is the exemption from real estate taxes enjoyed by certain diplomatic properties. Last year, the city lost $12.2 million in property taxes from diplomatic properties assessed at more than $136 million, or 0.5 percent of the $27.5 billion in the city. in tax exempt property in the city.

Mrs. Sorensen emphasized, how-ever, that the United Nations complex on the East River as well as the steadily rising demand for office and apartment space by diplo-mats have helped substantially to revive the eastern edge of midtown known as Turtle Bay.

There are 157 permanent missions to the United Nations and 93 consulates in the city. Annual ex-penditures for each of these offices last year ranged from $50,000 to more than $4 million. Some missions, including the Soviet mission, declined to respond to the commis-sion's questions, but Jeffrey F. De-laments, who did the bulk of the work on the report, said that rea-sonably accurate expenditure estimates could be made.

More than $325 million was spent in the metropolitan area last year by the UN organization itself. Other UN organizations, such as the United Nations Development Program, spent another $70 mil-

There are 13,000 more members of the diplomatic community than there were five years ago, and they and the United Nations are spending more money. But fiscal restraint is now expected. For the first time in two decades, a "zero growth budget" has been proposed for the world organization, which ultimately will mean a slowdown in the growth of its spending in the FUTILE EFFORT — A Milwaukee firefighter carried a 3year-old girl from the third floor of a burning condominium; but the child was later pronounced dead at a hospital.

Officials said the cause of the fire was careless smoking.

Guatemalans See Conflict

(Continued from Page 1)

killed recently in three separate nighttime attacks. Early last month, five policemen were killed by hand grenades and machine-gun fire while they slept on the

But the war is being waged pri-marily in the highlands in the west and center of the country. In the province of Chimaltenango, the guerrillas control 22 small villages, according to a priest. He said one of his parishioners, a guernilla, beheved that the area was secure enough for him to return there with his wife and family.

A common guerrilla operation begins with the insurgents scaling off a village, blocking the roads by felling trees or burning a vehicle. They then gather the villagers into the plaza and deliver a speech.

They tell the peasants, often in the local Indian language, that they are oppressed and that a revolution is necessary. Before disappearing into the hills, they loot the police station of weapons and sack the government buildings, destroy-ing land titles.

might be determined less by out-side assistance than by the politi-cal posture of the Indians, who make up slightly more than half of the population of 7.2 million. Historically, the Indians have stayed out of the violent disputes of the ruling minority. But the "conciousness-raising" campaigns of the leftists have been directed primarily at the Indians, apparently with some success. There are reports that two small guerrilla units made up solely of Indians are operating in the hills and that one of the major sperilla organizations is the major guerrilla organizations is 75 percent Indian.

ing class, the Indians, the more underprivileged," said a wealthy plantation owner who thinks that the guerrillas want to install a Communist government. Like many other Guatemalans nervous about the strife, he spoke only on condition that his name not be used. The plantation owner and others interviewed said the guerrillas often pay more than the asking price for the food and supplies that they need, telling the merchants that they are underpaid for their

Recently, however, there have been reports that the guerrillas are using more violent tactics. A coffee

The guerrillas are always correct, always polite; they are trying to make friends among the work-

The outcome of the revolution grass in a park.

As Growing Into Civil War plantation owner told about the guerrillas' theft of a neighbor's payroll. "They apologized to the owner," he said, but noted that the theft had still hurt the workers. A minister said he had heard a report, which he had not been able to confirm, that the guerrillas had killed and cut off the ears of six government spies.

When the guerrillas leave a village or a plantation, the army moves in, frequently killing scores

"The army's argument is that if the guerrillas were here they must have support," said a coffee grower. "So they kill people with intle substantial evidence."

A religious worker said of those killed by the army, "It's possible some are sympathizers, maybe even guerrillas, but most are innocent civilians."

There have been many reports massacres and of entire Indian villages destroyed by the army and according to a former high govern-ment official. He said the soldiers, before killing the rest of the families, forced young men to shoot the wounded. More than 100 Indians were killed, he said.

Republican Chief Says Allen, Stockman Will Have to Quit By Jack Nelson

Los Angeles Times Service
WASHINGTON — In a series of unusually critical comments from a senior party official, Re-publican Party chairman Richard Richards has said that the Reagan administration has credibility problems and that both White House budget director David A. Stockman and President Reagan's national security adviser, Richard V. Allen, will be forced to quit.

Mr. Richards' comments were made Monday night during an offthe-record question-and-answer session with about 40 people at a $5,000-a-couple fund-raising event in Cincinnati, President Reagan had addressed a larger group there a few hours earlier. Reporters outside the meeting room overheard Mr. Richards' remarks. As reports of Mr. Richards' statements filtered back to Washington, senior White House officials reacted with anger and dismay. They were particularly dis-turbed that the party's national chairman would make critical remarks about the administration while the White House is struggling to free itself from controversies that have distracted attention from Reagan programs. "Can you believe this?" exclaimed a White House official, displaying a copy of the Cincinnati Enquirer's front-page story with a banner headline on Mr. Richards'

Mr. Stockman offered his resignation to Mr. Reagan early last month after The Atlantic magazine published an article containing extensive remarks by Mr. Stockman expressing doubt about Mr. Reagan's economic program and acknowledging that phony figures only a matter of time before Mr. submitted to Congress. Mr. Stockman submits his resignation again, and next time the presi-Reagan refused to accept the resignation, but reprimanded Mr. Mr. Allen took a paid leave of absence last Sunday to fight allega-tions of impropriety. A Justice Department report issued Tuesday found no criminal violation involved in Mr. Allen's receipt of $1,000 intended as an honorarium for Nancy Reagan for granting an interview to a Japanese magazine.

The department and the White House are still investigating allega-tions that Mr. Allen accepted two wristwatches from the Japanese journalist, and his failure to correctiv fill out financial disclosure forms for the White House.

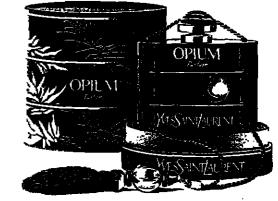

The Cincinnati Enquirer quoted Mr. Richards as saying that it is dent will accept it." The newspaper reported that Mr. Richards said he thought Stockman would be driven to submit a second resignation by the frustration of trying to re-establish any personal credibility with Con-

issues have hurt the Reagan administration's credibility, including its proposals — later aban-doned — to change the Social Security system, as well as its successful campaign to obtain congressional support for the sale of Airborne Warning and Control System radar planes to Saudi Ara-

Jamais parfum n'a provoqué une telle émotion.

OPIUM.

Parfums WESSAINT/AURENT

pointed to succeed him. In its announcement Thursday, the White House said that Mr. Friedersdorf would be appointed con-

Friedersdorf Resigns as Reagan's Liaison to Congress

WASHINGTON - Max L. Friedersdorf has reigned as assistant to the president for legislative affairs, becoming the first member of President Reagan's senior staff to leave the White House for sul general to Berninda, a post that usually goes to career Foreign Service employees rather than to political appointees.

Aides to Republican congressional leaders, who asked not to be named, said White House officials

David R. Gergen, the senior White House spokes-nan, said he was 99 percent certain that Mr.

immediately suggested that Kenneth M. Duberstein, one of Mr. Friedersdorf's deputies, would be ap-

Friedersdorf was not stepping aside for political rea-Noting that Mr. Friedersdorf has served seven years as a congressional liaison in the administrations of Mr. Reagan, Gerald R. Ford and Richard M. Nixon, Mr. Gergen said Mr. Friedersdorf, 52, felt it was the right time in his life to start a second career.

Life Expectancy Increases in U.S.

increased smoking among women.

WASHINGTON - Nearly 75 percent of Americans who reach the age of 65 can now expect to live past 75, up from 60 percent in 1940, the government announced in its annual report on the nation's

Life expectancy at birth has also continued to rise, with females liv-ing 77.2 years and males 69.5 years, up from 74.7 years for fe-males and 67.1 years for males in

The level of health in this country is good and getting better," Ed-ward N. Brandt, Jr., assistant sec-retary for health in the Depart-ment of Health and Human Services, said at a press conference Thursday. He said that rates are declining for nearly all major causes of death, including heart disease and stroke, although death from cancer in the over-50 age group is Elderly Survivors "Many of our elderly today are survivors — survivors of diseases that would once have killed them - stroke, heart disease and others," Mr. Brandt said. The increase in life expectancy, he said, "re-flects the virtually unprecedented declines in mortality in the age groups over 65 that we have been experiencing since the late 1960s."

The aging of America's populathe aging of America's popula-tion, however, has helped increase the size of the nation's health bill, which came to $247 billion last year. This was an average of $1,067 per person. Mr. Brandt said that the aprion's health care hill althat the nation's health care bill almost doubled between 1975 and 1980. It rose by 11.7 percent in 1980 and by 15 percent in the first quarter of this year.

Increased longevity and medical breakthroughs have resulted in an increases in the number of people.

This year government troops wiped out 10 small villages surrounding Jilotepeque, an Indian town in a highland area of considerable guernila strength. The army first killed the heads of families, according to a former high access. increase in the number of people with diabetes. Since the develop-ment of life-saving insulin in the early 1930s, the prevalence of dia-betes has increased sixfold in the population, as many people who otherwise would have died now survive the illness. About 2.4 percent of Americans have diabetes.

 The U.S. infant mortality rate The report also contained the continues to decline, to about 12 deaths per 1,000 births this year. Black babies, however, die at about twice the rate of whites. following points:

• "If current trends continue, lung cancer will soon replace breast cancer as the leading cause of cancer deaths among women. These deaths are a direct consequence of cigarette smoking" and

 Babies delivered by cesarean section increased by 78 percent in the five-year period ending in 1979 to 16.4 per 100 deliveries.

Ve call it Super.

No other comercial the world has the ME Super's combination

On Manual, electro-touch pushbuttons give you fingertip control of the shutter speed.

On Auto, GPD metering cells quarantee accurate exposure no matter who pushes the button. Add to this a 30% brighter viewfinder. The superfast 1/2000 sec. top shutter speed. And a small compact body that is the lightest auto/manual ever made.

Pentax cameras are guaranteed quality products of Asahi Optical Co., Ltd., Japan.

Complete your system with the wide range of perfected Pentax lenses and accessories.

The Pentax ME Super makes taking superior pictures so easy.

The history of Pentax is the history-of the SLR. PENTAX

To brunch or not to brunch is not the question for le Prince de Galles musical brunch au Prince de Galles is a must which offers shredded wheat à la Surrey as-sorted Danish pastries, smoked stur-geon, smoked salmon, scrambled eggs aux Kiwis, crab beignets, York-shire sausages, leg of lamb steak. Caesar's salad, cottage cheese with fruit salad, cheesecake, strawberry shortcake, champagne by Pommery et Greno.

140 F. pp.

Tax, service and half bottle of Champagne included. Saturday and Sunday with music from 11.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m.

Hôtel Prince de Galles 33, avenue George-V. Paris. Reserve your table at 723,55.11

Fg-SAINT-HONORÉ SES SOIES : CHEMISIERS, ENSEMBLES, SES ROBES, SES ENSEMBLES. SES PULLS, SES JUPES, SES PANTALONS, SES KNICKERS.

Talks in El Salvador?

There is, conceivably, good news from El Salvador. The guerrillas are reported to be ready to negotiate an end to the war. The bid comes from their No. 2, a woman who does not tell her name. She offered to talk with the very junta the guerrillas used to disdain as a negotiating partner when they demanded to deal directly with the United States. Warning that no one should think the offer was being made "because we are weak," she stated that if talks don't come "the war will deepen."

Do the guerrillas see the Reagan policy taking hold, and do they hope to make the best political deal available now, or at least to distract the junta and its foreign friends? Can they deepen the war? It would be foolish to condition a response to the guerrillas' proposal, if it is real, on a single reading of their motives. Nothing known of the guerrilla command, which is entirely unbeholden to its civilian political front, indicates that it has the slightest interest in a pluralistic democratic solution. Its program is revolutionary dictatorship. But that is merely a reason to proceed carefully. The guerrillas no doubt have their own suspicions.

Until now nothing stirred on the negotiating front. The guerrilla proposal to negotiate over the junta's head was a non-starter. President Duarte was ready to talk with the civilian opposition alone, but it refused. International interventions foundered. Is there now a chance for direct talks? Any party that neglects even the remotest chance to end the killing assumes a heavy responsibility.

The guerrillas do not indicate that they will improve the atmosphere by a cease-fire, so the junta will have to fight on. But unlike the guerrillas, the junta has a second front: elections. It is necessary to ask, as we have asked, whether these will be free and fair, but the answer is not to damn them in advance. The answer, as Venezuela suggests, is to improve them by guarantees, observers and anything else at hand.

The guerrilla command, thanks in part to Nicaragua and Cuba, is a formidable military force. But no serious observer pretends it enjoys any substantial popular support or political legitimacy. The junta's promise and its partial delivery of reforms — the reforms that stole the guerrillas' thunder and led them to declare war on the junta - seem to have won it a broad measure of hesitant tolerance, if not yet full-fledged support, from the masses of people in the center. Its enemies are the extremists of left and, of course, right. The election process it intends to open in March can in time confer a true mandate. The best way to enter negotiations is to forge ahead with that process.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

No Walled Universities

The most cost-effective way Americans can help developing countries raise their standards of living is to welcome their students of technology. The students and their governments cover most of the cost and, in fact, bring some $2.5 billion to the United States. They often learn to appreciate American society as well as hardware.

It is disconcerting therefore to find the State Department reviving its periodic nightmare about foreign students stealing secrets that it thinks ought to be locked in university laboratories. The department is asking academic administrators and scientists to bar Chinese students from computer "design, construction and maintenance data."

This follows a government request to universities to report in police-like detail on the courses, library interests and even movements of some Chinese scholars. Stanford, to its credit, refused to "disrupt the academic environment" in this fashion, but all too many schools honored the request.

The presidents of five major research universities tried to educate the Reagan administration on this point last spring. Refusing to adopt security restrictions on classrooms and laboratories to keep "potential adversaries" from high-technology research, they said such regulations could prevent lectures in the presence of foreign students or the reading of scholarly papers at meetings attended by foreigners. They might even bar foreign nationals from working in university laboratories.

The State Department may well wish to limit visits by Chinese and other foreign scholars to industrial research and development facilities in the United States. It should also be asking whether the student exchange with China was properly negotiated to promote American interests; it has only itself to blame for the fact that 2,770 Chinese now study in America while a mere 240 Americans study in China.

But sealing off portions of American campuses betrays a serious mismderstanding of how a university lives and prospers. The open discussion of ideas, doubts, successes and failures is what distinguishes university research. Building a wall around it is like protecting a flower by sealing out the sun.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

U.S. Immigration Law

Soon after the Christmas recess, Congress will have to grapple seriously with the problem of immigration reform. It will be taking on such thorny subjects as 1) an overall limitation on the number of immigrants, 2) what to do about undocumented workers already living in the United States, and 3) the difficult moral and economic questions regarding various nations' responsibilities for the world's refugees.

The administration has sent Congress a comprehensive package of reforms, and the Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy, created by Congress in 1979, has proposed substantial amendment to the Immigration and Nationality Act. Naturally there is no unanimity concerning what to do. Experts and government officials agree, however, on the issues that need to be addressed, and there appears to be a general air of good will and determination to approach the complicated subject as a coherent whole.

A comprehensive revision of the act will require months or maybe years of work. Congress has excerpted a few of the less controversial amendments from this morass of emotionally charged choices and proceeded to deal with them in a separate bill. This proposal, which got through the House recently and is ready for action by the Senate, addresses quirks and anachronisms in the law that have long been in need of cleaning up. It would eliminate the draconian provision that permanently bars from the United States any person convicted of a single offense involving possession of marijuana; such a measure could eliminate the welter of private bills introduced each year to reunite families when the prospective immigrant has been found guilty of what would be considered a minor offense in the United States. And the bill would raise the legal age for adoption of aliens by American citizens from 14 to 16 — another change that has in the past been accomplished by the tedious passage of private legislation.

Finally, this bill would save money. Eliminating the requirement that aliens register every year and substituting a simple notification procedure for change of address would, according to the Congressional Budget Office, result in savings of $800,000 a year. Other provisions eliminating paperwork at the INS are expected to produce total budget savings of $2.5 million a year.

THE WASHINGTON POST.

Changing the Change

According to Gresham's Law, bad money drives good money out of circulation. According to what might be called Hillman's Law, bad coinage drives itself out of circula-tion. And Kirk Hillman, a California architect and numismatist, has a solution: a new system of U.S. coins.

The present system is deficient in several ways. Size, for instance: What logic is there when the dime is smaller than the penny and the dollar is smaller than the half-dollar? As for utility, Mr. Hillman is correct when he says America has only three coins that truly circulate. The half-dollar is rarely seen, the quarter-sized Anthony dollar is so little used that the Mint has stopped production, and inflation has long since transformed the penny into a tax token.

Mr. Hillman proposes a new system of 11 copper, silver and gold coins, graduated in size and also in value, from 5 cents to $500. The idea is imaginative, attractive - but also elaborate. We are partial to a simpler idea: boosting the value of present coins by one notch — making the penny worth 5 cents, etc. But we shall enthusiastically support whatever solution is most likely to catch on. The House subcommittee on coinage, and other members of Congress, need to be persuaded that, with respect to small change, it's time for a large one.

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Dec. 5: From Our Pages of 75 and 50 Years Ago

1906: Russian Famine Relief

ST. PETERSBURG - Premier Stolypin is showing energy and impartiality in his investigation into the scandals that have come to light in connection with the relief of the famine-stricken districts. It will be remembered that allegations were made against Mr. Gourko, undersecretary of state in the Ministry of the Interior. He was accused of conniving at certain frauds practiced by the firm of Lypwal, which had obtained a contract to furnish grain to the famine-stricken districts. Mr. Stolypin, while taking measures to punish the guilty, is also taking steps to have prompt relief sent to the starving peasants. The press unanimously renders him homage.

1931: Hitler Asserts Confidence

BERLIN - Legal ascent of his party into power in Germany "within a few weeks or at the outside within a few months" has been predicted here by Adolf Hitler. He declared that the Nazi government will acknowledge private debts, but added that "payment is not a question of good will but of capacity to pay." Speaking of the Nazi government's foreign policy, the leader said: "We are aware that an international policy will require negotiations. However, we shall employ methods differing widely from those in use at present." Some foreign powers, he said, are beginning to perceive that the reparation payments are not feasible.

The Reagan Team Had Better Get a Policy

GENEVA — Reporting from Washington on the latest in the Richard V. Allen affair, a French television commentator called it an example of the "American syn-drome." Translated from the European, that means another case of what looks from abroad like a peculiar U.S. puritanism defy-ing the essential purpose of government and making Washington the most inscrutable capital in the world.

Two weeks ago President Reagan an-nounced what could be the most important decision of his term - to negotiate with the Soviet Union on the arms race and seek an accord that will diminish the threat to peace. The fate of the world and certainly the fate of the Atlantic alliance are at stake

But coming suddenly after a long period of contradictory and often frightening offi-cial pronouncements, Reagan's speech left open whether in fact the president was setting his seal on a firm U.S. policy or just making a speech. The Russians, for obvious self-serving reasons, called it propaganda. The allies took it seriously.

The American negotiator in Geneva, Paul Nitze, opened the talks on intermediate-range nuclear missiles with the assurance that the United States was absolutely in earnest about seeking agreement. He is 74 and has been negotiating with the Russians off and on for over 30 years. Although Nitze is a hawk, he is a professional who can be ex-pected to have come to do a job, not to mount a demonstration that it is futile to talk to Moscow.

Allen, as national security advisor, has favored the view that there isn't much point in talking until the United States has rearmed and the Soviet leadership has changed. Normally, a presidential decision should have

Now, Assistant Secretary of Defense Rich-negotiation."

Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger won out over Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. in defining the first offer for the president's speech. The State Department wanted to propose drastic reductions down to an ideal of zero medium-range missiles on both sides. That would have made clearer that the United States was not saying "take it or leave it" to Moscow but was really

But the opening position doesn't matter nearly so much as the policy it reflects— whether the United States is looking for a safe way to live in a world that contains the Soviet superpower, or whether it is looking to confront Moscow.

By Flora Lewis

settled the matter

ard Perie, who heads the allied group plan-ning deployment of American missiles in Europe if the Geneva negotiations fail, says the United States has no fallback position for Nize from Washington's first all-or-nothing offer, which "must not be sacrificed to the probing for accord.

Reagan had to bring Allen and Haig to-gether and tell them to stop fighting. Haig, speaking for the State Department, layors the effort to renew a search for agreement with the Kremlin.

Haig would not have been my choice for the post of spokesman for the negotiating course. But both his foreign affairs experience and the special Washington phenomenon that tends to shape men's minds to the chair they sit in have made him the administration's selection. Something similar has happened to Weinberger on the opposite side of the Potomac. He has become the spokesman for "more of everything," as he puts it, for the arms race.

Allen's job was to make sure the president was fully aware of the implications of the rival arguments.

After Reagan's speech, it was hard to see how the new policy was going to be applied consistently and effectively by the same people who have been so instinctively opposed to a search for coexistence. It was not clear that Allen was going to play his appointed part of enforcing the decision and blocking more fights among the bureaucrats.

But it is clear, while he has been preoccupied with an embarrassing but hardly incriminating envelope filled with cash, that furious infighting is continuing. What Perle said amounts to an ultimatum to Moscow that is quite the opposite of what Reagan's speech appeared to mean.

It revives the question of whether in fact the United States has decided on a policy of negotiation. No amount of new weapons can make up for the weakness that uncertainty over America's intentions will cause in alliance relations, or for that matter in facing the Russians. Obviously, Moscow isn't going to budge a millimeter if it concludes that Washington doesn't know what it wants, or that it wants the talks to fail.

And in this situation, the national security adviser's fate seems to hang on how some Japanese ladies got an interview with the president's wife. Even Russell Baker couldn't have imagined such outlandish satire. People in Europe can't believe it.

Allen should stay or go according to whether he is both willing and able to coordinate advice for the president and help make decisions stick. So far he hasn't. If the president hasn't made a policy, or if his offi-cials choose not to listen, there is serious trouble shead.

©1981, The New York Times.

The War After Vietnam 'Better Be a Good One'

By Philip Geyelin

NEW YORK — The Vietnam War came out of the closet at a recent conference in New York. It revealed itself as something that almost anybody involved, however directly or remotely, can argue about in a reasonably civil and constructive way. And I do mean almost anybody. The conference, assembled by a nonprofit organization called the World Without War Council, brought together a grab bag of former policy-makers, war veterans and war protesters, journalists and

The Real Skies

Prof. Kahn's article (IHT, Nov.

10) on the virtues of an "open skies" aviation policy presented of necessity a rather one-sided view.

Of course, Prof. Kahn and I have a vested interest, his stemming from his role as an architect of that policy in the United States and mine as a believer in international cooperation among competing airlines to provide the best possible service to the public through-but I have to operate in the real world, where government insistence on determining who flies where, how often and for how much cannot be dismissed with the stroke of an academic's pen. In Europe especially we have a highly complex legal and political envi-ronment of more than 20 sovereign nations, 10 of whom belong to a Common Market which, however so far has no common policy on

Nor should one overlook the fact that airline deregulation domestically in the United States has been a mixed blessing. The jury is still out, but many fares on less dense routes have risen steep-ly, a number of cities have lost direct jet service and subsidies for essential services are up.

Internationally there are realities to be faced as well. In the preeminent market where a free-for-all prevails — the North Atlantic

— we have staggering airline losses currently running at over $600 mil-

Against this background, you have to be singularly dogmatic to preact persistence with open skies as an example to others. Experi-ence shows this only triggers greater direct government involvement in air commerce, including subsidies out of the taxpayer's pocket, and political disputes, with prices and products decided by bureau-

What alternative is there? Let the airlines look for solutions - as they intend to do for the North Atlantic in December — in the framework of the new and more flexible IATA. Let them continue to develop a rational and innovative structure of fares, responsive to consumer needs, which the pub-lic and the travel trade find attractive and can understand — including a range of low fares which even Prof. Kahn, I trust, will applaud, KNUT HAMMARSKJOLD.

The ILO Demurs

A brief report (IHT, Nov. 20)

under the heading "ILO Backs Reagan on Air Controllers" is very incomplete and gives an entirely different impression from what the ILO concluded. The article fails to mention the two most important conclusions of the ILO Committee

• The committee "requests the on Freedom of Association:

We both believe in free trade.

out the world.

air transport

lion a year.

cratic dictates.

academics - those who planned the war, fought it, wrote about it, opposed it in the streets.

The topic was "Vietnam and the Opinion Makers." The stated aim participants to wind up in one day with anything remotely resembling a consensus on how to do it better was to examine how all the forces at work on public opinion in the Vietnam years could "contribute most effectively to the best possible U.S. foreign policy during the rest of this century.' The idea was to skip wellworked-over wrangles having to do with sabotage by the press or dissembling by the government. But, of course, there was no way this crowd could forgo some blunt and bitter recycling of old arguments over who lost the war. And there was no way, either, to expect the government to give consideration to and inform it of any action taken or envisaged toward the reinstatement of dismissed controllers.

toward a waiving or reduction of the fines imposed, and expresses the hope that no controller will be deprived of assistance under the government mortgage protection scheme on the grounds solely of his participation in the air traffic controllers strike."

tion case againt PATCO, the committee notes that the proceedings are still pending before the compe-tent judicial authorities and would ask the government to inform it of the outcome of the action. It would recall in this connection the importance that it attaches to the principle that governmental authorities in their capacity of employers of wage earners should rec-ognize for collective bargaining purposes the organizations representative of their employees, and expresses the hope that the government will in this regard see its way to reopening a dialogue with PATCO."

the ILO does not back President

Reagan at all in the air traffic con-

OSCAR de VRIES REILINGH

The Philippines

ing of Age" (IHT, Nov. 23) pre-sents more or less a fair picture of the financial situation in the Philippines. However, we would like to

• The Philippines is not a "one-party republic." It has a multiparty system. This means that the Pilipi-

no people are periodically offered the democratic choice of different programs of government.

• Martial law was lifted in Jan-vary of this year and President

Marcos now governs through the normal democratic processes in accordance with the Philippine Con-

MDF 100 Project

We wish to correct the impression conveyed by the article

"Fokker's Fortunes Riding an Up-draft" (IHT Focus on the Netherlands, Nov. 18) that there is prospect of a merger with McDonnell Douglas to manufacture a ISO-seat aircraft. What is under consideration is the formation of a joint company for the purpose of design, production and marketing of the new generation MDF 100 airliner - something entirely different from and in no way to be confused with a merger.

You also stated that McDonnell

Douglas 'joined in the project,' implying that the U.S. company joined us in the development of an Philippine Embassy, Paris.

CYNTHIA B. GUEVARA.

correct two errors:

Phillip Hewitt-Brown's article

From this it will be clear that

· "As regards the decertifica-

Letters____

emerge. The conclusion I came away with is that just as the stereotypical "Vietnam veteran" (antiwar, anti-social, psychologically stressed) is a gross oversimplifica-tion, so the celebrated "Vietnam syndrome" is not what it's been cracked up to be.

aircraft which w

It exists, but not as an absolute rejection of anything in American foreign policy that remotely embraces the impulses and purposes that gradually ensuared the United States, increment by creeping in-crement, in the Vietnam tragedy. It planning. This is misleading. When the two companies announced last June 4 the formation of a joint venture program office for the MDF 100, it was made clear that significant progress had already been made "in combining the substantial work done by both on design of a new airliner in the Mexican Policy

In "Democratic Issues and Prospects in El Salvador" (IHT, Nov. 20), Morton Kondracke accuses

Mexico of being "less principled in its foreign policy" than Venezuela.

said: "Foreign policies are not built upon abstraction. They are the result of practical conceptions of national interest arising from some immediate exigency or stand-ing out vividly in historical per-

From the earliest days of inde-pendence until 1916, Mexico suf-fered intervention of one kind or another from its powerful northern neighbour and, as a result of the war of 1848, was obliged to code more than half its territory. Upon promulgation of the controversial Constitution of 1917, which was seen as a threat to American business interests, the specter of inter-vention raised its head again and was not finally put to rest until the eve of World War II.

Throughout the 1960s Mexico defended Cuba's right to self-de-termination not on behalf of Cuba but because the doctrine was con-

Austrian Treaty

Regarding the column (IHT, Nov. 19) by C.L. Sulzberger on "Finlandization": Austria's neutrality is based on a treaty - the State Treaty of 1955 - and was definitely not imposed. Austrian acutrality was voluntarily chosen by its people after all the occupation forces had left the country.

V. von FUERSTENBERG.

sidered a vital Mexican interest.

Charles Evans Hughes once

150-passenger class."
GERT W. KNOOK.

Fokker B.V., Amsterdam.

This is nonsense.

spective."

next time — if only because "next time" was impossible to define. But something of real value did fusal to confront head-on the excesses, failures, misjudgments and misrepresentations that contributed to the failure of the Vietnam mission.
The real Vietnam syndrome is more complicated, more questioning than that, and a lot more constructive. And for just that reason, its impact on public attitudes toward America's future role in the world is likely to be all the more profound. Or so it struck me, watching Vietnam combat veterans listen is not blindly anti-defense, or anti-military intervention, or anti-deterrence of Communism. But neither does it take the form of dogged re-carefully to William P. Bundy, a major participant as assistant secretary of state in Vietnam policymaking. Bundy was presenting the Johnson administration's version of the Tonkin Gulf incident, a critvolvement in the war.

Gloria Emerson, one of the best of the war correspondents, called Barry Zorthian, once the official spokesman for the press at mission headquarters in Saigon, a "bril-liant liar," But that charge was not as important as the fact that Zorthian was there, on the podium, gamely defending the government's performance and critiquing the performance of the press.

Dean Phillips, a much-decorated, several-times-wounded veteran who now works as a lawyer for the Veterans Administration, said he was anti-war when he got home. But he has just retrained as a reserve officer in the 101st Airborne.

'Grown Men' He thinks the volunteer army is even more inequitable than the Vietnam draft; he wants a draftwithout-deferment enacted. In the meantime, he fears minorities will suffer even more disproportionately high casualties in any new con-flict, and he wants to "back up vhat I think in my own way." Which brings me to Angel Almedina, a Vietnam infantryman who runs a New York psychological center for Vietnam veterans. cal center for vietnam vectans.

Angel is a Hispanic with shoulderlength black hair, a voice of authority and a whirling dervish oratorical style. He did his number a few feet away from the attentive, ramrod figure of the former wartime ambassador to Saigon, Elisworth Bunker, now over 80.

It went like this: "We're strong

It went like this: "We're grown men — I'm 34 — and a lot of us are hurting bad. But we're going to save each other. So if you want to be part of it, America, come with us. If not, look out, because we're going to set some policies.

"In the next 10 years, there's going to be another war. But we got enough of us around here to tell you that my son is going to go when I [expletive deleted] decide. And it better be to a good war. In fact, if it's that good — I'm going,"
That may not be the definitive expression of the real Vietnam syndrome. But its electrifying effect on a Vietnam-related audience distinctive for its diversity was enough to make you wary of the stereotypes, 6/98/, The Washington Past.

Ostpolitik: Balancing The Acts

By Angela E. Stent

WASHINGTON - By most-W ing in Bonn last month. West German Chancellor Helmus Schmidt and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev hoped to insu-late their own detente from the deteriorating U.S.-Soviet relationship and to protect the gains that have resulted from their bilisteral ites over the last decade.

But the two leaders had other concerns, too. Brezhner, in his first trip to the West since the investor of Afghanistan, sought to end the Soviet Union's international isolal tion, to fuel the growing anti-nu-clear movement in West Germany and to remind the West Germans that their interests do not necessarily coincide with those of the Uniti ed States.

Schmidt, faced with growing op-position in his Social Democratic Party to the proposed stationing of 572 Pershing and Cruise missiles in Europe, tried to persuade the Soviet leader of the need for genuine arms reduction negotiations in Europe, but neither he nor Brezhnev conceded much ground. Yet West Germany's current firmness on arms issues cannot character for the control of the arms issues cannot obscure a potential conflict for Bonn: the growing difficulty of reconciling its Ostpolitik with its Westpolitik.

In the early, 1970s, Washington and Bonn agreed on the need for detente with Missoow. That shortlived transatlantic consensus be-gan to disintegrate a few years lat-er when the United States became convinced that the Soviets were violating the rules of detente with their expansionist activities in the Third World and their repression of dissidents at home.

Results

The West Germans, who have always had more limited and realistic expectations of détente, continued to believe in its benefits. After all, Ostpolitik had yielded visi-ble results for the Federal Republic: closer human ties between East and West Germany, a stabilization of the situation in West Berlin, the emigration of ethnic Germans from the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, and increasingly profitsble economic ties.

Détente had not produced such concrete gains for the United States. Hence, after the Soviet in-vasion of Afghanistan, the United States was far more willing to question its usefulness than was West Germany.

The Soviet Union has realized that and has sought to benefit from transatlantic disagreements over policy toward the Soviet Union. The success of West German Ostpolitik has led to growing disagreements between Bonn and Washington on the extent to which the Soviets should be punished for Afghanistan and on the need for continuing dialogue with Moscow. In the last two years, West Germany has faced the prospect that, in the long run, its Ostpolitik and

The West German peace movement has highlighted that problem. The real issue for the heterogeneous group of anti-nuclear protesters is not the stationing of a few hundred new missiles on West German soil. It is a basic questioning of West Germany's international role and ultimately its psychological identity.

Difficulty

Now, 36 years after the division of Germany, leftist groups in West Germany have revived demands for possible reunification. And here the Soviet Union plays the crucial role by holding the key to eventual German reunification and, short of that, to continued intra-German contacts and to the well-being of West Berlin. Moscow is well aware of the cur-rent revival of the issue of postwar German identity. To some extent it must favor the increased ques-tioning of West Germany's links to the United States. On the other hand, the Soviet Union cannot ultimately be sanguine about a reas-sessment in West Germany that could spread to its key satellite, East Germany, and lead to instability there.

In an ideal world, the Pederal

Republic would not have to face conflicts between its Ostpolitik and its Westpolitik, but could be a middleman while remaining firmly rooted in the West.
But the deterioration of Soviet-

American relations and the contradiction between West German and American evaluations of détente may not permit the Federal Republic to reconcile its Ostpolitik with its Westpolitik. If not, it will confront difficult choices in the next few years. Bonn will continue to seek a modus vivendi with its Eastern neighbors, all the while retaining its crucial role in the West-ern alliance. As long as the German questions remain open, how-ever, that may prove to be an unexpectedly complicated and delicate balancing act.

The writer teaches government at Georgetown University and is an associate of the Georgetown Center for Strategic and International Studies.

INTERNATIONAL. Herald-tille Tribune

John Hay Whitney

Chairman

Katharine Graham Arthur Ochs Sulzberger Co-Chairmen

International Herald Tribuse, S.A. at capital de 1.200.000 F. R.C.
Parks No. 73 B. 2112. 179/181, ave. Charles de Gaulle, V.S.E. Nephlyser-Seine. Tel. Art.1243 F. Feler: 107718 Herald Parls Cables, Herald, Parls. Durecton de la publicacion: Walter N. Thoyer, U.S. subscriptum prior 2523 yearly. Sectored class postage and at Long Island Chy.
N.Y. 11101 G. Piel International Herald Tribuse. All rights received.
Constitution Parasyer No. 34 231.

1980 General Manager, Assa: Alain Louser. 24-34 Homesov Road, Room 1801, Hong Kong, Tel. 5-28-56 18/9, Teles., 61 LTO (HTTHKRY).

Roland Pinson René Bondy Francois Desmaisons Richard H. Morgan

Lee W. Huebner

Philip M. Foisie

Walter N. Wells

Robert K. McCabe

Stephen Klaidman

Director of Finance Director of Circulation

Publisher -

Editor

Executive Editor

Deputy Editor

Chief Editorial Writer

Mary Office

insed of Giv

 $\frac{z_k}{z_k},\frac{z_{1k}}{z_{2k+1}},\frac{z_{2k}}{z_{2k+1}}$

Associate Publisher

By Christopher S. Wren

New York Times Service
PEKING — An official active in the Communist leadership's strate-gy toward Taiwan has cautioned

gy toward Taiwan has cautioned the Chinese not to expect any im-mediate results from Peking's elaborate overture to Taiwan earlier in an interview with the monththis fall proposing remification.

Syria Enlarges Cabinet,

ficial sources said.

Ra'afat al-Kurdi and Daoud

PALME IN TOKYO - Former Swedish Premier Olof Palme, right, was introduced Friday by Japanese Foreign Minister Yoshio Sakurauchi, center, to South Korean envoy Choi Kyung Rok after talks between Mr. Palme and Mr. Sakurauchi. Mr. Palme was in Tokyo for a three-day session of the Commission on Disarmament and Security Issues, which he heads.

After Politicking, U.S. Conference On Aging Ends on a Peaceful Note

By Warren Weaver Ir. New York Times Service WASHINGTON - After four days of sharp political infighting, the White House Conference on Aging has closed on a relatively peaceful note by adopting, without serious dissent, a long agenda of recommendations for the next dec-Supporters of President Reagan left their imprint on a few sections of the conference report, but the bulk of the 60-page document was a distillation of the views of the professional organizations for the elderly that influenced many of the

As a result, the conference formally called for a continuing high level of government support for older people, no reductions in Social Security benefits or Medicare and Medicaid spending and the creation of a national health insurance program that would cover i home health services for the elder-

The Reagan administration has urged some cuts in Social Security benefits and proposed limits on health programs for the elderly and the poor. It also opposes na-tional health insurance.

Charge of Stacking

The conference's political in-fighting was still in evidence at the closing session Thursday as some nothing voting rule and Democratic congressional aides showed re-porters papers that the aides said indicated that Mr. Reagan supporters had "stacked" the commit-

The rule permitted the delegates only a single up-or-down vote on the combined reports of all 14 conference committees. With no way to resolve differences among the committees' resolutions, the final report includes some striking con-

For example, the report contains a call for "general revenue funding of public retirement" and, in an other section, the statement that the use of general fund revenues would "jeopardize the fiscal integrity" of Social Security.

Assessing the conference report leaders of organizations for the elderly generally supported most of the recommendations but expressed anger at the voting rule and purported tactics used to dominate kev committees.

'Pretty Fast Shuffle'

"This is one hell of a way to run a conference," Jacob Clayman, chairman of the National Council of Senior Citizens, said. "It wasn't done,in 1961; I was there. It wasn't done in 1971; I was there. There were Republican presidents then, and it wasn't done that way.'

Jack Ossoisky, executive direc-

Armand Hammer

success. The difficulty often stems from doctors' inability to obtain a

Hammer Plans Cancer Awards

conquer cancer.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Indus-

entitled to buy at a special price.

Aging, said that "by and large, the will of older people and the American people has somehow gotten through the walls," although the conference staff had provided "a stacked deck that gave older peo-ple a pretty fast shuffle."

Among the materials distributed by the Democratic aides Thursday were copies of tally sheets for several committees, listing names and percentages of 'favorable' and 'unfavorable' delegates and a network of conservative coordinators, whips and deputies for the principal battlegrounds.

The committees that the Republicans reportedly sought to domi-nate were those dealing with Social Security, health care and the economy and an aging population.

The material also included a copy of a letter from the office of Gov. William P. Clements Jr. of Texas to Betty Heitman, deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee, listing four Texas delegates "who would put loyal-ty to the president ahead of their commitment to the elderly and who would not take offense at the involvement of the Republican

The congressional aides said that they had copies of similar let-ters from 13 other states, indicatters from 13 other states, indicating that the Republican National Committee had conducted an extensive survey of the political loy-

Cambodian Renews Plea For U.S. Aid

Insurgents Are Refused Request of Military Help

New York Times Service WASHINGTON — The leader of Cambodia's non-Communist insurgents has met with State Department officials in another effort to gain U.S. financial and military help for his group's activities against the Vietnamese-backed government in Phnom Penh.

Despite the meeting Thursday, the State Department reaffirmed that while the Cambodian nationalists led by Son Sann have the United States' "moral and political support" there were no plans to provide military aid to any of the surgent groups.

Mr. Son Sann, a premier under Prince Norodom Sihanouk, now heads a group known as the Khmer People's National Liberation Front

It is one of three organizations opposed to the Phnom Penh gov-ernment. The group with the larg-est military force is led by Pol Pot, who has 30,000 to 40,000 Communist troops operating out of sanc-tuaries inside Cambodia with military help from China. The other group is nominally loyal to Prince Sihanouk.

Coalition Urged

At the urging of Southeast Asian nations backed by the United States, the three groups, despite the animosity of Mr. Son Sann and Prince Sihanouk toward the Pol Pot forces, have been holding talks on forming a coalition against the Phnom Penh regime.

Mr. Son Sann, who met with John H. Holdridge, assistant secre-tary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs, said at a breakfast Thursday that he was in Washington to request military and financial support.

Referring to the Pol Pot forces as the Khmer Rouge, Mr. Son Sann said, "We are here to make an appeal to the people and the government of this great nation, the defender of freedom and of human rights."

"The Khmer Rouge are abundantly aided by a Communist big power," he said. "The Vietnamese are receiving enormous quantities of aid from another Communist big power," he added in an allu-sion to the Soviet Union.

Not for Individuals

"We, the non-Communists and nationalists, have not received any appreciable aid from the West," he said. "We are here to ask you not to help any individual but to help an entire people who support the Khmer People's National Liber-ation Front in its struggle to save what is left of this people."

other things.
But it also includes depictions of spots resembling blood, the words "bang, bang, bang, bang, bang, bang, bang, bang, the words "Harvey Milk, too," and ously," he said. As chairman of the Office of Overseas Chinese Affairs, Mr. Liao is directly involved in helping Peking compete with Taipei for the loyalties of the millions of Chinese living abroad. He is also a member of the party's Central Committee ly political journal Liao Wang (Outpost). Liao Chengzhi dis-cussed the nine-point peace pro-posal floated on Sept. 30 by Ye Jianying, China's titular president. and a deputy chairman of the Na-tional People's Congress. China's nominal parliament. The interview appeared in the latest issue of Liao Wang during in which the Communists offered the new annual session of the National People's Congress, where the progress of reunification with Taiwan seems likely to be one of the issues raised. The timing of the interview seemed intended partly to head off any embarrassing questions from delegates about why Pelving's offer was so smith proceed. to let their old Nationalist enemies on Taiwan share some power in the mainland government while retaining their own economy and armed forces.

The reunification offer was immediately rejected by the Nation-king's offer was so swiftly spurned. On Tuesday, Premier Zhao Zi-yang, during a lengthy address mainly on economic issues, re-iterated the leadership's conviction now acting like fretful children and should not be taken too seri-

Liao insisted that the nine-point proposal was not an expedient or a propaganda proposal but "a longterm strategic target which will re-

"Since we have the determination to put forward the nine points, we also have the patience to wait," he said.

He assured the Chinese that because of an "unreliable economy" based on "largely processing and assembling products," Taiwan's only future outlet lay in cooperating with the mainland, which he asserted would eventually overtake the island's higher living standard.
"Some muddle-headed people

main unchanged

think Taiwan has made tremendous economic progress." Mr. Liao said. "Actually, the average that efforts should continue to bring about reunification with already approaching their so-called average income."

The Shanghai Municipal Statis-Taiwan at an early date and indi-cated that Peking's offer was still tics Bureau reported last June that the average monthly wage for Shanghai urban workers in 1980 was 76 yuan, or about $536 a year. about the highest in China. The Nationalist government reported that Taiwan's per capita income last year reached $2,100. Peking contends that the mainland income is augmented by social and health benefits that makes it high-

Mr. Liao said that the Communist Party was optimistic about the prospects for reunification or it would not have put forward its proposal.

Of course things will not be plain sailing. The path will be tortuous and we may have to struggle against outside forces opposed to our unification." he said, apparently alluding to Americans who continue to support the National-ist regime on Tarwan.

45 Are Killed

By Stampede

In New Delhi

United Press International

led to a stampede on the winding

NEW DELHI - A power failure

Sculpture of Slain Mayor Stirs Row in San Francisco

Los Angeles Times Service SAN FRANCISCO - City officials have moved to require a local artist to remodel a $37,000 sculpture of the late Mayor George Moscone that was constructed on a ceramic pedestal graphically de-picting a pistol, bullet holes, blood stains and other stark reminders of his killing three years ago.

The art work, created by Robert Arneson of Benicia, Calif., contains a bust of Mr. Moscone on a pedestal with inscriptions that shocked Mr. Moscone's widow and surprised Mayor Dianne Feinstein and other officials.

Mrs. Feinstein saw the work for the first time on Wednesday night. On Thursday morning she asked the city Art Commission to have the artist remove what she called its "entirely inappropriate" in-scriptions. "The mayor," an aide said, "doesn't believe we want to glorify assassinations."

The controversy emerged as the bust of the late mayor was unveiled at a gala opening on Wednesday afternoon of the $126 million Moscone Convention Center. At the request of Mr. Mos-cone's widow, Gina Moscone, the pedestal was covered with a drape that was not removed until that

Reference to Slaying The pedestal is inscribed with numerous references to Mr. Moscone's personal and professional life — his schooling, marriage and career in the state Senate, among

Mr. Moscone's body next to a .38-caliber Smith and Wesson pistol similar to the one used by Supervi-sor Dan White against the mayor and Supervisor Harvey Milk - red even a replica of a "Twinkie" cake. Mr. White's attorneys raised the defense of "diminished mental capacity" at his trial, contending, among other things, that Mr. White frequently became de-pressed after eating large quanti-ites of sugary junk foods.

Mr. White, charged with the murder of Mr. Moscone and Mr. Milk, was convicted of a lesser offense of manslaughter.

Mr. Arneson was not immediately available for comment on Thursday. He was quoted as saying on Wednesday night that he was "finished with the piece" and implying he would not remodel it. Mr. Arneson described himself as a "realist" who "doesn't deal in il-

But others here found the sculpture tasteless and inappropriate for display at a new convention center designed to attract more visitors to this tourist-oriented city.

Mrs. Feinstein sent a letter to the Art Commission requesting that the work be modified and that from now on the commission ensure that all city-funded art works be inspected at least two weeks before they are put on display. According to a spokesman for the mayor and commission officials, Mr. Arneson had shown the commission a model of the sculpture that contained a plain pedestal. The officials said they were startled to see the controversial inscriptions on the work when they received it this week for display at the Moscone center.

Chinese Minister in Ghana

ACCRA, Ghana -- Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua arrived here Thursday for a four-day visit, Accra Radio reported. He was Peking's first ambassador to Ghana steps of a 750-year-old tower killing 45 persons Friday and injuring 24, doctors reported. About 400 schoolchildren and Indian tourists struggled to flee the 13th century Qutab Minar stone tower on the outskirts of the city, trampling those who had fallen. trampling those who had fallen. The dead included 21 children.

Doctors working in emergency wards said that most of the victims "died of traumatic asphyxia, suffo-cation" from being trampled and

A survivor said that the stampede started when the lights suddenly went out and the people at the top of the narrow stairs pushed and jostled each other trying to get down. This led to panic as people crushed each other in the fight to reach the bottom exit, he said.

An investigation has been opened to establish why authorities broke their rule of traditionalallowing only a handful of tourists inside the tower in order to prevent stampedes.
It was the worst accident in the history of the 234-foot (71-meter monument, officials said.

Adds Two Communists United Press International

DAMASCUS - President Hafez al-Assad has enlarged his Cabinet by 10 members to 36, including two portfolios for Communists, of-

Haidar, of the Syrian Communist Party, were appointed on Thurs-day minister of transportation and

Study Finds Detector of a Lung Cancer

WASHINGTON — Researchers have found a chemical that may al-low early detection or better monitoring of a virulent form of lung cancer, according to a report in Science magazine.

One-fourth of the nation's several million lung cancer victims in-cur small-cell cancer of the lung. said Dr. Terry Moody of George Washington University, head of the team that found the link between such cancer and the chemical bombesin. The disease kills 20,000 people annually, he said. Bombesin was produced in large amounts by small-cell lung cancer grown in the laboratory, Dr. Moody said. Other forms of cancer grown in the laboratory contain no detectable amounts of bombesin, according to the report in the Dec. 11 issue of Science.

We hope that we will be able to detect the presence of the smallcell cancer early by looking for ele-vated levels of bombesin in the body, Dr. Moody said. He is beginning a two-year study here that involves more than 100 patients and is aimed at determining if bombesin is a practical marker for diagnosis of the dis-Other such chemical markers have been sought for different forms of cancer, mostly without U.S. Navy Officer Accused of Giving Secrets to Pretoria

The Associated Press SAN DIEGO - A 21-year-old Navy officer has been charged with passing secret electronics war-fare information to the South African Embassy, the Navy has an Ensign Stephen A. Baba of Guithersburg, Md., was formally accused Wednesday of mailing three classified documents that "could be of assistance to a foreign power ... [and] could be used to the injury of the United States," Capt. Jack Garrow, spokesman for the San Diego Naval Rase, said Thursday.

Capt. Garrow identified the documents as a copy of "Electronics Warfare and Education Quarterly," published by the military in May of last year, and two micro-film documents described by the Navy as "key word index reports" pertaining to electronics warfare.
The South African Embassy turned the material over to the U.S. government in Washington.

Capt. Garrow said.

Walter Knott, Amusement Park Developer, Conservative Supporter, Dies at 91 in U.S.

Los Angeles Times Service
BUENA PARK, Calif. — Walter Knott, 91, who turned a nickel-abasket berry patch into a multimil-lion-dollar tourist attraction, died Thursday at Knott's Berry Farm. Mr. Knott, who was almost as well-known for his fierce patriotism and generous financial support of conservative political candidates as he was for the hundreds of shops, restaurants, rides and at-tractions at Knott's Berry Farm, had been in poor health for several years. Parkinson's disease ultimately destroyed his voice, and in 1974 — the same year his wife died — he stopped taking an active role in the management of the amuse-measurement of the marker chemi-He died where he had lived the cal that is clearly different than the past several years, in a mobile home located behind the chicken natural background levels of inner restaurant his wife opened 47 years ago. Mr. Knott rented the original 10 acres for his Buena Park berry trialist Armand Hammer plans to award $2 million during the next 10 years to scientists trying to farm in 1920, and by the time of his death, it had grown to 150 acres and had become second only to Disneyland among the state's tourist attractions. More than 55 Mr. Hammer, chairman of the President's Cancer Panel, told a panel meeting Thursday that he will give $1 million to the person million people visit Knott's Berry Farm annually — more than any other tourist attraction in the United States except Disneyland and Disney World. In peak season, the farm employs 3,600 people.

John R. Fitzpetrick Sr.

who achieves a cancer cure similar to the polio vaccine. The other $1 million will be awarded in amounts of $100,000 each year for 10 years to the scientists doing the most that year to fight cancer. A committee of scientists will make the independent WASHINGTON (WP) — John R. Fitzpattick Sr., 85, a retired lawyer and former law school dean the judgment.

The meeting was interrupted by Citizens Against Corporate Cancer, which said that Mr. Hammer, board chairman of Occidental Periors. who was credited with solving some of Washington's most sensational criminal cases as an assistant U.S. attorney here from 1929 to 1934, died Thursday at his home troleum Corp., should resign as panel chairman. They alleged that an Occidental subsidiary, Hooker Chemical Co., was responsible for widespread cancer-causing pollu-merce Department. He later worked for the State Department and served in diplomatic posts in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Brit-ain and Canada. In 1937, Mr. Fitzgerald set up the Washington D.C. police department's criminology school, which he operated until 1940.

Francis T. Hunter

NEW YORK (NYT) - Francis T. Hunter, 87, a former Davis Cup player and a member of the Tennis Hall of Fame, died Wednesday in nursing home in Palm Beach, Fla. For many years, Mr. Hunter was the doubles partner of Bill Til-den, with whom he won the title at Wimbledon in 1927 after having won it with Vinnie Richards in 1924.

George R. Manning

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) -George R. Manning, 52, illustrator of the "Tarzan" comic strips for many years, died Tuesday of cancer. Mr. Manning drew Tarzan comic books before winning a contract in 1967 to illustrate the Tar-

Man Given Life Term For Schleyer Slaying

The Associated Press
DUESSELDORF — A West German court sentenced a member of the Baader-Meinhof terrorist gang to life in prison Friday for his part in the 1977 slayings of indus-trialist Hanns Martin Schleyer and his four escorts. The court found 28-year-old Stefan Wisniewski guilty of mur-der, kidnapping and membership m a terrorist gang. Mr. Wisniewski near Frederick, Md.

In 1918, after teaching school in Omaha, Mr. Fitzpatrick moved to Washington to work for the Comfrequently interrupted the judge's reading of the sentence with remarks like "exploiters" and zan comic strip for Edgar Rice Burroughs Corp. He drew the daily strip for about three years and then worked only on the Sunday edition for nine years. For about a year, he drew the comic strip "Star Wars."

The pedestal of the Moscone

Hershy Kay

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) Hershy Kay, 62, a composer and arranger known for his ballet scores and orchestrations of Broadway shows, has died here of heart failure. His orchestrations currently on Broadway are in "Evi-ta," "A Chorus Line" and "Barnum." Past Broadway shows that he orchestrated include "The Golden Apple," 1954; "Once Upon a Mattress," 1958; "110 in the Shade," 1963, and "On the 20th Century," 1977.

John J. McCarthy NEW YORK (UPI) - John J. McCarthy, 61, a decorated World War II hero and former vice president of Dow Jones & Co., died of a heart attack in Union, N.J., on Wednesday. Mr. McCarthy was with Dow Jones 34 years, becom-ing vice president of finance in 1970 and vice president of administration in 1977. He won the Bronze Star, five battle stars, a Purple Heart and the Victory medal for his service with the Army Air Force in Europe from 1941 to 1945.

James A. Oliver

NEW YORK (NYT) - James the New York Zoological Society and the American Museum of Natural History and a retired director of the New York Aquarium, died Wednesday at Metropolitan Hos-Cognac Courvoisier... The French way of life.

International cars for international people.

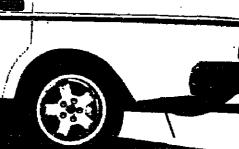

Gain an international advantage with Volvo Tourist & Diplomat Sales. Perhaps you are one of the fortunate people who are entitled to buy a new Volvo at a lower price than most others. Just complete the coupon and post it to us and we will send you full information on one of the world's most interesting cars. And how you can buy your new Volvo at a special price. Or you can talk to your nearest Volvo dealer and test drive a new Volvo. You will find

To Volvo Car Corporation, Tourist & Diplamnt Sales, S-405 08 Göteborg, Sweden. Rush me more information on how I buy my new Volvo cheaper than most other people it a very satisfying experience - especially if you are one of the fortunate few who are

VOLVO Country __ Tourist & Diplomat Sales

314 KDI n 221
434 KCPL p 222
434 KCPL p 224
43

274, 11% Hekt Cs. 35e
28th 17% JWT S 1.44
28th 17% JWS 1.40
28th 17% JWS 1.40
19% 7% JOHNS 12
11% 8% JOHNS 12
11% 8% JOHNS 12
11% 18% JETC 87 2.18
45th 28% Jeffell 1.52
30 41 JETC 87 2.18
45th 28% Jewic C 2.24
30% 42 Jewic D 1
30% 28% Jewic D 1
30% 28% Jewic D 1
20% 14, Joshen S 88
40% 7% John 80 1
20% 14, Joshen S 84
42% 30% Joyan S 84
43% KDT 22i
55% 24/6 KLM 20
25% 15% KGSCe 21
26% KGSCE 22
26% KGSCE 24% KGSCE 22
26% KGSCE 22

227 | 177 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 | 178 |

10.10 11.1

| 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 | 1986 |

1977年2222年3月1日,1977年3月,1977年3月,1

- IV LIGHT STATE OF THE STATE O

1.30e 1.24 1.25 1.30 1.30 1.30 1.30 1.39 1.39 1.39 1.30 1.30 1.30 1.30 1.30 1.30 1.30

74. GAF pf 120
174. GAF pf 120
175. GAF pf 120
175. GAF pf 120
176. GAF pf 120

23% + 1 25% + 1 12% +

如果加州中国的特殊公司的《公司门》中国的"一个人,我们是一个人,我们是一个人,我们们的"一个人,我们们们的"一个人,我们们们们的"一个人",我们们们的"一个人",我们们们们的"一个人",我们们们们们们

到1900年以外,在1900年,1

1.72 80 2.88 - 5 5 5 2.49 1.10 1.34 2.72 1.70 1.08 4 2.76e 5.24 4 2.76

GE THE MENT THE REAL PROPERTY IN THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY

| 14 | Penny | 14 | 15 | Penny | 14 | 16 | Penny | 14 | 16 | Penny | 15 | 16 | Penny | 16 | 16 | Penny

124 Lowers 5.8
209 Lowers 5.2
209 MacCA 1.2
209 M

17th PHH 4
77th PNBM
17th PPSA
9 PRCAS
9 PRCAS
17th PSA
9 PRCAS
17th PSA
17th PCCTI
16th PRCP
12th PCCTI
16th PCCP
12th PCCTI
16th PCCTI
16th PCCTI
17th PLAN
17th PCTI
17th PLAN
17th PCTI
17th PLAN
17th PCTI
17th

pr3.27 pr3.27 p. .16 2.24 p44.40 p44.50 pf 11 pf 8 p48.70

Roberton L. A. Robert

AB 140 1 7 425 Pri 250 Pri 250

处的的,是是他的,我们的对外的人,我们也是这种,我们也是这个人,我们也是这个人,我们也是这个人,我们也不是一个人,我们也是一个人,

| 19th | 10 | SCA | 15e | 15th

24 CONTH M 22

28 CONTH M 20

28 CON 第244年前上午,1945年,19 14. 54 237 14. 7 159 14. 7 7 150 14. 7 7 150 14. 7 7 150 14. 7 7 150 14. 7 7 150 14. 7 7 150 15. 7 15. | 17th Correlate | 17th 17.2000 13.0000 13.000 13.000 13.000 13.000 13.000 13.000 13.000 13.000 13.0000

2577.49 See 232 1 .80 rt .65 n .80 2 n .80 2 n .87 dpf.87 pf 9.44 pf 8.28 f .40 f 1.20 s 1.50 s 1.50 1.08 pf2.86 1.40 pf2.19 1.96 2.40 pf6.24 pf 12 20 1.50 n 1.80 40 2.46 1.32 #2.40 1.10 iolr 14 .601 5 .800 6 .201 11 .38 1 .30 11 .38 1 .30 1 .3 89 1 48 1 733 K 129 7 14 7 12 17.7 5 81 15 6 15 6 15 6 15 6 15 6 15 6 15 6 n1.60 pf .48 2.45 1.20 1.20 1.28 5 .14 5 .52 44b 5 .24 un24 pf7.40 19th Allier | 1.20
19th Allier |

Page 6

Arts Travel Leisure

Herald Tribune

Less Sure, More Realistic, Dali Makes a Comeback

by James M. Markham

ADRID - As in the old days, Salvador Dali raised the glass of pink champagne in a toast to his wife.

His guests on the high terrace joined him, lifting their glasses in unison. An autumn moon bathed the tranquil Mediterranean setting. "To Gala," intoned the aging Surrealist, shuffling across the flat stones to the woman he has exalted in oils, drawings and countless aphorisms. The aging countless aphorisms. The aging countless aphorisms. countless aphorisms. The aging couple pecked at each other's lips. Dali's right hand, trem-bling violently, betrayed him. The champagne

He surrendered his glass to a friend.

Pathetic as it might have seemed, the scene on the deck at the Dali house in Port Lligat on Spain's Costa Brava was part of a tale of triumph. Against all odds, Salvador Dali, at the age of 77, is making a comeback.

For almost two years, Dali has been strug-gling with disease and with demons of his own making: psychic depression, disarray in his arnstic patrimony and chaos in his financial life. For a while, it seemed to the outside world as if the creator of the "paranoic-critical" theo-ry of art was about to become its first victim. plunged into veritable madness. But, with a touch of luck and a little help from his friends, Dali has hauled himself back from the brink. Now, having banished from his court the man Dali's friends say nearly ruined him, a dimin-ished Salvador Dali is looking to the future, expanding the museum that bears his name and, above all, working as much as six hours a day. "Now I am starting to paint and draw," Dali related, slurring his words slightly as he spoke in French. "And Gala says it is better

Last July, shaking from Parkinson's disease Dali slipped into Spain. The hobbling painter and his 88-year-old Russian-born wife had had a confrontation with a group of paparazzi in Paris; they didn't want to have their Spanish homecoming spoiled by any more disagreeable encounters with the press. A chartered Mystère jet whisked them from Paris to the southern French city of Perpignan, whose rail-road station Dali had, in jollier times, proclaimed the center of the world. From Perpignan, the elderly couple were driven to their tiered, whitewashed home in the little fishing village of Port Lligat, just across the frontier. There, the silence of servants and high walls enveloped them.

Salvador Dali, the man who had once boasted of his "pure, vertical, mystical, Gothic love of cash," now had less of it than he would have liked. And within the walls of Port Lligat, Dali was able to put a name to what was at the root of his predicament: Enrique Sabater. In five years Sabater rose from a minor role in the Dali entourage to a figure who, dominating the artist, had made himself into a millionaire many times over. Now, Sabater, 47 years old, has been banned from the house at Port Lligat, where he once was the ultimate gamekeeper, his fall is in a sense the story of Dali's tentative

But Sabater's initial ascension to riches and power — and his transformation of Dali's name and reputation through the mass pro-duction of Dali jewelry, statuary, posters, table settings and other kitsch — is not some aber-rant, or tragic, tale. Dali was intimately in-volved in the commercialization of Dali, and, if he was not always aware of what Sabater was up to, the broad lines of the private secre-tary's activities were no secret. What finally brought down Sabater was not that he was making money off Dali — something many have done — but that he was said to be makng more than Dali was.

Around Port Lligat, there are people who can remember Sabater as an ingratiating young man who, working as a free-lance photographer, once had the good fortune to snap a now-famous picture of a fly perched on Dali's nose. The fly, according to the maestro, is the "paranoic-critical insect par excellence," and he was delighted by the photo. Sabater's timing couldn't have been better, for it was at this time — 1974 — that Dali's relations had be-come strained with his long-time personal sec-retary, an Englishman named John Peter

Moore.
As Moore tells it, Dali was furious with him after Prince Juan Carlos came to the Costa Brava and visited Moore's museum in Cadaques, but passed up the artist's museum in his nearby hometown of Figueras. Sabater sensed an opening, Dali's friends say, and

A Costa Brava boy, Sabater had been a drifter until he met the Dalis. He had married the daughter of a hotel owner, worked as a waiter, chauffeur and salesman for a real estate development, and had done odd jobs for a Gerona newspaper. Los Sitios. He had little formal education, and to this day his appreciation-or understanding of art seems to be mini-

But Dali's understanding of his own financial life was even more rudimentary. On May 31, 1976. Sabater, his wife and Dali created a mpany, Dasa Ediciones, in Gerona province for the commercialization of the artist's work. On July 6, 1979, the Gerona commercial register noted the withdrawal of one of the three stockholders in Dasa: Dali. One stroke deprived the artist of a legal hold on revenues generated by his own genius. With the help of a New York lawyer, Sabater founded two other companies — Dalart, and yet another called Dasa — in the Caribbean tax haven of Curacao in the Netherlands Antilles. Checks made out to Dasa thus could be deposited in either Spain or distant Curacao. Sabater's lawyer told a colleague at one point that Dalart was the result of complicated tax planning that depended on a thorough knowledge of interna-tional tax treaties, involving the United States, the Netherlands Antilles and Spain.

The heart of the Sabater fortune was made selling copyright and reproduction rights to Dali's works on a worldwide basis. The private secretary also took hefty commissions for selling Dali's dwindling outputs of oils, and sys-tematically cut out anyone who previously had commercial access to the painter.

Sabater's handling of Dali was at times garded by Dali's friends as cruel. He is said to have warned the painter that Basque terrorists were out to kill him and that only the pistolpacking secretary could protect him. And, as numerous Dali associates and experts in the art world concur, Sabater became greedy: He wanted too much of the bounteous Dali industry, and made enemies in several continents. Sabater, too, aroused the envy of others. He acquired two splendid houses on the bay at Llafranch, south of Port Lligat, and equipped one with closed-circuit television, a lobster aquarium and a heated swimming pool. A yacht bobbed in the bay, in the summer, he threw parties for Arab millionaires and Spanish show-business personalities. People began to talk and to wonder. Where did all this mon-

Salvador and Gala Dali in Monaco with the artist's former personal secretary, Enrique Sabater, in 1980.

Questions about Sabater were asked even more insistently when Dali and Gala, exhausted, returned to Spain in April, 1980, from their annual stint at the St. Regis Hotel in New York. The Dalis enclosed themselves at Port Lligat, refusing to receive even old friends. Things had been bad enough and then seemed to get worse. Dali complained of trembling limbs and sent out pitiful coded messages: "I have become a snail." Gala furiously insisted that he get well so that she could travel to New York to visit a young American actor friend with whom she had maintained a long and expensive relationship. While this melodrama unfolded and doctors disagreed publicly — on television and in the press — on what was wrong with Dali, Sabater guarded the gates. Friends of Dali, at first in private and then in angry letters to newspapers, began to ask what Sabater had to hide.

A. Reynolds Morse is one of Dali's oldest friends. They met by chance at the St. Regis Hotel in 1955. "You look like an artist," the Cleveland industrialist observed to Dali. "I am an artist," responded Dali. "Zee greatest." The painter rushed upstairs to his room, fetched a few canvases and Morse bought them for what would turn out to be a pittance. "If you ever need a thousand dollars," Morse told his friend as they parted, "just send me a paint-ing." Dali did, and Morse ended up with the largest Dali oil collection in the world. In May, 1980, Morse and Robert Descharnes, a Dali scholar from France and also an old friend, visited Salvador and Gala in Port Lligat, and were appalled at what they found. In a letter, Morse announced the creation of something called Friends to Save Dali.

"We proved pretty well that under Gala's untender care and Sabater's terroristic methods, Dali has been reduced to a shell of his former self," Morse wrote. "We are concerned that Sabater's income from Dali has been more than six times that of his master, and that he is abusing the expense accounts to the tune of about $100,000 a year." Morse declared that "Sabater's mismanagement of things Dalinian is appalling," and cited "shenanigans" that had cut Dali out of book royal-ties due him and the private secretary's failure to straighten out the artist's cloudy Spanish tax situation.

"The Dalis should be Spanish residents."

wrote Morse, "but Sabater duped them into thinking that Monaco was an out when it is not for tax purposes."

Stung by press acounts of his activities, Sabater hung on. Through a sympathetic journalist in the Barcelona daily La Vanguardia Espanola. Sabater portrayed himself as a long-suffering spiritual friend of the Dalis, unfairly maligned and vigilant to the high demands of art. "I consider myself an implacable hunter of art forgers," Sabater told La Vanguardia.

Paradoxically, three men - two of them Sabater's associates — were arrested on the Spanish frontier last January with 1,085 Dali prints that they had failed to declare to customs. Sabater, who has consistently denied any wrongdoing in his relationship with Dali, insisted that he had nothing to do with bring-insisted that he had nothing to do with bringing the prints into Spain.

On Oct. 25, 1980, Dali reappeared in public for the first time in seven months. Against the musical backdrop of "Tristan und Isolde," Dali shambled into the central hall of the Teatro Museo Dali in Figueras, followed by a rigid-looking Gala, who hurled flower petals at a throng of photographers. Sabater stalked around the hall. The event was meant to be a triumphant Dali press conference, but it was said and, in a sense, heroic. Dali's right hand, his painting hand, shook uncontrollably while his white mustache drooped. He lurched behis white mustache drooped. He lurched be-tween Spanish, French and Catalan, starting sentences in one tongue and finishing them in

"You see how my hand is trembling?" he asked the assembled journalists defiantly. "Well, look now." And then he held the shaking hand still. Though his limbs were clearly invaded by disease, the old Dali wit was still there. Asked about his Seamich to you have there. Asked about his Spanish tax problems, he retorted: "I love to pay taxes, but I don't know anything about this because Gala takes care of it, and she's not going to say anything because this is my press conference." Turning slowly, Dali unveiled a horrible painting he had completed during his isolation in Port Lligat: a grotesque, lurid purple beast, recumbent. Its title: "The Happy Horse."

"It is a little rotten," commented Dali drily.

"I don't know if you can see that it is a horse. or a donkey, but you can see that it is rotten."

Resuming their old migratory habits, the Dalis moved on to Paris, installing themselves in the elegant Hotel Meurice, in Suite 106-108. There, Sabater's slow fall from grace was completed with the return of another extraordinary personality: Jean-Claude Dubarry. The dapper Dubarry had first come into the Dalis' world in 1968 through a model agency he ran in Bar-The painter christened the boyish Frenchman Jean-Claude Verite, or Truth. "Me," chuckled Dubarry slyly, "I am a little bit the sexual and erotic side of Dali." Dubarry has always had good access to Gala, and on Aug. 18, 1980 — he recalls the date as if it were a battlefield victory - he paid her a quiet visit Continued on page 10W

The Frères Jacques Say Adieu

by Calla Corner

AUSANNE - "Get into dinner jackets and it will be formidable" Maurice Chevalier told them. The act, he said, was great, but the costume would never work. That was back in 1946 or 1,420 hats, 2,752 pairs of white gloves, 468 black and pas-tel leotards, 135 pairs of black ballet shoes and 420 mustaches ago.

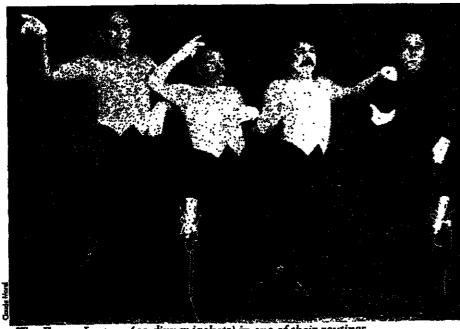

The costume, designed by Jean-Denis Maclès, Saint-Germain-des-Prés' surrealist theatrical designer, gave the Frères Jacques something that not only set them apart from other cabaret performers of postwar Paris (Marlene Dietrich, as well as Chevalier, wore a dinner jacket on stage) but also facilitated their calisthenic routine and made possible their multiple metamorphoses by adding mus-taches, top hats and parasols. It was more than an adjunct to their act; the costume said that the Frères Jacques were ballet dancers, mimes and poets all in one.

Francois Soubeyran, the tall Jacques, is backstage before one of the group's final recitals here, a taste of their 35 years on stage and

"We're following Sacha Guitry's advice, 'Quit the theater before the theater quits you,' " says Soubeyran, arranging his white gloves on the radiator to dry. "An actor can pretend he's not 60 when he is, but our bodies to the same and the same are the same and the same are the same and the same are the can't pretend any more. So we're all going to leave together. Georges Bellec is going to take up law again, his brother André is retiring to his easel, Paul Tourenne is going to pursue his hobby, photography, and I'm going to devote my spare hours to pottery."

Soubeyran, who has translated several books by English ceramists and would almost rather talk clay now than theater, describes how, in Paris after the Liberation, he met the Bellecs and Tourenne. André Bellec, a jazz pianist as well as a painter, suggested that they get a small act together. By 1946 they had their costume, despite Chevalier's advice, and made their debut with the Compagnie Grenier-Hussenot with an act of four songs mixing parody and melodrama with a bit of cabaret. In 1952 they had worked up a sizable repertoire of French songs and the Frères Jacques recitals began at the Théâtre Daunou.

Why did they call themselves Les Frères Jacques? "Because at the time it was fashionable to be brothers or sisters; the Marx Brothers, the Dolly Sisters, the Mills Brothers," says Soubeyran, "and because the expression faire le Jacques, usually reserved for childish monkeying around, suited us perfectly.

The Freres Jacques (no dinner jackets) in one of their routines.

"Also," he adds, "Frères Jacques' evokes what is most French in a French song."

The monkeying around that the Frères Jacques did during their 4,500 recitals in 42 countries provided universal delight, even though their bons most were usually lost on and the state of the state audiences that did not speak French. "The English loved the routine, because their music hall is part of British culture, the American university students probably regarded us as school-boy humorists, the Japanese laughed their sides out, but I don't really think they understood anything — maybe they appreciated our sense of timing." Soubeyran says.

whom the bons mots, suggestive lyrics and Gal-lic spirit, their parodies on sex, gluttony and human foibles evoked daily life. The act never changed: Bellec introducing

Their best audience remained the French, to black grand piano and their pianist-composer Hubert Degex, followed by the Frères Jacques' slithering under the spotlight as four spermato-zoa in "300 Million," rushing about like a whole rugby team in "C'est Ca le Rugby," act-ing out La Fontaine's "Le Corbeau et Le Renard" or trying to get themselves unstuck from the jam jar in "La Confiture."

How did four talents stay together for so long? "Our work brought us together and kept us together," says Soubeyran, testing the white gloves to see if they're dry. "We couldn't have done the act without total harmony behind the scenes, practicing six hours a day in front of a mirror, as we did for so many years."

The gloves are dry, a sign that it's time to let the Frères Jacques slip once more into their costume, a costume that does its best to cover old-age spread and tired muscles but will let them pretend a few more times.

Now back in Paris, the Frères Jacques are giving what is billed as their farewell series of concerts at the Theutre de Boulogne-Billancourt, 60 rue de la Belle-Feuille, Boulogne-Billancourt; the numbers on a stage bare except for the tel: 603,60.44 until Jan. 3.

Chopin's Revolutionary Music Strikes a Chord Near Warsaw

by Paul Lewis

ELAZOWA WOLA, Poland — The first sounds the infant son of Nicholas and Justyna Chopin heard when he entered the world on March 1, 1810, named village not far from Warsaw. By a happy coincidence, so the story goes, the village musicians were passing his mother's bedroom on their way to festivities at the nearby manor house of Countess Skarbek.

Today, a huge white urn, filled with flowers in summer and with grasses and evergreen sprigs during the long Polish winter, stands in the bedroom alcove where Frédéric Chopin was born. From concealed loudspeakers, the piano music of Poland's greatest composer, so heavily spiced with the rhythms of the coun-tryside, drifts constantly through the small cottages on the old Skarbek estate and out over adolescence, is preserved as a museum, a concert center and a place of pilgrimage for musi-cians and music lovers from all over the world. But in Poland's present crisis the cottage and the copious gardens that now surround it take on a special significance.

land's long and tragic struggle to defend itself against the acquisitive advances of its neigh-bors, a struggle that seems far from over today. Driving out to Zelazowa Wola one warm Sunday this fall, I found it chilling to recall how little the country's problems had changed over the centuries. I had left behind a Warsaw awash with rumors of an imminent Soviet in-

On entering the cottage for the first time, it was moving beyond words to be greeted by the thunderous chord and angry cascade of semiquavers that mark the opening of the "Revolu-tionary" Etude in C Minor. Chopin was an ardent nationalist and this work expresses the rage and frustration he felt after the brutal Russian suppression of the 1830-31 Polish up-rising. "Oh God, you exist and yet you don't avenge," he wrote from Stuttgart at the time. "Have you not had your full of Moscow's

Like everything else in Poland these days, getting to Zelazowa Wola is not easy, but dollars help. Public transportation does not exist, so the best idea is to take a taxi, offering the driver dollars or some other Western curency that he can spend in Poland's well-stocked forcien-currency shops. After initially demanding $25 for the half-day trip, my driver settled for back in time. Soon the shabby blocks of workers' apartments give way to narrow, bumpy country roads running past rows of neat peas-ants' cottages, many of them beautifully carved wooden buildings that date from the

Zelazowa Wola is only about 40 miles west

In October, during what the Poles call their "golden autumn," their gardens are a mass of roses and marigolds. Conical hayricks dot the fields like oversized molehills, while long, thin borse-drawn carts that have not changed in burst-state of the poles and seems and leaves to the control of the control o hundreds of years roll slowly along, loaded with potatoes, beets and cabbages.

The village is on the Masovian plains, an

Chopin was an ardent nationalist and this work expresses the rage and frustration he felt afterthe brutal Russian suppression of the 1830-31 Polish uprising. "Oh God, you exist and yet you don't avenge," he wrote from Stuttgart at the time. "Have you not had your fill of Moscow's crimes?"

area known as the "Heart of Poland." The landscape is absolutely flat but crisscrossed by meandering streams lined with willow trees. More than one biographer has heard some echo of the delicate strength of these Masovian willows in Chopin's music. And Chopin himself wrote, "I am a true Masovian."

The single-story cottage, a long, ivy-covered building of six rooms, is surrounded by gardens that dip down in terraces to a little river. In homage to the composer, botanical gardens all over the world sent more than 10,000 trees and shrubs to be planted when the Polish government bought the cottage and turned it into a museum in 1930.

In the fall, the path that winds up to the cottage door from the entrance gate is bordered by banks of chrysanthemums, roses and white irises. (Admission is 20 zlotys, less than $1). Donkeys graze on the lawns beyond, while overhead huge beech trees, turning gold now, offer shade from the surprising warmth of the midday sun.

Chopin led an exile's life in troubled times. dying of consumption in Paris at the age of 39. His music, of course, is preserved along with many letters. And his heart was returned to Poland for burial in Warsaw's Holy Cross Church. But few other mementos of his life have survived. Although the cottage is furnished as it might have been in Chopin's day, it contains only a handful of items the composer would recognize.

On a sunny day, the cottage seems airy and bright, with white walls and designs painted in delicate colors on the ceiling beams. In winter the rooms are heated by blue-tiled wood stoves. The unpretentious furniture includes an old mahogany grandfather clock, a dining room set of polished black wood, silk-covered settees and 19th-century prints of Warsaw.

The big black Steinway grand tucked into a corner of the music room contrasts with the 19th-century "upright grand" that looks like a harp standing on a keyboard in another room. The difference between the full tone of a mod-era piano and the tinkling noise of the kind of instrument Chopin used makes one wonder whether he would even recognize his own music today.

Some framed musical manuscripts together with several decorated poems that Chopin as a small boy presented to his parents on their birthday, provide a direct link with the com-poser. So do some of the pictures — not the reproductions of the portraits by Delacroix and Scheffer but less well-known pictures like the two sketches of him at 19 by Princess Radziwill, drawn when he was staying at her family's castle.

She's young, 17, pretty and it's a delight to guide her fingers on the keys," he wrote of the princess, whom he helped with piano lessons. In return she recorded his delicate birdlike profile while he sat at the piano. The other, full-face sketch in color noted dark patches under his eyes, a hint of the disease that was to claim him so young.

The portraits of Chopin's parents in the dining room suggest that the composer's powerful nose came from his schoolmaster father, while his sensuous mouth seems an inheritance from his mother, the daughter of an impoverished aristocrat who worked as Countess Skarbek's housekeeper, Chopin's father was a tutor to the countess' sons.

Countess Skarbek ordered a piano placed out on the lawn under the beech trees so the young Chopin could play to her household in the evenings. We also know that in Zelazowa Wola he listened to wandering gypsy bands playing mazurkas and other country dances that he was to immortalize in his compositions.

So it is fitting that on Sundays in summer, those who make the journey to the cottage should be invited to listen to some of Poland's finest pianists perform Chopin's works out on the terrace under the beech trees, where the master once played. It is a perfect end to a moving pilgrimage. The Chopin museum is open the year round from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays, 9 to 2 on Saturday; from May to September it is open on Sunday from 9 to 4:30. The recitals are given on Sunday from May to September, one at 11 a.m.

and another at 3 p.m. C1981 The New York Times

Gifts for a Lennon Memorial by Joseph Fitchett

ARIS - John Lennon was killed a year ago, and Yoko Ono plans to use the anniversary of his murder on Tuesday to explain her vision of Strawberry Fields - the bit of Central Park set aside in the singer's memory.

Governments are being asked to donate objects typical of their countries to help create a garden in the three-acre section of Central-Park opposite the Dakota apartment house, where Lennon lived and was murdered.

Donations have been announced by France and Spain, and Anne Fillali — who describes herself as "a friend, a sculptress' daughter, who has lived a little bit everywhere and done many things" --- is touring world capitals to get national gifts from every continent. France's national cultural adviser, Paul Guimard, says the French government probably will give a Wallace fountain. These green-painted drinking fountains supported by caryatids, have decorated Paris streets and parks since the 19th century; they were given to Parisians by Richard Wallace, the celebrated art collector,

"The objects are supposed to be typical of the spirit of the donor country," Guimard says, "and it's a nice touch that Wallace was an Englishman, too. Spain will give a sculpture, as yet unselected.

The park — named for a Lennon song per-formed by the Beatles — is a teardrop-shaped area where One and Lennon took their last walk together before he was shot. The killer. Mark Chapman, has been sentenced to a term

19th century. were the lively peasant times of the fiddlers and pipers of Zelazowa Wola, a melodiously the gardens and woods beyond.

Chopin's birthplace, to which he often returned as a guest of the countess during his

In a country worn threadbare by economic hardship, they are a haven of tranquility and beauty. But they are also a reminder of Po-vasion, a concern that would not have surprised Chopin. By the time Chopin was 5 years old, Czar Alexander I of Russia had formally declared himself King of Poland, having already grabbed much of the country in the company of Austria and Prussia.

by Meg Bortin

ARIS - As the battle for the Equal Rights Amendment in the United States enters its final stages — or, as some believe, its death throes - European feminists may be moving more rapidly than their American counterparts for the first time since the women's movement took off in the 1960s. In many European countries, where women got the vote only after World War II, the changes have been nothing short of spectacular.

Who would have thought just 10 years ago in Italy — with its Catholic tradition and cult of Latin male virility — that a woman would gain the right to divorce her husband (1974), to end an unwanted pregnancy (1978) and to have equal access with men to all jobs (1980) and that this year Italians would overwhelmingly support women's right to abortion in a referendum?

In West Germany, a broad-based women's movement has developed a sophisticated communications network linking university women's studies programs and city women's centers with information about events, issues and local initiatives. Abortion has not been fully legalized, but women's health centers in many cities allow women to take their medical problems outside the predominantly male health establishment. Now the West German women's movement has coalesced behind Alice Schwarze, editor of one of two wide-circulation feminist monthlies, in a court battle against the publisher of the illustrated weekly Stern.

In England, abortion was legalized as early as 1967. Since then, with an emphasis on ending violence against women, British feminists have set up a network of homes for battered women and have moved to change the laws on rape and prostitution. Currently under attack are immigration laws that are regarded as discriminating unfairly against women, including "virginity tests" on some would-be immigrants.

women, including "Virginity tests" on some would-be immigrants. In France, buoyed by the energy generated by the explosive events of May, 1968, the women's movement emerged as a powerful collective force. Taking advantage of Paris as the focal point of a centralized society, the various feminist groups united in the early 1970s to capture the nation's attention and push through groundbreaking legislation, with equal pay for equal work becoming law in 1972 and abortion legalized in 1975. Now, despite what feminists call the movement's superficial lack of cohesion, they say its effects continue. of cohesion, they say its effects continue.

"The movement is diminishing, but feminism is growing, penetrating society ever more profoundly," says Christine Delphy, a sociologist and prominent feminist theoretician. She adds that the progress of feminism in France was demonstrated by the simple fact that sexism is now perceived by the public at large as an issue, which, she continues, was not the case 10 years ago.

"For example," she explains over coffee at a Latin Quarter café, "a dozen women can go have dinner at a restaurant together now without automatically becoming the target of snide remarks." And while men may still eye a woman as she walks by, they are more careful about what they say, Delphy feels. "At least on the level of speech, we have changed the world," she says. But she and other feminists warn that both heightened consciousness and practical gains remain fragile.

The term gains is perhaps debatable because in the context of the current economic crisis, certain gains which are written down as law remain extremely theoretical," says Odile Dhavernas, an attorney specializing in women's rights. "Regarding equal pay for equal work, for example, women are affected by unemployment more than men, so they are the ones to suffer its effects, law or no law."

Further, she notes that abortion is not covered by national health insurance. During the election campaign last spring the Socialists said that coverage would be desirable to make abortion accessible to all women, but faced with the reality of the debt-ridden social security insurance system, the Socialist government admits it may not be able to follow ibrough.

The election of President Francois Mitterrand was heralded by feminists. The new minister for women's rights, Yvette Roudy, who has just started France's first government-sponsored information campaign on contraception, has sketched an ambitious program for fighting sexist abuses. But some feminists question her ability to go beyond minor changes, for economic and other reasons.

French feminism, meanwhile, is becoming more project-oriented, with a multitude of individual groups across the country establishing homes for battered women, rape counseling services, women's bookstores and restaurants - like other progressive movements that splintered under the pressure of the late 1970s.

Still, the feminist situation is more complex in France than elsewhere. In a country where even factions have factions, one women's group went so far as to patent the name "Women's Liberation Movement," making it illegal for any other group to use it and creating confusion among the public over just who is behind any given action.

The move, in 1979, infuriated feminists in France and abroad and elicited a vehement protest from Simone de Beauvoir. "To reduce thou-

Leaflets Warn

Cairo to Give In

U.K., Paris

To Reject

UN Pleas

Pineza Declares

Nothing Changed

NEW YORK

Soviet Army Crushing Hungarian Revolt;

British, French Troops Embark at Cyprus

"THE FRONT PAGE 1887-1980"

MAJOR EVENTS OF THE PAST CENTURY AS REPORTED IN

THE INTERNATIONAL HERALD TRIBUNE

Herald Tribune

Poster announcing a European feminists' meeting.

sands of women to silence by claiming to speak in their place is to exercise a revolting tyranny," she wrote.

That case was only a prelude to the latest polemic dividing French women, which culminated in a court trial — the judges' decision is scheduled Tuesday - between two feminist groups.

As in the United States, where debate on such issues as pornography has slashed deep divisions into the women's movement, feminists in Europe have suffered the inevitable internal differences. But generally, with a profound suspicion of the state inherited from a long leftist tradi-tion in Europe, feminists have preferred to fight it out in private rather than bring disputes to court.

The Freuch trial, concerning property rights to the title of a feminist journal, was itself a minor event. But as tension mounted in the packed court — the former friends and colleagues not only spiritually but also physically divided on separate benches — the scene seemed to dramatize the contradictions French feminists have faced in attempting to work together while breaking out of a strong polemical tradition.

The editorial collective that published the journal "Questions Feministes" split a year ago when half the group, radical lesbians, adopted the position that by sleeping with men, heterosexual women were "collabos"
— using the term reserved for the French who collaborated with the Nazis during World War II. When the other women in the collective decided this year to publish a new journal called "Nouvelles Questions Feministes," the radical lesbians sued them for usurping the title.

When word of the trial reached the United States — another country where feminists have had bitter court battles — writers Adrienne Rich, Kathleen Barry and Andrea Dworkin wrote letters of support to the 'Nouvelles Questions Feministes" team, which includes de Beauvoir. Monique Wittig, author of the early feminist bestseller "Les Guerrillères," joined sides with the radical lesbians.

Many women contested the wisdom of bringing before a panel of male judges a court case in which there could be no winners, only losers. But others saw a positive aspect in the fact that by bringing the dispute ont in the open. French feminists had overcome their old fear of "washing dirty linen in public." In that sense, they said, the trial indicates the strength of a movement that, having come of age, is now unafraid to take responsibility for its own contradictions.

Nagy Cabinet Captured;

Kadar Becomes Premier

Dulles Has Operation

On Cancerous Tissue

the Ripper, the Windsors, Stalin - a century of news

neadiners and the events that surrounded them.

Hard cover, 28x38 centimeters, readable-size text. The book is divided into five chronological sections, each with an introduction describing the period from

THE FRONT PAGE is a distinctive personal or business

Rebel Radios Heard In Calls for UN Aid

gift. Order one - or several - today. Use the convenient the Kipper, the Willusors, Stant - a century of headliners and the events that surrounded them.

historical and journalistic viewpoints.

Oklahoma and Tech

Win After Close Calls

Remembrance of Perfection Past

by Patricia Wells

LLHAEUSERN, France - Anyone passionate about food has tucked away in his mind the fond memory of a perfect

For me, that will never be duplicated.

For me, that perfect meal occurred two years ago, on a drizzly Sunday afternoon in September, in the dining room of L'Auberge de l'Ill, here in this gingerbread pocket of France known as Alsace.

The lunch came midway through a tightly packed and overly ambitious six-week eating tour of France, the sort of voyage gastronomes should take just once in their lives. Then, our palates were still fresh, amuse-gueules and truf-fles and the poultry of Bresse were still novelties, and three-star meals were, as they should be, something to be planned weeks, even months in advance, like arranging for tickets to a favorite opera or a special ballet.

We got lost in the rain, as we always do. As we drove across the tiny bridge that crosses the river III, were ushered into the rambling Haeberlin home and shown a window seat overlooking the weeping willows, the rain stopped, the clouds lifted. Not a single element, but a combination, made it all perfect: the reversible weather, the timing in our trip, the setting, service, even the mood of the chef. the dining staff, the diners.

It was a meal of discovery — new combina-tions to test the palate's versatility and willing-ness to take on yet another unfamiliar flavor, texture, sensation.

The amuse-gueules came piping from the oven, little onion and cheese tarts designed to warm you to the bone.

The rabbit salad arrived in a flourish, tender young nuggets of lapin with the quickly seared liver, all in a pool of truffled vinaigrette. Not your basic first course. The famous salmon soufflé appeared in all its subtlety, fresh salmon fillets layered with a rich mousse of pike, egg whites and cream. Then the plump Bresse pigeon encased in puff pastry, green salads showered with girolles. noisettes of venison in creamy cognac sauce, platters of local Munster and thin slices of walnut-studded tye.

It was not an experience soon to be upstaged; the meal set the standard by which I still judge restaurants. Knowing that, I put off returning to L'Auberge de l'Ill. If I never went back there, the memory of perfection would remain alive for ever.

But the world doesn't stand still. Since the fall of 1979, many stars and many meals have passed our palates. We witnessed the rise, and now the fall, of nouvelle cuisine and decided that all the craziness, the frenzy over food has not been for the better. Chefs continue to perform like vote-gathering politicians, while the public chases Michelin stars as if seeking visions. Pampered diners have become so jaded, they expect neighborhood bistros to turn out three-star perfection. And bistros respond with an ambition that is at once startling and depressing. Everyone seems to be losing perspective.

It is, after all, only food. Through all this, the Haeberlins — older brother Paul at the stove with his son, Marc, and younger brother Jean-Pierre in the dining room - stayed above it all. Their menu remained sane and simple classic with a person-al touch. Rather than trotting the globe in search of stardom, they stayed at home with their classy international clientele, always com-

We returned a few weekends ago. This time, a Saturday lunch, planned months in advance, to celebrate a birthday. We did not expect an instant replay of 1979. You can rarely anticipate perfection and win. But we were not disappointed.

We got lost in the rain again. It was another typical French day: It poured, it drizzlet, the sun shone, a little bit of everything. As we san should, a little bit of everything. As we crossed the bridge, clouds flew through the sky. We were home again, scated on a cushioned bench facing the river. The filtered light intensified the colors of the blue, white and yellow pansies that grow in the garden.

The weeping willows continued to lose their leaves to the broeze.

The same little cheese and onion tars appeared out of nowhere. The menu had changed imperceptibly. The salade tiede seemed almost humorous — a nouvelle touch here on the German border - red cabbage leaves, warmed and wilted, surrounded by breast of pheasant and wild duck, then a strip of seared duck liver.

I'd forgotten the hard rolls, German, buge and hearty enough to stand up to the lièvre à la royale and pot au feu. With the hare came a fresh batch of those curty German noodles known as spätzle, while the pot au feu arrived as a lovely cut of rare-boiled heef surrounded by a garden of leeks and paranips, turnips and carrots. The single disappointment: a warm apple tart with dry, uncooked fruit.

But we shouldn't have feared returning.

Amid the frenzy and the overtill, those rare and wonderful meals can still be found. It was not perfection. But then, it is only food. Auberge de l'Ill, 68150 Illhaeusern, France; tel: (89) 71.83.23. Credit card: Diner's Club. Closed Monday evenings and Tuesday and July

International datebook

AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Konzerthans (tel: 72.12.11)

— Dec. 8: Alban Berg Quartet (Mozart, Beethoven, Bartók), Dec. 9: Jane Marsh soprano, Erik Werba piano (Mahler, Hindemith, Stramss). Dec. 10 and 13: Vienna Symphony Orchestra Lawrence Foster conductor, Vladimis Lawrence Foster conductor, Viadimir Ashkenazy piano (Beethoven). •Mnsikverem (tel: 65.81.90). Grosser Saal — Dec. 8: Desző Ranki piano

Sail — Dec. 8: Deszo Ranki piano (Beethoven, Schumann).

Startsoper (tel: 5324/7655). Opera — Dec. 5: "Fidelio." Dec. 6: "Das Rheingold." Dec. 7: "The Barber of Seville." Dec. 8: "The Valkyries." Dec. 9: "The Marriage of Figaro." Dec. 10: "Elektra." Dec. 11: "Tosca."

BELGIUM

BRUSSELS, Musées Royaux des Beaux-Arts (tel: 02/513.96.30) — To Jan. 3: "Homage to Albert Dasnoy." Theatre Royal du Parc (tel: 511.41.47) — Dec. 5-6: "Leocadia" (Anonilh). Dec. 10-Jan. 3: "Le Tont Pour le Tont" ENGLAND

LONDON, Aldwych Theatre (tel: 836.64.04) — Royal Shakespeare Company: Dec. 5, 7 and 8: "Richard III."
Dec. 9 and 10: "The Merchant of Venice."

Coliseum (tel: 836.31.61) — English
National Opera: Dec. 5 and 9: "La Traviata." Dec. 8 and 10: "Pelleas and Melisande." Dec. 11: "The Seven Deadly Sins" and "Les Mamelles de Tirésias." Queen Elizabeth Hall - Dec. 6: An dre Tchaikovsky piano (Bach, Schn-bert, Chopin) Dec. 9: Juilliard String Quartet (Beethoven). Royal Festival Hall (tel: 928.31.91) — Dec. 6: London Philharmonic Orchesrizio Pollini piano (Stravinsky, Schumsun, Beethoven). Dec. 7: Lon-don Symphony Orchestra and Chorus, Eduardo Mata conductor (Ravel, Stra-vinksy). Dec. 8: Philharmonia Orches-tra, Lovro von Matacic conductor, Hel-cel Donath spressor, Stepus). Dec. 10: tra, Lovro von Matricic conductor, Hel-can Donath soprano (Strauss). Dec. 10: Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, Antal Dorati conductor, Yehudi Menuhin vi-olin (Mozart, Bartôlt). Dec. 11: Isaac Stem violin, Andrew Wolf piano (Brahms, Schubert, Bartôlt, Franck). eVictoria & Albert Museum — To Jan. 31: "Splendours of the Gonzaga," exhi-bition bition.

Warehouse, Donmar Theatre (tel: 836.68.08) — Royal Shakespeare Company: To Dec. 8: "Hansel and Gretel" (Rudkin).

SOUTHAMPTON, Gaumont (tel: 0703/29772) — Dec. 8-12: Welsh National Opera: Dec. 8 and 11: "The Force of Destiny." Dec. 9: "Fidelio." Dec. 10: "Madam Butterfly." Dec. 12: "The Magic Flute."

STRATFORD-UPON-AVON, Royal Shakespeare Theatre (tel: 0789/29.22.71) — Dec. 5, 7 and 10: "A Midsummer Night's Dream." Dec. 5, 10 and 11: "The Winter's Tale." Dec. 8-9: "Alls Well That Ends Well."

FRANCE

LYONS, Auditorium Maurice Ravel (tel. 860.37.13) — Dec. 6: Tino Rossi. Dec. 10: Lyons Orchestra, Claude Gaultier conductor. Dec. 11: Lyons Orchestra, Serge Baudo conductor.

PARIS, American Center (tel: 321.42.20) — To Dec. 18: Merce Cunningham workshop.

●Hotel Bristol, 112 rue du Fanbourg

U.S.A.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

A Renaissance of Graciousness

A luxury hotel in the great European tradition. Elegant, quiet,

THE MADISON

Washington's Correct Address

5th & M Streets, NW, Washington, D.C. 20005

Telex 64245

or see your trave) agent

Marshall B. Corne, Proprieto

Saint Honoré — Dec. 14: "Ventes des Primeurs de Bordeaux," auction of grands crus from 110 chateaus in qua-druplicate in Paris, Chamber of Com-merce in Bordeaux, Galerie Anti-harmonic Orchestra, Carl Pini conductor. Theatre — Dec. 5: Timothy Yung baritone, Eva Lue piano (Schubert). Dec. 6: Eric Landerer piano (Chaynes, Ravel, de Falla, Mussorgsky). Dec. 8: Sergin Luca violin, Anne Epperaon piano (Beethoven, Franck, Schubert, Saint-Saëns). Dec. 11-20: "Whose Life is it Anyway?" (Clark). eHong Kong Arts Centre (tel: 27.11.22). Pao Sui Loong Galleries — To Dec. 6: "Paintings by Cheng Ka Chun" and "Italian Stage Design." eQueen Elizabeth Stadium — Dec. 8: Spanish dauess and music.

sorum in Geneva and Le Cirone Restaurant in New York, linked by telephone.

Porte de Versailles — To Dec. 13:

Braderie de Paris" (tel: 297.52.10). Includes bontiques, do-it-yourself products, hi-fi and photo equipment, silverware, jewelry, objets d'art, etc.

Salle Fleyel (tel: 563.07.96) — Dec. 9, 10 and 12: Paris Orchestra, Michel Plasson conductor (Berlioz, Tchaikovsky, Prokofice).

Théâtre des Champs-Elysées — Dec. 6: Alexandre Lagoya guitar, Mariss

6: Alexandre Lagoya guitar, Mariss Borini pisno (de Falla, Rodrigo). •TMP-Châtelet (tel: 243.44.44) — To Jan. 10: "West Side Story," Jeromo Robbins choreographer.

HONG KONG

HONG KONG, City Hall, Concert Hall (tel: 26.15.84) — Dec. 7, 9, 11, 12 and 14: "La Bohème" (Procini), Ella Kiang, Rico Serbo, Hong Kong Phil-harmonic Orchestra, Carl Pini conduc-na (tel: 051/50.22.64) — To Feb.

ITALY

Teatro Comunale (tel: 23.21.78) -Dec. 9, 13, 18, 20, 27 and 29: "Aida" (Verdi).

(Verdi).

ROME, Accademia Nazionale di Santa Cecilia — Dec. 6-8: National Academy Orchestra and Chorus, Georges Prêtre conductor, Giulio Bertola choirmaster (Fauré, Debussy).

Auditorium del Foro Italico — Dec. 5: Italian Radio-Television Symphony Orchestra, Aldo Ceccato conductor (Haydn, Bruckner).

Salle d'Expositions, Piazza Navona 62.

— To Dec. 30: "Camille Bryen: 1907-1977," drawings, watercolors and paintings.

Teatro dell'Opera (tel: 46.17.55) — Dec. 6, 10 and 12 "Faust."

TRIESTE, Teatro Comunale — Dec. 5:

TRIESTE, Testro Comunale — Dec. 5:
"The Valkyrica." Dec. 6, 9 and 12: "La

VENICE, Palazzo Ducale (tel: 041/70.92.88) — To Dec. 31: "From Titian to El Greco: For the History of Mamerism in Venice (1540-1590)," ex-

JAPAN

TOKYO, Hasebe-ya Antique Shop (tel: 401,99.98) — To Dec. 6: Christmas Antiques Saie.

eNational Theatre of Japan (tel: 265.74.11) — To Dec. 25: "Sugawara Denju Tenarai Ragam" (Sugawara's secrets of calligraphy).

eNHK Hall (tel: 465.17.80) — Dec. 5: NHK Symphony Orchestra (Saint-Sains, Dvorak).

eShowa Women's University Hitomi Memorial Hall — Dec. 5: Yo-Yo Ma cello (Stravinsky, Schubert).

eToranomon Hall (tel: 403.80.11) — Dec. 7: Tokyo Brass Ensemble (Bach).

MONACO

MONTE CARLO, Centre de Congrès Auditorium — Dec. 6: Monte Carlo Philharmonic Orchestra, Armin Jordan conductor, Rudolf Buchbinder piano, Daniel Fauré clarinet (Weber; Strauss).

NETHERLANDS

AMSTERDAM, Concertgebouw (tel: 71.98.71) — Dec. 6 at 2:30 p.m.: Netherlands Chamber Orchestra, Antoni Ros Marhà conductor (Corelli, Boocherini, Vivaldi). Dec. 6 at 8:15 p.m.; Daniel Wayenberg piano (Brahms).

•Galerie Fioles, Herengracht 86 — To Dec. 19: "Andre Thijssen," exhibition Dec. 19: "Andre Thissen," exhibition of color prints.

Stadsschouwburg (tel: 23:57.54) —
Dec. 7, 16, 20 and 22: "The Masked Ball" (Verdi), Netherlands Opera. Dec. 10: Dutch National Ballet.

Stedelijk Museum, Pralus Potter streat — To Jan. 3; "Henri Cartier-Bresson," exhibition.

Rijksmuseum — To Dec. 13: "Italian Praviras from the 15th-16th Centu-

Drawings from the 15th-16th Centu-EINDHOVEN, Van Abbe Museum

To Dec. 6: "Jannis Kounellis," exhibi-tion of major new works. GRONINGEN, Groninger Museum (tel: 050/17.29,29) — To Jan. 3: "Mim-mo Paladino: Drawings (1976-1981)." THE HAGUE, Mauritshuis, Plein 29 -To Jan. 4: "Jacob van Ruisdael," exhi-

ROTTERDAM, De Doden - Dec. 9: Alexandre and Sylvain Lagoya guitar.
UTRECHT, Muzickcentrum Vredenburg — Dec. 9: Amsterdam Guisar Trio.

SCOTLAND:

EDINBURGH, Playhouse Theatre (tel: 031/557.25.90) — Scottish Opera: Dec. 9 and 11: "La Traviata." Dec. 10 and 12: "Die Flederm GLASGOW, Theatre Royal (tel: 041/331.12.34) — Sconish Ballet: Dec. 9-19: "Cinderella."

SWITZERLAND

GENEVA, Conservatoire, place Nerve—Dec. 7: Suk Quartet of Prague, E. Leichner piano (Honegers, Dvorak).

«Théâtre de Carouge — To Dec. 31:

"La Locandiera" (Goldoni).

«Victoria Hall (tel: 28.81.21) — Dec. 7: Vladimir Ashkenazy piano (Chopin Massorgsky). ZURICH, Thomas Mann Archives, Schonberggasse, 15 — To Dec. 23: "Stanley Roseman," drawings of Benja-min Britten's opera, "Death in Venice."

UNETED STATES

NEW YORK, Circle in the Square (tel: 581.07.20) — "Candida" (Shaw), Joanne Woodward.

Phoenix Theater (tel: 730.07.34) — "After the Prize" (Weldon); Veronica Castang, John Horton, David McCallum, Lois Markle. Second Stage (tel: 787.83.02) — "My Sister in the House" (Kesselman), Elizabeth McGovern.

Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum (tel: 860.13.00) — To Jan. 3: "Art of the Avant-Garde in Russia: Selections from the George Costalis Collection." To Jan. 17: "Giorgio Morandi," exhibi-

WALES

CARDIFF, To Dec. 12: Music Festival (tel: 31055). Includes: Dec. 5: Sir Clif-ford Curzon piano (Beethoven, Brahms, Liszt). Dec. 11: BBC Welsh Symphony Orchestra, Pasvo Berghind conductor, Ida Haendel violin (Brahms, Dvorak).

WEST GERMANY

BERLIN, Akademie der Künste — Dec 6: London Simfonietta (Kagel). *Deutsche Oper (tel: 341.4449) — Dec. 5: "The Magic Flote." Dec 6: "The Bartered Bride." Dec. 8: "Madam "The Bartered Bride." Dec. 8: "Madam Butterfly." Dec. 9: "Hansel and Gretel." Dec. 10: "Tosca."

"Philharmonic (tel: 26.95.51) — Dec. 5-6: Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, Herbert von Karajan conductor, Krystan Zinerman piano (Schumann, Strauss). Dec. 9: Alfred Brendel piano (Haydn, Mozart, Liszt). Dec. 11: Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, Zubin Mehta conductor (Handel's "Messials").

"Renaissance Theater (tel: 312.42.02) — "Whose Life is it Anyway?" (Clark).

Strausshihothek — Dec. 7: Kreuz, berger String Ouariet (Mozart, Berthoberger String Quartet (Mozart, Beetho-

MUNICH, Hans der Kunst - To Jan. MUNICH, Hans der Kunst — To Jan.
31: "American Painting: 1930."
STUTTGART, Württembergische
Staatstheater (tel: 0711/22.13.07).
Grossos Haus — Dec. 5-6: "Giselle" (Wright/Adam), Dec. 7: "The Tales of Hoffmann." Dec. 8: "Onegin" (Cranko/Tchaikovsky), Dec. 9: "Il Combattimento di Tancredi e Clorinda" (Monteverdi) and "Dido and Aeneas" (Purcell).

THE FRONT PAGE

U.S.$32 or equivalent in any European currency - plus postage: in Europe, please add $2.50 or equivalent for each copy; outside Europe, please add $8 or equivalent for each copy. Complete and return this coupon with your check or money order in the currency of your choice to: International Herald Tribune, Special Projects Department, 181 avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neuilly Cedex, France.

Reproductions of 129 front pages, many with Herald

Tribune exclusive articles: like the first-hand report from the sinking Titanic, the Dreyfus trial, the Venice

campanile caught in mid-collapse by a Tribune photo-

Follow coverage of the First World War by one of the few newspapers that stayed in Paris and was virtually new newspapers that surve in a measure was vincently edited at the front.

Read about people - Queen Victoria, Lindbergh, Jack

HEALTH CLINICS SWITZERLAND

VALMONT

WORLD RENOWNED MEDICAL CLINIC Glion sur Montreux, Lake Geneva, Switzerland.

Located at 2,000 feet attitude in a moderate and protected climate, the clinic has the finest accommodations available for your comfort. In a beautiful and calm setting overlooking the Lake of Geneva and the Mont-Blanc chain the CLINIC VALMONT provides complete medical check-ups, outstanding medical care as well as rest, individual diet and rejuvenation. Centers are provided for cardiology, physiotherapy, electro-hydrotherapy, electrocardiogram, X-ray and laboratory analysis.

Please ask for our brochure and prices. Write to Mr. H. Tuor - Director CLINIC VALMONT, 1823 Gilon sur Montreux, Switzerland. Telephone: 021/61 38 02 - Telex: 453 157 valust-ch

HOTELS

SWITZERLAND

ZURICH

Opposite fly-rail/main-station The screne quietness of a reson hotel in the heart of dozen-tozen HOTEL SCHWEIZERHOF

Phone 01/2118640 Telex 813 754 szhol ch PO-Box. CH-8025 Zurich

TRAVEL PORTUGA HOLIDAYS see classified

LE CÉLESTE EMPIRE 国国际 仮店 " THU Poo Sucn, son & grandson
7 Tour-Mailtener, Geneva
In the center of the city
21.33.00

RESTAURANTS SWITZERLAND

140 seets - open every day 12 (noon) to 2 p.m. - 5 p.m. to 10 p.m

Sharpe and Mass JAZZ, ROCK AND POP BERLIN Kont Khor (tid. 19.7157) — University Could Dec. 6 arts p.m. Wine de Ville — University Could Dec. 6 arts p.m. Wine de Ville — University Could Dec. 10-12 Immy Vinterrapport — ON 1804 & Salair — O Thomats. Dec. 9: The Dake Raythur, opening the Days.

FOR YO. Her Constant and the panel.

FOR YOUR PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PANEL.

FOR THE SER INTELLIFE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL.

FOR THE PANEL SER INTELLIFE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL.

FOR THE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL SERVICE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL.

FOR THE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL SERVICE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL.

FOR THE PANEL SERVICE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL.

FOR THE PANEL SERVICE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL.

FOR THE PANEL SERVICE CONSTANT AND THE PANEL SE

anductors of foull save Isin specubilities that anstand person THESE AR

Myou non In Baild Tribune

whomic sper

Buch as very the

Take advanta

South Prairie Thursday.

Christmas Shopping: Possible Gifts for Possible People

In Vienna

by Alan Levy

IENNA — The holidays mark the start of the winter ball season here: a time of Strauss waltzes and Mozart minuets beneath glittering chande-liers. But those who can't make it for Kaiser-ball or Operaball can partake of a little of their flavor by sampling a Mozart Ball (Mozankugel): a marzipan and hazelnut nougat confection encased in bittersweet chocolate. Each candy comes wrapped in its own gold-foil portrait of the white-wigged master as a

A Mozarikugel costs three-and-a-half schillings (23 cents) in the shops of Vienna, but Frau Elfi Rossberg at Johann Engel & Co., Alserstrasse 21, A-1080 Vienna (tel: 43.42.68). Asserstrasse 21. A-1000 vicinia (ici: 43.42.00), gift-wraps 18 in festive boxes and mails them for 150 schillings (barely $10) anywhere in Europe. They will be sent within 24 hours of receipt of the order and payment; add another 100 schillings for overseas airmailing

The best-known (and, to most tastes, best) brand is Mirabell from Mozart's birthplace, Salzburg — Frau Elfi will mail Mirabell if no brand is specifically mentioned. The Hofbaner version has more chocolate and less marzipan and the Schmidt version goes heavy on the nougat and marzipan.

If such a sampling of Viennese high life is not enough of a highlight, then perhaps one of Those 7-foot-high crystal chandeliers, suitable for balls and conferences, will fill the bill — which will come to 261,000 schillings (plus shipping and insurance) for a splendidly dazzling 49-lamp model 652

Hundreds of loosely hanging handout crystal pendants form a giant gem from the ancient family firm of E. Bakalowits Sons, Speigelgasse 3, A-1010 Vienna (tel: 52.63.51), which has illuminated not just the Imperial Palace (scene of the Kaiserball on New Year's Eve) and Vienna State Opera (scene of the Opernball on Feb. 18) among many local land-marks, but the Kennedy Center in Washington and royal palaces, state residences and public buildings around the world. But don't count on Christmas delivery: It will take a good six

Should low ceilings or pocketbooks, high overhead or energy considerations preclude this purchase, another masterwork of modern Austrian design costs considerably less on every count: a silver stand holding four or five silver napkin rings, each ring decorated with semiprecious stone buttons that can be varied in color to signify different members of a family. They come from the one-man hand workshop of the silversmith Prof. Sepp Schmölzer, who also teaches goldsmithery at the late Oskar Kokoschka's International Summer School of Visual Arts in Salzburg.

The stand costs 200 schillings, but its ornate napkin rings go for 1,800 schillings apiece. Add 500 schillings for shipping costs in Europe and specify choice of colors (brown, red, violet, blue, green, mixed) to Schmölzer at Blumengasse 53, A-9020 Klagenfurt (tel: (04222) 84858). He promises February delivery.

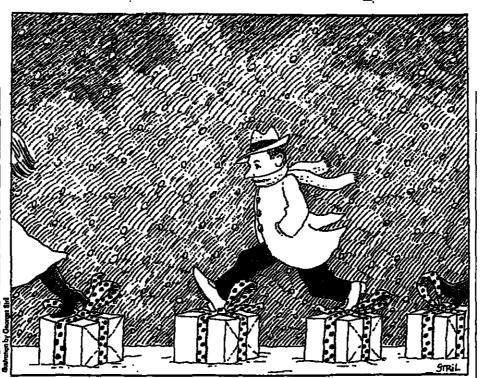

For those whose taste revolves neither around napkin rings nor beneath crystal chandeliers, Lisa at Kärntnerstrasse 35, A-1015 Vi-enna (tel: 52.44.36), has a simpler idea.

老龙科

Every autumn, she prowls the Vienna Woods to bring back fallen leaves from that enchanted forest. Then she embains them with 24-karat gold-plate and sells them as pins. Prices range from 75 to 118 schillings, with an average in the 88-to-95-schilling bracket, and another 20 schillings to cover handling charges. If a sketch of a leaf shape is included, Lisa will look for a leaf like it within the chosen price range.

For those who belong to the moral minority that considers Christmas charitable as well as commercial, here are a couple of Austrian causes that would welcome contributions: The Karl Schubert School for severely mentally re-tarded children at Endresstrasse 99, A-1238 Vienna, also gives brilliant Russian émigré musicians a start in the West by showcasing them in benefit performances at the Wiener Konzerthaus. And if you'd rather try to catch a Nazi for Christmas, send your check to Simon Wiesenthal at the Jewish Documentation Center, Salztorgasse 6, A-1010 Vienna.

In Bangkok

by Debra Weiner

ANGKOK — Gift-giving festivals are numerous in Thailand, but the offerings are prescribed by custom: A bridegroom, for instance, traditionally gives a silver bowl of betel nut chew to his in-laws. Christmas holidaymakers need more im-

Yan lipao, purse and basket weaving with fern-vine, is one of the native folk arts recently revitalized by the queen of Thailand to help poor farmers in southern Thailand supplement their income. The villagers are supplied with the equipment to learn the time-consuming skills; a single purse may take as long as two months to weave.

The small, straw-colored handbags with elegant, lozenge-patterned designs cost from 2,000 to 5,000 baht ($100 to $250), depending on size and amount of silverwork in the fasteners and clasps. Oval and rectangular, the yan lipao purses are available at the Chitralada stores in the Oriental Plaza near the Oriental Hotel and at the Grand Palace (tel: 234.13.20;

Thai silk is another ancient craft that was revived after World War II thanks to an Amerrevived after World War II thanks to an American, Jim Thompson, who disappeared in the Malaysian jungles in 1967. The Thai silk industry has become a great business success story and the colorful silks have become popular all over the world. In Bangkok, where it is woven and dyed, the silk can be bought reasonably at the Thompson Thai Silk Co., 9 Surawong Road (tel: 234.49.00).
Subtly patterned, pastel silk neckties cost about 200 babt. Long scarges range between about 200 baht. Long scarves range between 100 and 180 baht. An unusual gift is silk cushion covers. Pillow cases range between 160 and 420 baht; large floor cushion covers cost between 600 and 740 baht. All sizes offer a choice of plain, pictorial or quilted designs.

For those who prefer cotton, the modest, nonprofit store Patches at 57/4 Wireless Road (tel: 252.63.69) sells original patchwork quilts. Made by women from Bangkok's sprawling Klong Toey shim, the bedspreads, with bold geometrical and floral designs, take about six weeks to produce. Prices range from 1,300 to

The hill tribes of northern Thailand also produce woven handicrafts with their own eth-nic designs. The Yao tribe excels in embroidery, the Meo favor batik and appliqué and the Karen and Lahn weave a canvas-like material. All use vegetable dyes and fashion their fabrics into wallets, coin purses, shoulder bags, keycases, spectacle cases and even picture frames. These and other hill-tribe crafts, ranging in price from 80 to 300 baht, can be purchased at the Thai Hill Crafts Foundation at Srapatum Palace, 195 Ophyathai Road, behind the Siam Centre (tel: 251.98.16).

Thailand, which is rich in tin, has always tempered fine bronzeware, and bronze cutler makes a weighty but practical gift. Although i is found in many tourist shops, Narayana Phand, the government-owned shop at 275/2 Larn Luang Road (tel: 281.31.80), offers reasonable prices and the widest selection of bronze in Bangkok. A six-piece coffee-spoon set costs about 70 baht; a dining set for 12, containing 144 pieces, sells for 3,000 baht, with a wide range of choice in between.

Some people, of course, prefer to give their money to charities. The Pearl S. Buck Foundation assists about half of the 4,000 Thai Amerasians who were abandoned by their U.S. servicemen fathers. Many of these children, ranging in age from 3 to 18, live in poverty and are socially ostracized. Donations can be mailed c/o Earl James Steele, Pearl S. Buck Foundation, GPO Box 2034, Bangkok.

A former policeman, Abbot Phra Cham-roon, runs a drug rehabilitation center at a Buddhist monastery north of Bangkok. During the last 22 years, about 80,000 heroin addicts, including many foreigners, have undergone the free 10-day course of herbal treatment combined with spiritual healing here — and nearly 70 percent of the patients are reported to have been cured. Contributions can be sent to Phra Chamroon Parnchan, Wat Thamkrabok, Saraburi Province, Thailand.

In Amsterdam

by Gila Walker

MSTERDAM — In the Netherlands, Dec. 5, the eve of St. Nicholas Day, is the time for exchanging gifts, while Christmas is more likely to be celebrated with a quiet family dinner. So if you're doing your Christmas shopping in Amsterdam. the coming days will find stores still filled with merchandise and not as crowded as they were

Start at Fa. Stins and Zn. (tel: 25.72.22), the first stall as you enter the flower market from the Muntplein. The owner, whose grandfather started the business in the 1930s, says he has the largest dried-flower collection in the world. There are about 60 varieties in almost as many colors. You can put together a beautiful arrangement for 20 to 40 guilders ($8 to $16) or you can choose the flowers and Stins will make the arrangement free of charge. There are also a wide variety of bulbs: a box of 100 tulip bulbs, for example, costs 10 guilders.

Amsterdam's oldest and largest flea market. at Waterlooplein, has stalls where you can find and waterioopietic, has stalls where you can find old prints, woodcuts, chromolithographs and magazine illustrations. Prices range from 1 guilder for old postcards to 450 guilders for a 1740 hand-colored map of the Netherlands. They also have a large collection of magazine illustrations from the turn-of-the-century. Illustrations from Jugend, Le Rire, Le Sourire, Gil Blas or Simplicissimus cost 25 guilders. Copper engravings from the 18th century go for about 100 guilders.

On the tiny streets between the canals you can find a number of small toy shops. It's Raining Cats and Dogs, Reestraat 24 (tel: 23.80.18) has cat curiosities, cat posters, cat books and cat postcards. If you want some-thing for a dog lover, go to the back of the store, where a few dog items are tucked away

A fascinating toy store is Teken aan de Wand, Huidenstraat 6 (tel: 25.02.41), which has gifts for children, grandmothers and anybody in between. The prices range from 5 guilders to 2,500 (for a hand-cut and painted electric metal carousel). The store carries many one-of-a-kind handmade kites (from 8 to 175 guilders.) puppets (from 195 to 395 guilders) and music boxes (5 to 135 guilders.) It also has an extensive collection of paper construction kits: hand-colored kits from the turn of the century (for 20 guilders) as well as reprints of old kits. Children will find the mobiles (2 to 25 guilders) easy enough to construct. Adults might prefer a detailed model of the Mississippi Showboat or a model of an old brothel (both 20 guilders). When the brothel is finished, a handle will move six men in black suits and top hats up the staircase past the naked women on the second floor where they disappear, only to reappear on the staircase

If there is a special woman in your life with a penchant for avant-garde clothing, Amster-dam has a growing number of designers with their own boutiques. These are usually one-person operations with small, carefully de-signed and tailored selections. At Liesbeth Royaards, Prinsensurat 6 (tel: 26.50.26) the design is classic with a touch of punk. The col-ors are striking and her clothes are made to last. Dresses go for 550 guilders, silk pantsuits cost about 800 guilders.

At No. 406 on the Singel canal, Peter Rozemeyer (tel: 26.02.78) has a collection of unique winter coats in styles that are simple and stunning. He designs his coats in patches, stripes and curves of four to eight colors, with combinations ranging from bright vellows, oranges, greens and reds to more subdued blues, greens, rust and black. The coats cost between 600 and 1,250 guilders.

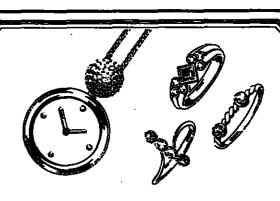

While it is not traditional in the Netherlands to have special Christmas fund-raising drives. the Werelddiakonnaat, a branch of the organization of Reform churches that organizes development and educational projects in the Third World, would be happy to supply infor-mation concerning their activities in more than 30 countries. Write to G.D.R., Werelddiakonnaat, Maliesingel 26, Utrecht. You can also give to many of the local churches that are sending food to Poland.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

DEN-FREY

One of the most interesting fashion stores in Europe and world famous for loden and traditional Bavarian costumes.

CHOOSE BEAUTIFULLY

MELLERIO

9, RUE DE LA PAIX . PARIS . 261-57-53

American Gift Store

Open 10:30 a.m. - 7 p.m. Mon.-Sat.

and on Sunday 13th and 20th December.

BLARRITZ MADRID

54

F.F. 528, S.Fr. 242, D.M. 264

If you now buy the International Herald Tribune at the newsstand every day, you're spending almost twice as much as you need to.

Take advantage of our special introductory offer for new subscribers. You'll save 25% off the regular subscription price, or 42% off the newsstand price in most countries!

330.00 230.00 330.00 230.00

230.00 330.00

230.00 230.00 990.00 248.00 330.00

310:00

720.00 360.00

..Sch. 2,700.00 ..B.Pr. 5,400.00

165.00 115.00

165.00 115.00

1,350.00 2,700.00

115.00 165.00

115.00 115.00 495.00

165.00

On a 12-month subscription, that represents a saving of FF 528 if you live in France, SFr. 242 in Switzerland, Fl.296 in the Netherlands, and similar savings in other countries.

Start getting more world news for less immediately. Complete the coupon below and return it to us with your check or money order today.

IMPORTANT: Payment must be enclosed with order to: IHT, 181 avenue Charles-de-Gaulle, 92521 Neurlly Cedex, France.

The C@shmere House

the foremost specialist in 100 % pure cashmere

the greatest choice, the better price 30 shades - 5 sizes cashmeres by Alexandre Savin

Credit cards accepted - Free taxes - Export discount 2, rue d'Aguesseau (comer to 60 Fg St-Honoré) Paris 8º Open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

A vast store for easy shopping "definitely a must!" Santa C.

50 Rue de Passy, 75016 Paris. Tel.: 525.64.17

A MUST FOR THE SMART BUSINESSMAN

92.00 63.00 69.00 1,980.00 63.00 69.00 92.00

92.00 3,520.00 225.00 90.00 63.00 92.00 63.00 92.00

5-12-81

115.00 124.00

115.00

165,00

165.00 405.00 160.00 115.00 115.00 115.00

115.00

7,200.00 230.00 248.00 330.00

330.00 12,600.00 810.00 320.00 230.00 230.00 230.00

230.00 230.00 330.00

37, Ave. de l'Opéra, Paris. Tel.: 261 52 50.

The Art of Maurice Sendal

GENUINE HANDICRAFT FOR CHRISTMAS

The Permanent Assembly of Craftsmen Guilds

offer a wide choice of products by skilled craftsmen: Ceramics, jewelry,

Only for 15 days: from December 4 to 19, except Sunday, from 12 to 7 p.m. A.P.C.M. - 12 Avenue Morce Paris-8" - Metro Alma-M in GENEVA'

S.RUE VERSONNEX - 1207 GENEVA TEL 022) 3508 17 GIFT CERTIFICATE

ENCOUNTER BOOKSHOP

1207 Geneva Tel.: (022) 36.08,17 All current American and British titles

The CHRISTMAS GIFTS advertising feature

December 12 and December 19. For information call Cathy Stubley in Paris on 747.12.65, or your local IHT representative.

with note pad, pen and electro eather: F. 210 (or $36)

F. 290 (or $50).

MARPOSTE, 7 rue des Acaclas, 75017 Paris, France. Tel.: 763.87.23.

tedd et rosy

Children's shoes of outstanding quality

5. rue Sedillot, Paris 7th Tel.: 556 1438

This year offer tickets for demonstration classes COOKING SCHOOL

24. rue du Champ-de-Mar-75007 Paris - Tel.: 555-02-77.

Please sent me details of introductory half price offer

Æ	-			•	•	•		•	-
RI	1	ľ	¢								•

To: LONDON SCRIPOPHILY CENTRE 5 Albertrarie Street, London W1, England, Tel.: 01-4934292

Ada: (Mr) Alrica, ca-Fr. comps. (six) ... 5

□ 12 months

☐ Mr ☐ Ms

I want to receive the IHT at my address below for.

☐ 6 months

🗆 office

Iscael (air).

69.00 Malegery (air 92.00 Males (air) ...

13 months

Country

THIS OFFER VALID FOR FIRST-TIME SUBSCRIBERS ONLY.

Herald Tribune Incisive. In depth. International.

THESE ARE THE SPECIAL RATES AFTER DEDUCTION OF THE INTRODUCTORY DISCOUNT

7,200.00 230.00 248.00

330.00 248.00 248.00

330.00

230.00 406.00

124.00

Job title/profession

Company activity

3,600.00 1,980.00 Pakistan (air) 115.00 63.00 Polend (sir).

19.80 Sandi Azəbia (air)

92.00 UAE (min) 63.00 USSR (au)

Pro-forma invoices are available on request.

Rates valid through December 31, 1981.

by Elaine Davenport

ONDON - That arch-villain Darth Vader has undergone quite a transformation, discarding his forbidding black mask and cape and becoming a good guy, called the Green Cross Code Man, who saves lives instead of taking them.

Just a publicity stunt? Yes, but for a good cause. The British government's Green Cross Code — which gives six "stop, look and listen" rules about crossing streets safely — aims to decrease the number of children, 4 to 11 year olds, who are injured or killed as pedestrians in road accidents each year. And, since 1976, the movies' Darth Vader, now cast as the Green Cross Code Man, has been its figure-

That, at least, is how the kids see it. "When I visit the schools, the excitement is over the fact that Darth Vader in the guise of the Green Cross Code Man is coming to talk about road safety," says Dave Prowse, who plays both fantasy characters.

Together, the images are given a large share of the credit for improving safety statistics. The number of children injured in road accidents has dropped in Britain from more than 40,000 in 1971, when the campaign started, to 25,000 in 1980. "Long may it last," says Prowse, a 6 foot 6 inch, gentle Englishman.

He was a part-time actor — mostly in horror films — until he was cast as Darth Vader in "Star Wars" and became a celebrity. Early next year filming will begin on the third in the "Star Wars" series, "The Revenge of the Jedi," and the black mask and cape will come back out of the wardrobe rooms. Until then, Prowse loves playing the good guy.

"I get fantastic acclaim from the kids when I give my talks," says Prowse, who not only appears in television commercials but also tours schools explaining how to cross the street safely and why not to dart into the street from Prowse is not certain why a character like Darth Vader should affect the road safety campaign. "But I think the kids were ripe for these mythical characters." he says, "The badguy image of Darth Vader is really just a fantasy form of violence. If he points a finger at you, for instance, you'll choke to death. The kids accept this is simply fantasy and it has made me a much more popular character because it isn't threatening.

He is, however, careful about not mixing the images. He talks on road safety for about 45 minutes and then asks if anybody has seen "Star Wars" or its first successor, "The Empire

"Every hand in the school goes up," Prowse says. "Then I ask if they know that I was in it, and they always shout back, 'You were Darth Vader.'

A book and a record about the Green Cross Code and road safety, featuring Prowse, were released last month. He also - "now that I'm not desperate for cash" — is spending increasing time on charities for deaf and disabled children. And the U.S. Department of Transportation has been so impressed with the Brit-ish safety statistics that it is considering Prowse for a similar campaign in the United States.

But, even if the "star" side of his career has "all blossomed out," as he puts it in his broad West Country accent (because of this, his voice is not used for Darth Vader), he still believes in clinging to his strong suit: "My body has brought me success and I plan to keep up that side of my life." He was British heavyweight weightlifting champion from 1962 to 1964 and has been a fitness and training expert ever since. When he is just plain Dave Prowse he can be found most days in his gymnasium in southeast London, answering phones and taking care of customers.

He worries that all his commitments leave

ARIS - The wheel of time suddenly seemed to have been reversed at Drouot this week, throwing one's mind back to the golden era of the 1950s superb objects turned up almost every day on the auction market. In those days this often made the typical Drouot-style mixed anction a brilliant show, full of the surprises created by rare, exciting pieces from every cul-ture and every period of history — in contrast to the meaningless conglomerations that make it so hopelessly drab nowadays.

The reason for the unexpected revival, as Eric Buffetand conducted the most fascinating sale of the year in Paris, was partly because a fair number of the items offered came from the collection of Anatole France, surprisingly re-vealing the French writer of the late 19th century to have been a brilliant connoisseur.

While the selection included in the sale was clearly a small part of what he once owned now sold by a descendant, three generations later — it included some extraordinary pieces. Ironically, the rabidly anti-clerical polemicist had a strong feel for religious sculpture of the late Middle Ages.

The finest object by far was a carved alabaster panel in high relief that once formed part of a retable. The expert, Jean Roudillon, described it as English work of the Nottingham school executed in the late 14th or early 15th century. So masterly was the composition of the scene showing one of the 12 Apostles washing Jesus' feet and so striking the postures and individual portrayals of each character that several collectors thought it was perhaps a bit too fine to be classified among the softish, scapy-looking productions of Nottingham.

Northern France or Flanders seemed more

Whatever the case, there have been few such pieces for sale in years. The small vertical panel, 51 by 30 centimeters, went up to 165,570 in Port Lligat. As he tells it, first Gala and later Dali himself confessed bitterly that Sabater had plunged the painter into depression and financial distress. Dubarry had the obviand Renaissance section could be said to be of this caliber, many had that extra quality in their own way that characterizes a great connoisseur's choice.

There was for example a small wooden group of the Resurrection, 42 centimeters long, from 15th-century France. Jesus is seen emerging from the tomb, one leg over the brink, be-tween two soldiers in 15th-century armor. One is still asleep with a dropping head, while the other, only just awoken, shelters his blinking eyes from the dazzling stupendous sight. The face of Jesus has a kind of stiff tragic gravity. A touch of rustic clumsiness is underliable but the feeling conveyed is striking. With one corner badly worm-eaten, the Resurrection group was nevertheless sold for 26,970 francs.

Anatole France's eye appears to have been as discerning when he went further back in time. He was the kind of man who would lay hands on fragments of Pompeii murals.

One, representing a theatrical mask laid on some ledger or windowsill, has a blend of strrealism and expressionism to it. With its mouth wide open, as if in shrill anguish, and an elaborate, bizarre headdress it is weird and gripping. Breaks in the stucco ground kept the price down to a very moderate 9,750 francs; tearing off or simply picking up such frag-ments, which few would have taken exception to in the 19th century, is no longer allowed and the chances of acquiring any such piece are Another Roman theatrical mask, this time out of carved marble, again of supreme quali-ty, went up to 39,070 francs. Around the core formed by the French writer's objects, Buffetand had built up his sale by bringing in some more extraordinary works. The forepart of a bronze horse - described as the extremity of a bed from the Hellenistic world, probably of the second century B.C. —

Dali, the Neo-Realist Continued from page 7W

zoomed to 105,070 francs. Its legs are broken off above the knees and the bronze is severely cocroded, which makes the price seem huge. But it is not; the piece compares with the finest of animal carving from the ancient world. It is, moreover, an absolute rarity, Rather than a Greek piece, the bronze horse has every appearance of being an Eastern Ira-nian artifact closely related to the fieds made at Khalchayan in present-day Uzbekistan in the Soviet Union. Wisely, the auctioneer had also seen to it that there was a sprinkling of rarities in a lower price bracket. A 6th-century bird-shaped fibula from a Merovingian tomb at Rougnac, southern France, made of high-tin bronze and retaining its red-glass eye, sold for 10,305 francs. Rarer still, a Carolingian gilt-bronzed fibula of the 7th century was knocked down at 2000 france.

2,900 francs; in 25 years, I have not seen another one at auction. Add to that two extremely good African pieces and that resulted in an One jarning note, however, could have badly hurt the sale. A silver rhyton, or drinking ves-sel, terminated with the forepart of a rain, was described as an Achemenid piece from Iran of the 6th or 5th century B.C. To me, it looked like one more of those gold and silver fakes that have been circulating on the market since that have been circulating on the market since the mid-1950s, spilling over into the 1961 Ira-nian Exhibition in Paris — some as museum acquisitions, sanctified by scholarly publica-tions — and destroying both the market and, more regrettably, the image of one of the greatest arts in the world. My conviction may well have been shared by others, for the piece was sold for 176,570 francs — absurdly little for such a piece, if genuine. Mercifully, little attention was paid to the rhyton, although it should have had the great museums in the world racing for it — if it had fit its description. Polite silence shrouded the object, the sale just went on, and rose to a net total of 45 million francs.

Majorca Snubs a Native Son

by Anne Sinclair Mehdevi

ANTA PONSA, Majorca — Majorcans made affluent by tourism have become competitive about status symbols: There are the seaside apartments, the yearly trips to the Seychelles or Mexico, the launch and, suddenly, a thoroughbred

For the first time in memory, beagles, chows, miniature poodles and Alsatians, to name a few dot nearly every neighborhood. All these foreign-bred dogs possess registered pedigrees; what Majorcans seem to have over-looked is that their own island group, the Balearics, can boast one of the oldest "pedigreed" dogs on earth — the podenco ibizenco or Ibizan hound, called the podenco

Since dog pedigrees were not registered in Europe or the United States until the 19th century, the parent stock of the podenco is impossible to trace. Yet the tombs at Beni-Hassan in Egypt bear reliefs of this breed carved about 4,000 years ago.

There are two theories about how the podence came to the Balearies. One is that the Carthaginians, having acquired the dog from their neighboring Egyptians, brought it to Ibi-za, which they took about 500 B.C. When the Carthaginians were ousted by Rome, according to this theory, they left the podencos behind along with such other mementos of their occupancy as bowls made of ostrich eggshells.

The other theory is that the Roman general Caecilius Metullus, trying in 200 B.C. to establish an agricultural economy in Majorca for retired legionnaires, was foiled because hordes of rabbits are up the young plants. He then imported the podenco, a rabbit hunter.

The podenco resembles a greyhound -slender, big-ribbed and with a pointed nose. But the true podenco has only two colors, white and white spotted with orange. The podenco is sturdier than a greyhound, a good-sized male measuring 32 inches from foot to shoulder, and, unlike the greyhound, it has a sense of smell and can jump very high.

Part of the attraction of these dogs is their grace and elegance, their way of looking through amber-colored eyes slanting upward. They are equally known for their intelligence and amiability; they rarely bark.

A podenco and its master on Majorca.

Twenty years ago podencos were a common sight in Majorca but now they are a rarity. The reason is that there are few hunting preserves eft and even fewer rabbits. Also, since the dog s indigenous it doesn't count as a status symbol. This has not always been so. More than 100 years ago these dogs were held in such high esteem that the Spanish ambassador to the court of Napoleon III was proud to exhibit a group of podencos in the gardens of Ver-sailles.

Interest is still high outside Spain: One center for the breeding of podencos is, of all places, in Washington, D.C. A pair was taken to the United States some years ago and a kennel club was founded. The dogs are also bred in West Germany, France and England.

Today there is no officially recognized podenco club on the Balearies, but the dog is not altogether ignored. A young Spaniard from Madrid, Francisco Ruiz, began breeding the dogs outside Santa Ponsa two years ago and has rounded up some 75 prospective members for a "Club Espanol del Podenco Ibizenco." In the last two years, Ruiz — who is jokingly known here as Paco Podenco - has won almost 100 cups in dog shows throughout Spain. His goal, he says, is to purify the breed and to sell thoroughbred pups for use as show dogs. A month-old dog costs between $160 and $400. depending on how many generations of his forebears are known.

Dave Prowse as a force for good.

Darth Vader as Mr. Universe?

little time for keeping his 260 pounds in shape

But he has an ambition that could spur him on: to enter the 1982 Mr. Universe contest.

"Oh, I wouldn't win," says Prowse, who also entered unsuccessfully in 1960. "But I'll be 47

next year and I could be a great ad for training and exercise." May the force be with him.

Ruiz is strict about podenco imperfections, which are due to haphazard crossbreeding black spots, dark eyes, butterfly noses. All these must be bred out, he feels. Asked about the podencos carved on the walls of Egyptian tombs he says, "Not purebred. They have curly tails.

Podenco enthusiasts can write to Francisco Ruiz Rodriguez at Calle Perez Caldos 9, Palma de Mallorca: tel: 46.24.04.

ous remedy to this situation: a few business deals to pick up the Dalis' flagging spirits and prove to them that the all-powerful Sabater was dispensable. "I started to call Dali's old clients, people Sabater had completely cut off, and told them, If you want to do business with Dali, call completely illegitimate.

Dubarry related. He arranged a quick $1.3 million in contracts, gaining nice commissions for himself. Sabater was furious when he discovered that the Dalis were dealing behind his back, but he could do little to stop them. Sabater began to tell journalists that he was thinking of "retiring" as Dali's private secretary.

It is an open question whether the Dubarry contracts, which proliferated after the Dalis moved to the Hotel Meurice, represent much of an improvement over Sabater's style of business. Eleven of them were drawn up on single pieces of paper with Gilbert Hamon, a Paris graphics dealer. Hamon was given worldwide rights to turn out "lithographs or engravings" — really reproductions from color slides that have little to do with true lithographs which in some instances Dali would certify with a special stamp bearing his thumbprint. One contract, worth $50,000 to Dali for socalled "lithographs" of his painting "The Great Masturbator," states that the unorthodox thumb stamp, "which will be the equivaerty of Monsieur Gilbert Hamon, and in no case can be used for anyone else." Handwritten into this document is: "The stamp will be the property of Salvador Dali." A thumbprint seals the seemingly contradictory deal.

The existence of large stocks of blank white pieces of paper once signed by Dali has kept this so-called "lithograph" market moving along briskly. A few years ago, when his hand was steadier. Dali regularly signed blank pieces of paper and, according to a former associate, could whip off as many as 1,800 sheets in an hour. "There were three of us to hold and move the papers." said this informant. "And while Dali was merrily signing he dictated ideas for a book into a tape recorder." Some of these sheets were intended for specific graphics contracts that had already been negotiated, but stocks of others accumulated.

In 1974, French customs halted a truck on its way into Andorra loaded with 40,000 blanks signed by Dali. Controls of stocks like this — a big one is said to be in a Geneva warehouse — has permitted the proliferation of lithograph series on the blank sheets. These works were initially intended to be limited in

Some of the Hamon contracts soon led to the appearance in Paris of color photographs sprinkled with gold flake, with a signature by Dali. Asking price: $150. The implications of this "lithograph" industry for the market value of authentic Dali prints is fairly devastating. At Port Lligat, the maestro himself acknowledges that things have gotten out of hand: "There are many things going around that are

To put some order into Dali's increasingly chaotic affairs, Robert Descharues, the courtly French editor and photographer, persuaded the maestro that he should entrust the defense of his tangled worldwide copyright situation to the Société de la Propriété Artistique et des Dessins et Modèles — or Spadem, a Paris-based enterprise that watched over Picasso's estate. The recommendation carried weight. Sabater went along with this move, though Spadem lawyers soon began asking to see the contracts he had made with Dali. With Sabater clearly losing ground to Dubarry and Descharnes, the scenes at the Meu-rice turned positively manic. Dubarry nearly got into a listlight in the hotel's lobby with Isidor Clot Fuentes, a Sabater protégé from Madrid who holds a contract for the rights to turn out Dali jewelry and statuary. This contract conflicts with several others — one held by a Paris agent, Mafalda Davis, and another by a West German firm, Verlagsgesellschaft. Mbh.

The crisis in the Dali court came to a head on March 18, when the news agency Agence Dali announced: "I declare that for several years, and above all since my sickness, my confidence has been abused in many ways, my will was not respected. That is why I am doing everything to clarify this situation, and Gala and I are once again resuming our freedom." With-out naming Sabater, Dali had disowned him. Enraged, the private secretary demanded that Dali issue another statement to Agence France-Presse saying that he was not the target of this blanket accusation. Dali wavered but stood firm, and two days later Sabater depart-

Things began to look up for the ailing Dali. His Madrid lawyer, a brother-in-law of Prime Minister Leopoldo Calvo Sotelo, reported that the artist's irregular tax situation permitted him to return to Spain, and Salvador and Gala made their secret homecoming, slipping across the frontier from Perpignan to Port Lligat. Treatment for his Parkinson's disease began to steady the nerves, and the old Surrealist master began to draw and paint again.

The soothing presence of Descharnes, who shuttled between Paris and Port Lligat, added a new element of tranquility to the Dali mansion. The Generalitat, the home-rule body of Dali's native Catalonia, assisted the Teatro Museo Dali in Figueras in the purchase of an adjoining building to permit the expansion of the second-most-visited museum in Spain after the Prado. This month the Generalitat awarded Dali its highest honor, the Medal of Gold. In Madrid, the Culture Ministry expressed an interest in staging a major retrospective Dali

As a sometimes praise-singer of the late Francisco Franco, Dali is, politically, controversial in democratic Spain. ("Our invincible Caudillo. Generalisimo Francisco Franco is the genius of our people, without doubt. Bueno, there are two: Velazquez and the Gen-eralisimo.") But in Angust, King Juan Carlos and Queen Sofia, the living symbols of the new democratic order, dropped in to see the frail artist and his wife in Port Lligat. In the same month, a prestigious group of Spanish intellectuals signed a manifesto that declared Dali a figure above politics and praised "the excep-tional value of his work, the coherence of his life and actions and, in general, all that he has

The mood at the Dali house is mellow. A conversation with the Surrealist suggests that, infirm though he may be in body, his mind is still very much intact. Dali is clearly wary of the sudden blandishments from Madrid and Barcelona, the multiplying offers for Dali exhibitions, which he seems to sense are stratagems to get a handle on his own dispersed collection. (Spanish law gives the state great powers over an artist's work once he dies.) "This exhipective, "will be done, but not right away. It will happen in the moment that I wish it, but not before. Previous exhibits had a certain air

a languar fin

Mit gutretter be

200 A 1

same in the

Aztrakow digitali in di

Stage State Cat.

afouls tinene in

at other at the second

Statement Const. Starter Care that the right of a

Mark Section 1

And the state of t

term of the

 $v_{i,j_2,\ldots,j_{m-1},\ldots,j_{m-1}}$

un e

Alumnia Pars

PEOPLE

BUSINES

Established Comments

But recent big exhibits at the Centre Pompidon in Paris and the Tate Gallery in London were tremendous successes. A visitor suggests "that was inevitable, since Dali was in them." Protocol at the Dalis' rules out mentioning the name of Sabater, but, speaking of those who "abused" his confidence, Dali says simply: "That was one of the reasons for my depression." Spadem, he says, is "starting to put a little order" into his affairs.

Dali's thoughts run constantly to the museum in Figueras. He says he plans to donate a number of paintings to the expanded museum, and to ask Juan Carlos to be the honorary president of a new board of directors. The Figueras museum is finally getting a catalog, which, says Dali solemnly, must be "hypocriti-cal." "It is a manner to trouble people's spir-its," he continues, straight-faced. "It is neces-sary that all of the people who come out of the museum have false information." Back in his best irreverent form, the old joker lives on. ©1981 The New York Times

INTERNATIONAL ART EXHIBITIONS

FÉLIX VERCEL MICHEL

water-colours december 2-31

9, AVENUE MATIGNON PARIS 8° 256.25.19

WALLY FINDLAY

Galleries International EXHIBITION

œuvres récentes

2. avenue matignon Tel. 225,70,74

Wally Findlay George V Hôtel George V - 723.54.00 DOUTRELEAU. SIMBARI MICHEL-HENRY, SEBIRE 31, av. George V - Paris 8" delly - 10 a.m. - 9 p.m. sunday - 7 p.m. - 9 p.m.

ESKENAZI

Oriental Art Ancient Chinese sculpture

Exhibition 11 – 24 December 1981

Fully illustrated catalogue available Foxglove House 166 Piccadilly London W1V 9DE lopposite Old Bond Street) Telephone: 91-493 5464/5

GALERIE CLAUDE BERNARD≔ 9, Rue des Beaux-Arts, 75006 - 326.97.07

Charcoal Drawings 1978-1979

≕UNTIL JANUARY 16, 1982≕

HOMMAGE A LEON SPILLIAERT

16 octobre - 19 décembre

CHRISTIAN EAYT ART GALLERY 79 rue du faubourg St. Honoré Paris. Tél.: 266.69.18 - 266.67.94

Belgique: Kustlaan 94-96, 3300 KNOKKE-HEIST, Tél. (050) 60.25,10 - 60.14.89

PARIS GALERIE GUILLET ... 8 Av. Trudaine, 9th - 878.98.25

D'ANTY Paintings, Govaches

LONDON LEFEVRE GALLERY 30 Bruton Street W1 - 01-493 1572/3 AN EXHIBITION

OF 19th & 20th CENTURY PAINTINGS iday Friday 10-5, Saturdays 10-1

ALWIN GALLERY 9-10 Grafton Street, Bond Street, W.1. 01-499 0314. London's Leading Sculpture Gallery

WILDENSTEIN HENRY MOORE

Recent Drawings Until 31 December 147 New Bond Street, W1.

"ART EXHIBITIONS" Appears every Saturday

ه کامن راحل

Around Galleries in London

by Max Wykes-Joyce

ONDON -- The little-known L 19th-century painter William Havell was born in Reading. Berkshire, whose City Museum and Gallery has arranged a bicen-tennial exhibition of his work, running at Spink, 5, 6 & 7 King Street, St. James, S.W.1 to Dec. 18. From his childhood days determined to be an artist, he was by his early 20s established as a fine landscape painter, spending a year in the Lake District, where some of his best early work was done. In 1816 he was selected as official artist to Lord Amherst's embassy to Peking, but when this at-tempt at diplomacy failed, he returned only as far as India with the ambassadorial party, and settled there for nine years. On his return to Europe he worked in Italy, where he shared with a fellow painter a house on the lower slopes of Mount Vesuvius. Work from all

AUCTION SALES

=AUCTION SALE IN PARIS - NEW DROUOT=

TUESDAY, the 15th and WEDNESDAY, the 16th of DECEMBER at 9 p.m. - ROOM 10

Mr. X's COLLECTION ORIENTAL ART Luristan bronzes, Amlash terracotta

Public viewing: Tuesday, December 15 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Expert: Mme. Kevorkin Maitres BOISGIRARD - de HEECKEREN

Associated Auctioneer 2 Rue de Provence, 75009 PARIS. Tel.: 770.81.36

-AUCTION SALE IN PARIS - NEW DROUOT-

FRIDAY, December 18, 1981 - Room 6 BEAUTIFUL OLD MASTER PAINTINGS

Italian and Dutch schools XVIIIth cent. FURNITURE and OBJETS D'ART Mª DELORME, Auctionee

3 Rue de Penthièvre, PARIS. Tel.: 265.57.63

these places and periods is in this 120-item tribute to a hitherto neglected artist laborations between patron and artist was that between the affluent and eccentric architect-designer William Burges (1827-81) and the unbelievably rich Third Marguess of Bute. Lord Bute, who owned Cardiff.

One of the most memorable col-

Castle, appointed Burges artist in residence, and he then spent 16 years in reconstructing the interior in accordance with his ideal, a fanastic mixture of classical and High Gothic. Stained-glass windows, cutlery, murals, furniture, ceramic tiles, carvings for the pan-eling and ceilings, all came under Burges' eye and hand.

His extraordinary talents are celebrated in two London shows. At the Geffrye Museum, Kingsland Road, E.2 to Dec. 20 are his Designs for Cardiff Castle." In Room 48E of the Victoria and Albert Museum to Jan. 17 is an anthology of architectural drawings. photographs, metalwork, stained-glass and furniture, and a collection made by Burges of medieval objects.

Recent watercolor landscapes of Cornwall, the Thames and Venice by John Miller are at the Brotherton Gallery, 77 Walton Street, S.W.3 to Dec. 19. For some time renowned for his atmospheric large oils of the mysterious Corn-ish landscape, Miller here shows himself equally adept at small watercolors that, for all their sense of mystery, are meticulously de-with portraying the plush interiors and the gilded exteriors of Victori-an and Edwardian theaters. Miller, with his rich eye and opulent manner of painting marvelously evokes the grandeur of pre-1910 theater.

Another "aimospheric" painter is Peter Miller, whose new show "A Golden Age" at the Alwin Gallery, 9/10 Grafton Street, W.1 to Dec. 30. concerns itself entirely States by storm.

Theater - but this time the decor and costumes - features also in a Christmas compilation organized by the Charles Spencer Theater Gallery at Wylma Wayne Fine Art, 17 Old Bond Street, W.1 from Tuesday to Dec. 23. Drawings and prints cover pantomime, the ballet, music hall, the Folies-Bergères, French fashion, film and opera.

Two other Christmas theme shows of great joy are at the Patrick Seale Gallery, 2 Motcomb Street Belgravia, S.W.1 where is to he seen the Belgravia Flower Show, 1981 in which 45 artists are represented by drawings, paintings, prints and ceramics broadly associated with flowers; while across the road at the Parkin Gallery, 11 Motcomb Street, is the 10th annual Christmas show of Cats of Fame and Promise this year appropriately titled Nine Lives Plus One. Both Tun to the New Year.

On a more serious note, Rintaro Yagi is a young Japanese sculptor working in Italy who is showing at the Locus Gallery, 116 Heath Street, Hampstead, N.W.3 to the end of December, a large selection from the series "Take Flight in the Dark Sea," which has preoccupied him for the last three years. All are "abstract" and all, mostly carvings in rare marbles but with a few bronzes, wonderfully reflect the ever-changing, ever-moving mercu-rial Spirit of Water. Already a major prizewinner in his own country and in Italy, his work deserves to take England and the United

Taver. N in at Burn • • • A Property of Marie State 4.~

Indust in See Maril Marah

Marian W.

Page 11 Saturday-Sunday, December 5-6, 1981 **

By Steve Lohr

New York Times Service
TOKYO — The long-awaited strengthening of the year has begun and, according to economists and currency specialists here, the trend should continue through 1982.

The Japanese government expoets a stronger yen to contain the huge trade surpluses this country is running with its key trading partners - surpluses that increasingly are the source of political frictions

The growth in Japan's gross na-tional product fell in the July-September quarter due to slow domes-tic demand. Page 12.

and threats of protectionism. As the yen gains in value, Japanese exports baxame more expensive while imports become cheaper.

"It looks like the yen is coming to help us," said Kazumasa Kusa-ka, deputy director of the Ministry of International Trade and Industry's Americas-Oceania division, which handles trade relations be-tween Japan and the United

From mid-year to the middle of November, the yen has generally traded in a range of 225 to 232 yen to the dollar. But in the past few weeks, the yen has gained sharply against the dollar, closing at 215.80 Friday.

Foreign exchange observers are optimistic that the yen's recent vig-or is the start of a general, though more gradual, appreciation of the payout.

the previous year.

Thyssen Plans Decrease in Dividend

Hanson Trust Sweetens Offer for Berec

ICL to Announce Further Joint Ventures

dated 2001-2006 for each Berec share, will be issued in mid-December.

announced last August.

DUISBURG. West Germany - Thyssen said Friday it will propose a decrease in its dividend for the year ended Sept. 30, but the company did not say how much lower it would be than last year's 4-Deutsche-mark

Thyssen said the distinctly lower dividend will reflect the major losses in 1980-81 that stem primarily from the steel crisis. It said steel sales in 1980-81 were 8.4 billion DM, down from 8.7 billion the previous year.

Crude steel output in 1980-81 was 12.1 million tons, 10 percent below

LONDON — Hanson Trust Friday revised its bid for Berec Group to £1.50 cash a share for Berec shares. Hanson also proposed an alternative offer of £1.40 nominal of its 9% percent unsecured convertible loan stock

Hanson said its offer will be extended by 14 days from the date of

LONDON - ICL Ltd. said it will announce on Monday another is a series of joint ventures with other computing and electronics companies.

A company spokesman said Friday that ICL's capital restructuring plans, the subject of recent market speculation, will not form part of next week's announcement. He noted results for ICL's year ended Sept. 30

MELBOURNE - Alcoa of Australia will proceed with construction of Alcon had said it would abandon the project if Victoria's State Electricity Commission were allowed to implement a 25-percent rate increase

Parbo made it clear that Alcon is unhappy with this pact and is going ahead in the hope that a more satisfactory arrangement can be worked

New York Times Service

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — A federal judge has ruled that the three trusters of the Grumman pension plan had abused their responsibility in deciding to purchase more than a million shares of Grumman stock at the time the company was fighting a $450-million takeover bid.

Judge Jacob Mishler also found that the trustees — who double as top officials of the company - consciously avoided making an objective appraisal of whether they should make the purchase or whether they

But Judge Mishler took no action on a request by the Labor Department, which brought the lawsnit, that the trustoes be required to reim burse the pension fund for the losses the plan suffered as a result of their derivious, Instead, he ordered the trustees to obtain the consent of Secretary of Labor Raymond L. Donovan before taking any future actions

SYDNEY — Esso Australia has taken a 49-percent interest in the Gloucester steaming coal project in New South Wales, Esso and BMI Mining said in a joint statement Friday. The price was not disclosed.

BMI Mining, a division of Quarrying & Construction Products Group holds the remaining 51 percent. Esso also has undertaken to reduce its stake to 35 percent through divestment to Australian participants by early 1983.

Esso Australia Buys Interest in Coal Project should tender the plan's 1.7 million shares to the LTV Corp. of Dallas.

Alcon of Australia to Proceed With Smelter land in Victoria, company chairman Arvi Parbo said Friday.

out and because it has already spent 70 million dollars.

Court Finds Abuse in Grumman Case concerning the Circuman shares they control.

PEOPLE

IN BUSINESS

William D. Burnon was appointed vice president, divisional controller, for Sheraton Hotels in Entrope, Africa, the Middle East and India. He was previously regional controller in charge of Sheraton Hotels in the Eastern Mediter-ranean, Egypt and West Germany.

Jolia de la Possusaray has joined the International Capital Markets Group of Chase Manhattan, with responsibility for sales and distribution, efter working for Canadian

Richard A. Trippeer Jr., president of Union Planters National Bank named Albert Mitrahi gener-al manager of the company's new Peris office. Mr. Mizzahi was formally with Citibank.

American Socurities in Paris.

posting a revised offering circular. It said its cartier offer, three Hanson shares for eight of Beree, which had been rejected by Beree, has lapsed. It said it has accumulated 15.7 percent of Beree's shares.

yen. The Nomura Research Institute predicts that the yen-dollar 220 rate will be 215 at year-end, move to 205 by the end of the 1982 first quarter, hit 200 by midyear and re-main at that level through the end of next year's third quarter.

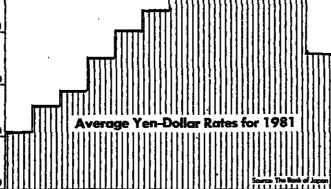

According to a forecast by Daiwa Securities Co., a leading Japanese brokerage houses, the yen should reach 180 to the dollar by the end of next March. Two reasons are behind the recent rise of the yea and the belief that its upward path will continue: The easing of U.S. interest rates and the fundamental strength of the Japanese economy. While other countries are beset by stag-nation and persistent inflation, Japan's economy is growing and consumper prices are rising at less than live percent a year.

With the distorting effect of high U.S. interest rates being removed, investors are returning to the yen from the dollar. And economists here expect the U.S. economy to remain weak for most of 1982, restraining credit demands, inflation and interest rates.

Many observers here view the recent strength of the yen as a an indication that the currency markets are again focusing on economic fundamentals. "What we're seeing now might be the beginning of this kind of correction," said Shijuro Ogata, executive director of the Bank of Japan.

Is Likely to Reduce Japan's Surplus

$80 billion in fiscal year 1982, cause in the early phase of a cur-could create a demand for credit rency's appreciation the demand from the public sector that would drive up U.S. interest rates again. The result, he said, could be a replay of the April-to-June period this year, when U.S. rates rose sharply and the yen fell.

For months, the Japanese have said that the "false" strength of the dollar — caused by high U.S. rates — was to blame for much of the huge U.S. trade deficit with Japan. By some estimates, as much as one third of the deficit is attributable to the unwarranted value of the dollar. The 1981 deficit could reach $18 billion, U.S. officials have said.

But in the near-term, the yen's new-found strength will probably increase Japan's trade surplus with Mr. Ogata cautions, however, the United States, thanks to a phe-that the potential size of the feder-al U.S. deficit, estimated at up to rency's appreciation the demand for its exports declines less than the exchange rate-prompted in-creases in the price of those goods. Later, exports are reduced as buyers find other suppliers or defer purchases.

In Japan's case, the J-curve effect is said to be about six months. To stimulate the domestic economy, the government is weighing a reduction in interest rates. It is widely believed that the Bank of Japan's discount rate will be cut by as much as one percentage point from its current 6.25 percent. Currency traders in Tokyo say that the price of the yen already reflects a cut in Japanese rates. "That's one reason the yen has bobbed back and forth for the last by now, the market has discounted the cut in the discount rate."

BUSINESS NEWS BRIEFS Poland, Banks to Sign

ber, Dresdner Bank said Friday. In Warsaw, Zbigniew Karcz, the to be signed shortly. pletion of negotiations to reschedule the $2.4 billion of Poland's 1981 debt to commercial banks opens up the way for fresh credits in the new year. Provided that Poland complies with the major condition of the agreement to bring all 1981 outstanding interest payments up to date, a small number of banks are believed to be willing to extend limited fresh money in the form of short-term trade credits, the sourc-

Limit on New Credits

throughout this year's negotiations that they are only prepared to ex-tend fresh cash to Poland once a rescheduling agreement is signed and interest has been brought up to date. The sources said certain banks will be willing to start offering trade credits to Poland again to help it import essential food and equipment, but the maximum maturity for any such credit is expected to be six months.

The banks in the 19-member steering committee, which has been handling negotiations for the other banks, are not considering extending a new syndicated loan,

The Dresdner Bank, which coordinated the last major West German credit to Poland, will act as agent for the rescheduled debt. Hans Friderichs, Dresdner Bank's management board spokes-man, said Thursday that Poland is keeping its interest payments up to date with only some slight delays.

Earlier Agreements

confirms that the complex legal documentation surrounding the agreement was completed during talks between bankers and Polish officials in Warsaw over the past few days, banking sources said.

By Robert A. Bennett New York Tones Service NEW YORK - Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. is seeking merger partners for three New York City

They are the New York Bank for Savings, the city's third largest, with assets of $3.5 billion; the Union Dime Savings Bank, the 18th largest, with assets of $1.4 billion, and the Central Savings Bank, the 24th largest, with assets of 5910 million. The failure of the banks is not imminent because they can last as independent organizations for a few more months, the sources add. Any merger assisted by the insurance corporation involving the New York Bank for Savings would Dresdner gave no exact date for the signing, originally targeted for next Thursday.

be the largest of its type. The record was set last month with the merger of the $2.5-billion Green-In October, Poland and West Germany signed an agreement to reschedule 647 million Deutsche marks of middle- and long-term the federal agency 5465 million. The three savings banks, with

But by the second or third quarters of next year, the company ex-ports the effects of federal tax cuts to spur sales, he said.

Chrysler lost $436 million in the first nine months of 1981, including a slender $11.6 million profit in the second quarter. Although the losses have been higher than company officials expected earlier in the year, they are far less than the $1.5 billion Carysler lost in the first three quarters of 1980.

And in a disastrously weak new car market. Chrysler is the only U.S. automaker to show improved sales from last year. Chrysler sold 681,828 cars through the end of November, up 14.6 percent from a year earlier.

Mr. Metevier said the automaker has "the right products for the market.

Chrysler officials have made periodic trips to Wilmington to with the loan committee since the state loaned the automaker $5 mil-

Hess Seen as Likely Partner in Marathon Bid

From Agency Dispatche

NEW YORK - Amerada Hess was named in published reports Friday as Mobil's likely partner in a new offer for Marathon, but market analysts said the delays in making a new bid would give an advantage to U.S. Steel Corp. in the takeover battle.

Meanwhile, a federal judge in Columbus.

Ohio, extended an order prohibiting U.S. Steel from proceeding with its $6.3 billion takeover offer that Marathon management is favoring over Mobil's offer of $6.5 billion.

Herbert Schmertz, Mobil's vice president for public affairs, declined to comment on the reports the Amerada Hess was the likely partner, saying only that discussions were continuing and had been narrowed from three oil companies originally interested in joining Mobil's

Amerada Hess said no officials were available for comment.

Mr. Schmertz said Mobil "probably" would make its joint bid "in the next few days." The purpose of adding a partner was to solve the antitrust problems that have stalled Mobil's campaign for several weeks, Mr.

Fighting Court Order

Mobil, the second largest oil company in the United States, currently is fighting a federal court decision upholding Marathon's contention that a merger with Mobil would unfairly reduce competition in the refining and marketing of gasoline in a number of Midwest states.

While both Marathon and Mobil competers for gasoline sales in many parts of the Midwest, Amerada Hess's gasoline marketing op-erations are mainly on the East Coast. Amerada Hess ranks as the nation's 18th largest oil concern, while Marathon is only slightly larger and ranks as No. 17 in revenue.

"The assumption is that the partner would acquire the assets, at least, in the area that [the federal court] found troublesome." Mr. Schmertz said in reference to the injunction issued Monday by U.S. District Judge John M. Manos in Cleveland.

But analysts said it may be too late for Mobil, despite plans for a new bid with a partner.
"If Mobil came out with this offer [with Hess] originally, it would have had more of a chance," Eugene Nowak of Dean Witter Reynolds said.

"The divestiture of properties to comply with antitrust regulations is not without pre-cedent," he added.

Because Mobil plans to make a new offer for Marathon, the current schedule of legal and other deadlines could be thrown out of whack at a crucial time.

"And any delay would seem to favor U.S. Steel because it has received the support of Marathon," Mr. Nowak said.

On Thursday the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati dealt Mobil a serious blow by denying Mobil's request that the court postpone enforcement of the order prohibiting Mobil from acquiring Marathon's shares.

Also, the circuit court said it would not hear Mobil's appeal of the injunction until sometime in the week of Dec. 14. That was a setback for Mobil, which had requested the hearing be held by Tuesday to prevent U.S. Steel from gaining an even greater advantage.

Marathon stockholders who have tendered shares to Mobil had until midnight Friday to switch their shares to U.S. Steel to insure they receive the $125-a-share cash portion of U.S. Steel's $6.3 billion offer. Shares tendered later would be swapped for U.S. Steel notes with a market value of about $86 each.

Marathon management favors U.S. Steel's bid partly because the steelmaker apparently would not move Marathon from its present headquarters at Findlay, Ohio.

Mobil raised the value of its original $5.1 billion offer after U.S. Steel entered the bidding Nov. 19.

U.S. District Judge Joseph P. Kinneary in Columbus Friday extended a temporary restraining order prohibiting U.S. Steel from buying Marathon shares. Judge Kinneary extended the order — which had been due to expire Friday — until next Wednesday or until he rules on Mobil's request that the order be made a prelimitary injunction, whichever comes first. He did not say when he would

In addition to U.S. Steel's proration deadline of midnight Friday — which was not changed by Judge Kinneary's ruling — the Federal Trade Commission has until Saturday to request more information from U.S. Steel in scrutinizing the steelmaker's offer for possible antitrust problems.

Also, Mobil has said the FTC must decide by next Thursday whether to challenge Mobil on antitrust grounds.

Prices Up Sharply on Wall Street

Reagan Rumor

Of Santa Fe International

national by government-owned Kuwaii Petroleum Corp. cleared its last regulatory obstacle Friday.

national interests."

In an attempt to for the takeover.

WASHINGTON — The $2.5billion purchase of Santa Fe Intertive implications for United States

NEW YORK — The New York Comex is investigating ru-mors that swept financial markets earlier this week suggesting President Reagan had suffered a heart attack, according to a spokesman for the exchange. Gold rallied sharply on the ru-mor, while bond prices fell and the dollar weakened.

Comex Probing

A spokesman for the FBI also indicated the agency is checking the rumors, which persisted Thursday despite denials by the White House.

"We do it any time that a false rumor seems to have been so pervasive that it raises questions of whether there might have been fraudulent intent," said the spokesman for the largest gold futures market in the United States.

The U.S. Justice Department, which was investigating the antitrust aspects of the takeover, announced that it had approved the Kuwaiti ourchase of the oil drilling and construction company. The takeover is the largest by Arab interests of a North American com-

Earlier, the Committee on For-

From Agency Dispatches NEW YORK - Declines in key speculation of further declines in the basic money supply fell $900 million in week ended Nov. 25. The narrower money supply known as M1-A declined $1.6 billion in the same period.

Prices were higher in active tradhad concluded "that the proposed

In an attempt to smooth the way for the takeover. Santa Fe has already announced that it will keep separate from Kuwain control the nuclear research conducted by a

Santa Fe subsidiary, C.F. Braun

Santa Fe said from its headquarters in Alhambra, Calif., that the sale should be completed Saturingly approved by Santa Fe stock-holders Tuesday on the recommendation of the company's directors, which include former President

WASHINGTON (AP) - The

net loss the S&L industry in the second half of this year is expected to exceed the $1.5 billion loss recorded from January to June, an Gerald R. Ford.

The purchase was overwhelming of American Stock Exchange 18.4 percent to 431,726 from a interest rates and the conviction other short-term rates may soon follow caused prices on the New York Stock Exchange to close broadly and sharply higher Friday. In a development that could fuel interest rates, the Federal Reserve reported after the market had closed that the M-IB measure of The Dow Jones industrial average gained 8.84 points to finish at 892.69, its highest close since Aug. 26, when the measure reached 899.26. Advances led declines, 1,000 to 500, and volume swelled to 55 million shares from 43.77 million Thursday.

The rally gained initial support from the Federal Reserve's cut in the discount rate late Thursday to 12 percent from 13. Brokers also said many big investors appeared to be discounting the worsening re-cession and buying in anticipation of a recovery around the middle of

The uptrend gained more fuel from a decline Friday in the close-ly watched federal funds rate, which also boosted the bond market. That rate, the interest on overnight loans between banks, fell to a low of 11% percent from Thurs-day's close of 12% percent. Larry Wachtel of Bache Group said prime rates should quickly resume their decline as well and may drop as low as 15 percent by the end of the year from the current 15% percent. The dollar closed lower in Europe, in part due to the Fed's cut in the discount rate. However, the U.S. Clears Kuwait Purchase impact was softened by cuts in interest rates in Britain, West Germany and Switzerland, coupled with commercial demand.

Meanwhile, U.S. automakers reported that they suffered their worst November in 22 years last month as new car sales plunged

The sales pace was a slight improvement from October's severely depressed levels. Ford's November car sales fell 20.2 percent from the 1980 month, General Motors sales were down 18.1 percent and Chrysler sales fell 14.7 percent. Sales at American Motors tumbled 30.3 percent, while Volkswagen of America's sales were off 13.1 percent.

The share of the U.S. car market claimed by imports rose to 25.9 percent from 24.1 percent a year ago but the number of imported cars sold declined to 151,000 from

For the year, U.S. car sales are down 3.9 percent from the 1980 period, with all U.S. automakers reporting declines except Chrysler, whose sales were up 14.6 percent. On the trading floor, the oil sector was the strongest group, as takeover speculation picked up following a report that Mobil will join with Amerada Hess to make a new offer for Marathon Oil. Marathon gained as much as 1% in active trading but slipped late in the day to close off 1/2 to 1021/4. Investors continued to buy other oil stocks, however, in an effort to guess the next merger target.

CURRENCY RATES

Interbank exchange rates for Dec. 4, 1981, excluding bank service charges.

	5	£	D.M.	F.F.	ELL.	Gldr.	B.F.	S.F.	D.K.
Aposter dom	2.0275	4.473	109.405 =	43.20~	0.2039		6476*	136.36	33785 +
Brossels (a)	37.78	73,7675	17.0275	6347	3.1718 -	15.56		21.1825	5.2675
Prepieturi	2.215	4,334	_	39.63 *	1.56 z	91.24 *	5.871 =	124.88 -	30.92 •
Landon (h)	1.944		4.3228	10.909	2319.25	4.728	73.505	3.0718	13.9605
Affec	1,192,05	2,327.00	536,73	212.73	_	491,09	31.562	668.93	166.38
New York	_	1.935	0,4488	0.1779	0.0837 =	0.4097	0.0264	0.558	0.1394
Paris .	5,6015	10.937	252,36 •		4,7005 x	230.75 -	14,8295 *	314,42 *	78,13 =
Zorich	1,7775	3.4741	80,15 *	31,765 *	0.1492	73.235 =	4,7086 *		24.82 *
ECU	1.1025	0.5452	2,4488	6.17 99	1,315.42	2.5789	41,6864	1.966	7.9152
			ъ.	.n w

pelgion fin, tranc Canodian S Danish krone Finnish mark Greek drachma Hone Kong S Irish E

(a) Commercial franc. (b) Amounts needed to buy one sound. (*) Units of 100. (x) Units of 1,000, to reach the heart of Europe

for intelligent people 366.100 CIM-readers

MAGAZINE the magazine for sports and leasure (Dutch and French) circulation: 120,000 ex.

the magazine for economy and finance (Dutch and French)

the formightly magazine for the whole family (Dutch) 1.041.100 CIM-readers

De Streekkrant

a group of 44 local papers which together form the biggest paper in the country 2.119.600 CIM-readers

All information and advertising rates with Roularta Media, Louis Schmidtlaan 97, 1040 Brussel (02) 736 11 75 - telex 25,425

. . Robert E. Howells was appointed president of National Advanced Systems (Europe) after serving as director of finance and administration of National Semiconductor Europe.

Debt Pact This Month falling due by the end of the year. The accord fulfilled a decision by

Resters
FRANKFURT — The agreement to reschedule Polish debt to 460 Western banks falling due in the last three quarters 1981 will be Poland's 15 main Western creditor countries to reschedule Polish debt falling due between May and Designed before the end of Decemcember, 1981.

director of the Polish Finance Ministry's external department, also said he expects the agreement Banking sources said the com-

The list of ICL's partners so far includes Fujitse of Japan, Three Rivers of the United States and Mitel of Canada. Western bankers have said its 1-hillion-Australian dollar ($1,14 billion) aluminum smelter at Port-This increase has been set aside, and an interim agreement reached between the state authorities and Alcoa on pricing for Portland. But Mr.

The Dresdner Bank's statement government-backed Polish debts

Christoph von der Decken, Dresdner Bank management board member, said the agreement will set conditions for talks on the rescheduling of 1982 commercial and government-backed debt. The agreement will reschedule

95 percent of the principal of Poland's commercial debt falling due in the last three quarters of 1981, estimated at $2.4 billion, banking sources said. This will be spread over seven years, with four years grace on repayment of principal and carrying an interest rate of 1% points over London interbank ofered rates, they said. Dresdner did not say now much in interest payments Poland will have to make good as a condition of the rescheduling agreement. Banking sources estimated it could be as high as $500 million.

Romania Not Seeking Changes FRANKFURT (Reuters) The Romanian Foreign Trade

eign Investments, an advisory Bank's subsidiary, Frankfurt Bugroup that includes Cabinet reprekarest Bank, said Friday that no Romanian bank has sought or is seeking to reschedule Western sentatives, said the Reagan administration had no objection to the transaction. The committee said it savings banks that are in danger of failing, banking sources say.

U.S. Seeks Merger Partners for Shaky Banks

Chrysler Expects '82 Profit, Official Tells State Panel

WILMINGTON, Del. — A Chrysler official says the automak-er expects to make money in 1982. Thomas E. Metevier, the company's government relations director, told Delaware's Chrysler Losn Committee on Thursday that Chrysler expects to lose money in the fourth quarter of this year and that the "first quarter of 1982 is going to look a lot like the last quarter of "81." lion in June, 1980.

State Treasurer Thomas R. Carper, loan committee chairman, said the loan agreement stipulates that Chrysler will pay only 15 per-cent interest on the ican for the forst live years. The company will begin repaying the principal there-after, with the loan to be totally paid off by 1995, he said.

banking sources. Merger partners the latest victims of the high interhave not yet been found for the New York Bank for Savings or the est rates. Economists estimate that about 80 percent of the 4,500 savings and loan associations and 500 Union Dime Savings Bank, the mutual savings banks in the Unitsources said. ed States are losing money and that about 200 are in danger of Losses Expected to Rise failing, primarily because their cost of funds has exceeded their in-mortgages. Officials emphasized that all depositors in troubled thrift institutions will be protected. If a bank in financial trouble can be merged, its depositors automatically become depositors of the stronger institution. If a merger partner can-not be found, the FDIC pays off come from long-term, low-interest official of the agency regulating the industry said Thursday. Charlotte Chamberlain, director of the Office of Policy and Economic Research at the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, also said the depositors directly.

It is expected that the Central the number of S&Ls "facing po-tential insolvency over the next 12 Savings Bank will be merged withto 24 months continues to grow."

VALUE LINE brings COMPREHENSIVE COVERAGE of 1700 AMERICAN STOCKS to European Investors THE VALUE LINE INVESTMENT SURVEY continually reviews more than 1700 widely held American stocks. Key data and ranking for relative future price performance of each stock are kept up-to-date in the weekly Index. And about 130 new full-page reports are issued every week, so that each company is the subject of a complete report every 13 weeks. The full-page reports include operating and financial statistics going back 15 years and estimated 3 to 5 years ahead As a special introductory offer, you can receive 12 weeks of Value Line for only $55, providing you have not had a subscription in the past two years. As a BONUS, you will also receive the 2000 page Investors Reference Service with the latest reports on over 1700 stocks, plus the 96-page guide. "Evaluating Common Stocks," Send payment (no cash, please) along with name and address together with this ad to

THE VALUE LINE

711 THIRD AVENUE, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10017, U.S.A. Payment in local currences (British 130, French in 220, Swiss in 120, DM 135) and requests for information should be directed to. Value Line, Att.: Alexandre and Ecouand de Saint-Phalle, 2 Ave. de Villars, 75007 Paris, (Tel. 551.63.59). Ostributed by KLM Royal Durch Artines Publication Distribution Service

Vornado VulcaM 2.20

11, 7 19 19% 11, 7 19 19% 12, 21200 33½ 2.9 8 40 27½ 16 73 7% 16 73 7% 1.0 129 14 .6 20 117 43 2 24½

16% WICOR 2.14 31 WabR pl450 16% Wecher 1.08 514 Wecker 1.08 10% Wecker 406 12% Walance .14 26% Wildert 25 20 Wildert pf

Swiss Object to U.S. Insider Probe Methods

By Fred Farris

WASHINGTON — Switzerland has told the U.S. government "in strong terms" that it objects to efforts by U.S. courts to penetrate did describe it as "objections in strong terms." Swiss banking secrecy laws.

The Swiss complaint arose from U.S. investigation of purchases of options on St. Ice Minerals stock one day before a takeover bid last March by Joseph E. Seagram & Sons. The purchases were allegedly made by foreigners through the Banca della Svizzera Italiana of Lugano, Switzerland

A U.S. court in New York had ordered that the Swiss bank give the U.S. government the names of the individuals or face strong sanctions. BSL after obtaining waivers of confidentiality from the parties involved, supplied these names and other information to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commis-

According to SEC sources, while the Swiss government has dis-cussed the case with U.S. officials and has not stated an objection, it was clear from the diplomatic representations that the Swiss were concerned about some aspects of the case, particularly that involving a U.S. court's effort to supercede Switzerland's banking ecrecy regulations.

Swiss Ambassador Anton Hegner met Nov. 20 with Davis Robinson, the U.S. State Depart-

ADVERTISEMENT MAKITA ELECTRIC WORKS LTD. (CDR's)

The undersigned anothers that as from 10th December, 1981, at Kas-Associatie N.V., Spuistrast 172, Amsterdam, div. ep. p° 25 (accompanied by an "Affidavit") of the CDRs Makita Electric Works Ltd., will be payable with Dfls. 3,62 net per CDR repr. 50 shs and with Dfls. 72,40 net per CDR, repr. 1,000 shs. (div. per record-date 20-8-1981; gross Yen 7,5 p. sh.) after deduction of 15% Japanese tax = Yen 56,25 = Dfls. 12,80 per CDR repr. 1,000 shs. Without an "Affidavit" 20% Japanese tax = Yen 75, = Pfls. ,85 per CDR repr. 50 shs. Yen 1,500. = Dfls. 17,20 per CDR repr. 1,000 shs., will be deducted.

After 20.3.1982 the div. will only be paid under deduction of 20% Jap. tax with Dfls. 3,40 net per CDR repr. 50 shs. and Dfls. 68. net per CDR repr. 1,000 shs., in accordance with the Japanese tax regulations.

AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY

nce with the Japanese tax regulations.

AMSTERDAM DEPOSITARY COMPANY N.V.

public relations).

Age: 30/35 years.

send resume to:

THE PERSON:

2. SALES PROMOTOR/SUPERVISOR for medical and hospital equipments.

ment's legal adviser, to deliver an objection to several aspects of the case. Though a Swiss Embassy of SEC may seek responses to certain of those questions at a later date.

Mr. Blackburn said the SEC swiss bank's customers involved in ficial refused to characterize the

Fishing Expedition'

Swiss embassy sources said the ambassador's main concern was that a "fishing expedition" by the SEC was under way for information about Swiss banking operations connected with the St. Joe

"A Swiss bank had received waivers from its customers to communicate their names to the SEC, which does not make the bank liable under Swiss law," an embassy official said. "The bank had given the names to the SEC. Then we were informed the SEC was not satisfied and came up with more interrogatories, which we feel went far beyond the necessity for clarifying the issue.

"We said we did not like this fishing expedition and strongly opposed the SEC going further than it was supposed to. This is not a good sign for similar future cases. If the SEC is not happy with these waivers, this might deter future banks from asking waivers."

Robert Blackburn, senior trial counsel of the SEC regional office in New York, which is handling the case, denied that the commis-sion was undertaking a "fishing ex-pedition" and said there had been only one set of questions. The court order issued by Judge Milton Pollack said, however, that the

European Gold Markets

•	Doc. 4, 1981	•
Lendon Zurich Peris (12.5 kilo) Luxembourg Official fixings for opening and classing p ounce.		2 5	+48

Go	d Opti	OIDS (price	s in $/ca_)
Prices	Ą	May	Aug.
450 450 470 490 510	18.50-20.50 11.50-13.50 7.50- 9.50 4.00- 6.00	29-50-32-50 27-50-34-50 13:00-16:00 8:00-11:00 4:00-6:00	20,00-33,00 27,00-34,00 13,00-16,00
Gald 423 90-434 90

Valeurs White Weld S.A. 1. Qual du Mont-Blanc 1211 Geneva I, Switzerland Tel. 310251 - Telex 28305

INTERNATIONAL

EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES

WANTED for Immediate Appointment

We are looking for well qualified, experienced, smart and energetic persons to fill the following vacancies in Saudi

1. COMMUNICATION AND TELECOM. ENGINEER.

(responsible for sales pramotion, coordination and

ORGANIZER SALES/DISTRIBUTION OF FROZEN

Experience: at least 5 years experience in managing cooled food venture, sales, marketing administration. Language: English is a must, preferably Arabic reading

Salaries and other benefits can be agreed upon interview. If you are one of the candidates fulfilling the above, please

JEDCO CORPORATION,

P.O. Box: 659, Jeddah, Saudi Arabia. Attn.: Mr. Nabil M. Hassan.

SALES ENGINEER

FOR EUROPEAN DIVISION U.S. CORPORATION

German speaking countries and southern Europe, Fluency in French, English cliffed send your application with curriculum vitae and salary history to FORMAX, INC.

BUILDING 70, P.O. BOX 7740, 1117 ZL SCHIPHOL-OOST, THE NETHERLANDS.

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE

CHINA/EASTERN EUROPE manager with proven record and excellent references, to 20 years experience in S.E. Asia and Eastern Europe requires new chal-lenge. Background of banking and academic (U.S and German manage-ment) as well. Residence Switzerland (permit available) or Singapore equally acceptable. Company should have growth potential and flexibility

Write: Box D 1854, International Herald Tribuna 92521 Neutlly Cedex, France.

INTERNATIONAL COMMERCIAL MANAGER Dutchman, 32, fluent Dutch, English, French, German and basic Span U.S. Management Degree, provious sales and international management background seeks demanding position with internationally operating corpo-ration © Middle East, Far East and African market experience.

Hence contact: Ham Albers Belderink, Plantage Medicagnacht 163, 1018 TT AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands

Tel.: (0) 20-249085 (after 20:00 hours).

equally acceptable. Company should have growth potential and fle for the Territory(ies). Nominal solary plus banus negotiable under certain circumstances. Magnitude of annual income around S.Fr. 200,000.—.

Mr. Blackburn said the SEC sought and received "very relevant information" bearing on the al-leged insider trading of certain parties. "I just can't see how getting that information is a fishing expedition," he said.

impose sanctions on the bank, mentioning fines and the barring of BSI from dealing in U.S. sectrities markets, if it failed to comply

St. Joe options purchases.

The Swiss ambassador, in his meeting with Mr. Robinson, said that Judge Pollack had said that the absence of any reaction by the Swiss government in the pending Judge Pollack had said he would it itigation means the Swiss government's interest in it is not very great. The embassy official added, of BSI from dealing in U.S. securi-

Japan's GNP Growth Eases As Domestic Demand Drops

TOKYO - Due to a slow domestic demand, the growth in Japan's gross national product eased sharply to a real 0.6 percent in the July-September quarter from 1.2 percent in the previous quarter, the Economic Planning Agency said

While overseas exports grew a real 0.8 percent compared with the earlier three months, EPA officials said, domestic demand fell 0.2 percent — the first negative growth in domestic demand since the July-September quarter of 1980.

Private-sector housing activity was especially singgish, braking the overall pace of growth in the latest accounting period, EPA official action cials said.

EPA Director-General Toshio Komoto warned Thursday that Ja-pan's economy is depending too heavily on overseas factors and has stressed the need of taking steps to spur domestic demand.

The stimulation of the domestic economy is regarded as especially vital with the United States and Western Europe demanding that Japan curb its growing trade sur-plus. Japanese ministers will meet next week to discuss measures to boost the slow domestic economy, government sources said.

Government officials said the slowdown indicated far more stag-nant domestic growth than had been expected. They added that real GNP growth for fiscal 1981, ending in March, is likely to be around four percent, not the 4.7 percent forecast in October. And economists are increasingly pessimistic about the prospects of

GNP growth for fiscal 1982 of more than a real four percent, below the EPA's forecast of 5.2 per-Daiwa Securities has forecast that the Japanese economy will only manage a real 3.5 percent growth in the coming financial year with exports slowing due to the trade frictions and the United States in a recessionary period. Other economists agreed with the figure of below four percent.

The economists said domestic demand is not expected to rise sharply and its growth could begin to flatten if Japanese companies reduce capital investment growth in the face of expected deteriorat-

COMPANY REPORT

Revenue and profits, in millions, are in local

Sweden
Ericsson (L	M) Telefon
9 months	1981	1980
Revenue	1,900.	1,350.
Pretax Net	107.1	73.4
Results in U.S. dollar	3.

Selected Over-the-Counter

	PRK (AP)—	Clos	ine Price	s, Dec. 4,	1981	Pinkrin Pinkrin	47/2 31 52 52/4	- 1
	ing list is o	'		-,,		PionHiB Plostine	- W - I	- 1
	tional Secu-	Condis	17% 18	Josiyn s	31 3114	l Postis		- 1
rities Dec	iers Assn.	CrosTre	17% 18 19% 19% 1% 2	Kais$1 pf	1714 1814	PresGM	36% 37% 31% 32% 13% 12% 12% 12% 27% 27% 13 13%	- 1
over the co	unter Bank,	CrosTre CuffrFds	114 2	Kalvar	194. 195	PreSteyn Progre	3149 3249	- 1
Insurance i	6. Industrical	Cyclinen	6¼ 6¥2	Kaman s	1912 20	PISVNC	126 126	- [
stocks.		DtoDes s DoytM s	130 130	Kaysam KalivSv	61/2 71/2 46 47	PuriSen PutDCop	274 27%	- 1
AELING	121/2 131/4	DBaar	1412 1514 6 15-16 7	Keuffel	46 47	PutDCos	 13 , 1314	- 1
AFAPTO	t1 13	DBear DekibAg	28 2814	i Kimboli	24 244 221/2 224 11/4 13/4	QuakrCh RagenPr	17% 17% 11% 11%	- 1
AVMCP	3% 4%	l DelConT	28 2914 11 12	Kingint	1% 1%	Raychin	58 59%	- 1
Accuracy AddisonW	8 814	DeveyEl DioCrys	3 31/5	KleefG	30 7795	Drummel	2234 2334	- 1
AdvRoss	1892 1T 3 314	Districtu	22 23 34 38	KnopeV Knotes	14% 15% 6% 9%	Reeve s	22% 23% 32% 33	- 1
AfiBsh s	2374 2475	Docarits	2014 2024	Kulicke	14 1414	Reeve s Road Ex Robb/Ay	37V2-39	- 1
AlexAlex	2374 247/2 2874 287/2	Docutt s DelirGn	29% 29% 14% 14%	i Lancein	14 14V2 24V4 24V5	RoobAy Roselon	28 29	ŀ
Alicolnc	44% 46	I DOVIDB 1	1/ 1/12	LandRes	47a 51/a 391/4 397/4	Rouse	31/2 4	- [
Altex Amorex	314 314	DriefCn	28 254 13% 13%	LaneCo	3914 3914	Souther	20% 20% 3 3%	- 1
AFurn	4% 4%	Dunků s Durim s	1375 1375	Litinvs LidStor	36% 24%	Sofeco	35% 35° 36% 36° 50 50%	1
AGreet	1834 10	EamVnc	12% 13 12% 13½ 17% 17%	LinBest	34 354	SHHelGd	3614 3671	- 1
AinGos	44 4414	EconLob ElPosEl	17% 17%	Logetta	18 18%	StPoul	50 50% 22% 23%	- 1
AMICTOS ANOTINS	3874 39 1492 1476 1414 1494	EIPosEI	1116 1116	MCIC	264 264 154 154 344 254 18 184 344 264 106 104	ScripH s	4000 4000	- 1
AQUQSE	1474 1476	Elder Be EleNuci	574 6 1376 1376	MGFO 5 ModsGE	10% 10% 15% 16 692 6%	SycMer	13 13%	-1
ARasiko	7014 014	ElModis	2416-2516	MogelPi	13-15 10	Sycrests	281/2 281/4	ı
AWeld s	7114 21	EnrDev	24% 2592 - 12 12%	MoomP	65 45%	ShWad	13 13% 28% 28% 36% 36% 28 28%	- 1
Anodife	7 7% 1314 134	EnrMethd	2% 2%	MalRi	474 478	Shwmut s Siero Rs s	1424 1544	- 1
AngSA AngAGd	1392 1346 8574 87	EnRsy	279 296 12 1246 814 914 1312 1334	Maikrts	45 45% 4% 4% 41% 41% 6% 7 29 31	Siliconx	14% 191 ₂ 19% 20	- 1
AppleC	65% 67 18% 18% 14% 15%	Entwisti EquiSL	892 916 1314 1314	Marian s Mauli	29° 31	SColWir	111/2 123/4	- 1
ApidM s	184 184 144 154	EctOII	10% 10%	MayPt	28 284	SwElsv	1392 14	- 1
ArdenGe	370 41/0 46 4674	IVIFSC	W 4	i MavaQii	10% 10%	Swenrs Stondyn	14% 14%	- 1
AndCola ·	16 366	FabriTk	10% 10% 3% 3% 30% 31 24% 24% 36% 36%	McCorm McForl	28 284 10% 10½ 20% 20½ 12% 12%	l SkidMicro	45 46	- 1
AffanRs	13 13W 1814 1834	FormGo Fidicor	30% 31	MCQUTY	121/2 124/2	StriRegs	344 344 29 31	Į
BoirdCo	74, 74	FIBKSys	364 354	Mener	404 4	StanHiP	29 31 294 314	-
BallyPP	1914 1944 744 744 594 594 1034 1034	PtBostn PtEmp$	39 3944	MeyerF MidsxW	7774. 18	Steri5) StrawCi	274 31/4 24 27	-
BangHE BasicR g	1914 1944 744 734 574 574 1034 1034 494 4 15-16	i Ptemps FrWnFin	18 184	MdidCop MidiRes	17% 18 9% 9% 1 1%	Subaru	374 40	-
BasetFr BaylsMk	494 15-16 34 344	FlogBks	212 24	MidiBk s	2414 2424	Super 51	ساه ۸	1
BayisMk	34 34k 9% 9% 5% 67% 2% 57% 40% 44% 46% 66% 16% 16% 11% 11% 61% 64%	Filcker	30% 31% 36% 36% 38 38% 18 18% 5% 5% 23% 24 19% 19%	AMILIAN	28% 20% 17% 18	Sykes s TDK s TIME DC	2574 29 . 29 2974 114 134 3474 3474 2814 2874	1
Beeline BentPt	54 64	FIGNE	29 291/2	MissVIG Molex 5	17V2 18	TIMEDO	14 14	1
Batty s		Flurech s Forest0	7% 8 30% 30%	Motex s MonfCol	45% 46% 5 5%	Tompox	34% 34% 284 284	1
Belzi ob	661/2 6676	Formieli	3014 301/2 214 294	MondCo	5 51% 1746 1746	Tendm s	2814 2834	1
BevMgt BibbCo	1676 1672	FrankCo	10 77	MoorePd	244-254	TecumP TelcmA	201/2 641/2 201/2 201/2	1
BirdSon	11/2 11/2	FreeSG	1614 17 3414 3514	Mory Res	614 614	Tenont's	16 1612	1
Birtchr	67s 6V2	Fremnis	17% 18	Moranin	64 64 86 84 54 54	TexAB s	201/2 201/2 16 161/2 25 351/2 261/2 261/2	1
Blyvoor	131/2 139/4 19/4 13/4 201/2 309/4 5/2 874	FWIRHB	24V2 24%	Mueller	2314 2412	Tiprory TemiOti	251/2 25-16 476 4776	1
Bananz Brw Tom	196 175	GnAutm	570 6 3 34	NorraCp s	21 22%	Toyota	4% 4% 51 51%	1
Buckbee	80 ST	GnDevcs GnRiEst	3 3%	NDtd 8	20% 20% 14% 14% 492 4% 20 20%		23 24	Ι.
Buffela	4014 47		15¼ 1692 8¼ 9¼	NAME	472 44	TroyG gh	1 3-16 1 5-16 1372 14	- 1
Вигнир$	872 834 404 41 1344 1344 2 272	Grosen s GreenM GreyAdv Giffintst	15% 16% 8% 7% 19% 20% 13% 13% 65 69 17% 18%	NJNGCS NYAITI NICKOG S	20 201/2	TroyG sh TysonFd UnMcGli USEnr	1914 194	1
CNLFin CPT B	2 2½ 17% 18	GreenM	1314 1344	Nicolet	13% 14 48 48¼ 47¼ 47%	USEnr	ar e	1
CalWisv	3714 38	Gittints	174 184:	NielsnA NielsnB	40 48 M	U$$-	231/2 2374 1274 1274 3874 387/2 974 107/2 1174 1274	Г
ConredH	2% 3% 15-16 1 1-16	Gyrodyn HamiPs	64 74	No Cortie	139e 1374 12 1296	UVaBatı	12% 12%	1
Copen Copews	75-16 1 1-16 13 14Va	HemiPs	23 231/2	NwtNGs	12 12%	UnvEng	914 10VS	1
CPINAIr	494 5	Hardwke HrpRow	214 21/2 1146 1144	NwstPS	15% 16% 29% 30%	UnvEng UpPenP Vool R	3814 381/2 914 101/2 111/4 121/4	1
CoreCo	17 171/2	HaroGo	34 3494	Naxali Nucre s	1314 1374	VoolR	67 % 48 23% 23%	1
CharRiv	38 39	HartiNt	214 21/2 1146 1144 34 3494 24 2444	Nutrays	1816 20	VoiNt s VonDus		ŧ
Chrm5 s ChrtHou s	1144, 12 2894 2095	Hartfilt Hechnas Helmiksc	34 34% 24 24% 15% 16 3% 3% 27% 28% 25-16 2%	Oceaner OglivyM OhloCas	2176 22%	Velcros	15 1514	1
ChmLea	2894 2092 1712 1914	Hennië	2734 2814	OBINAW	33% 34 46 46%	Victrosi	876 81/2 61/2 674	J
	14 19	Henrid F Helotin Heover Hertz Rs	25-16 246	OhFerro	500 NO	VideoCp VoNBsh	6V2 644	ı
Chubb	ទី៥ ទីង 6 6%	Hoover	91/2 946 31/4 4 2416 261/6	OtterTP	1814 1824	WshEnr	2214 2214 1314 1346 4 414 36 3614	15
Citz5oGa	6 645	Horazes	144 4	PCAINT PobstB	5% 5% 14% 14%	Weldim	4 4¼ 36 36¼	1;
CITZUTA	876 9 3672 374 3754 3475 3775 2572	Hyottint IMSint	2414 2434	PeGdR	2074 21	WDeep	74 74.	Į i
CITALIB	3374 3475	1 1 MALCO LING	261/2 247/4 81/4 81/2	PcGdR PauleyP PeerMF	20% 21 13% 14 11% 12%	WHold WmorC	51 52 249≥25 90 91	Ţ
ClerkJL ClewCa	雅雅	introEnr	25¼ 25½ 6¼ 6¾	PeerMf	111/4 121/2	WiserO	90 91	15
CoirTie	5% 5%. 10% 10%	Intentigs	11 116 1	Pentair	1246 1276 1946 1976	WolvAlu Womet	7/2 73%	١í
CaloGos	5% 5%. 10% 10% W 11-32	intentGs inBkWsh		PermExp	1946 1926 974 974 3094 3144	Womer	77/2 73/4 9% 99% 32% 32%	Í
ComCIH CmiShr	10% 10% W 11-32 Se% Semi 13 14%	lwaSaUt Jamsby	275 27%	Pairti s	30% 31% 15% 16	WrightW	6% 7%	15
CmwTet	15 16	l Jerkos	22½ 22% 14% 15¼ 20% 20% 13-14 1	Pettiban Philipikat	1946 1926 946 946 3046 3146 1546 16 3146 3146 1676 1676	ZionUt s		16
ConPop	15 16 274 284	JiffyFd	13-74 1	PhilipNot PierceSS	31% 3144 16% 16%	n.a Not app	olicable.	8
		•						1 5

Floating Rate Notes

Closing prices, Dec. 4, 1981

B	anks				Issner-win Chi-Wat	Compos	Next	. Bld	Asind	J
ope-Mat.	Coupon	Next	Bla	Askd	LTCB 6%-12	19 2/16	1-23	100%	101	1
Bk 7-83	1875	1-29		100%	LTCB 453	1914	2-15 5-12	101.	10136	ł
. Bk 7-63 sh 5%-63	1914	226	101	1011	LTCB 54-85 LTCB 54-86 LTCB 54-89	144	12-15	10014	1004a 100	1
67ú-84	189/14	3-30	101%	10134	LTCR 55-39	18 1/16	12-7	9944 991/2	9996	- 1
54-87	17 11/16	.14.	9994	10014	LTCB 592-JIVB9	183/16	1-18	991/2	997	1
2-85 en 7-84	16 13/16 1348	10-22		10149	Lloyds Eurofin 714-83	12 15/16	5-28	99%	10016	ì
mk 6V2-83	1977/16	2-3	100%		Lloyds Eurofin 514-92	13%	샖	99%	991/2	1
74-64	1011776	73	987		Ligyds Eurofin 514-93 ManHan O'seas 514-94	1716	422 223 518	1004	99%	ı
100 FF-85	1816	12-11	90	92 -	Midland Bank 6-62	137/16	$ 18	100%	100%	1
icion 1-43	19 1 /16	1-25		10014	Midland Sank 74-83	1974	2-24	10176	10214	1
cion 7-86 cion 6-87	17%	3-24 10-23	99	994 964	Midland Int 6-87	13 1/16	_	9996 9996 10096	10014 9934	1
573+86	1 67 4 17 5/16	7-12	95% 97%	9994	Aldiand (ntl 5-89	177/16	122 430 127	. 2274	9924 1007a	1
6-87/91	14 15/24	408	70114	30144	Midland Intl 9-71 Midland Intl 514-92	174	12.7	991/2	9975	ł
1 64-82	19%	217 1211	10074 7674	_	Alidland Inti 54-93	167	12	7776	7715 18014	ı
oflo 7% 87		12-11	9694	96% 99% 99%	Noti Westmin 512-90	181/16	1223	99%	180¼ 99¾	1
O. 54-87	1496	5-17	9916	77%	Most Westmin $14.01	1614	7.15	994	*	ł
6-85 1746-83	1395 18 5/16	첉	29%	100 T	Nati Westmin 54-92	17	1 2	10014		ı
614-B4	174	12-29	99 97	100	Noti Westmin 54-94	16%	411	100%		ı
89/14	17 1/14	42	99%	100%	Nati Bk Canada 514-88 Nippan Credit 514-85	175/16 17%	1-24 12-24	100¼ 100	100% 100% 93%	ı
-89/94	1816	褶	9954	1004	Nippon Credit 6/2-86	18 5/16	1-14	9944	98-2	ı
V4-89	1213/16	2-26	99Va 99Va	99/2	nedlibro Fin 5/2-88 .	1316	134	9944 9874	97	1
5/4-90	16%	12-18	??	100	Nacional Fin 51/a -86	1796	12-24	77%	~_	ı
54-91	17 1/14	422	100%	1001/5	Necional Fin 51/2-881/91	17 5/16	3-25	981/2	9276	ı
#10 514-93 $9 612-84	17 1/16 13 7/14	422	100	100% 101%	Nacional Fin 6-85/93	19	1-7		1 01/4	ı
1987	19 77 18	镂	100% 99%	10014	Nordic Inti 5%-91 Opsterreisch Bk 5%-86	15%	54 548	9914 9914	99%	ł
1988/91	19	2.1	700	100%	Bk Scotland 7%-63	144	Z12	10274	10019	ı
la 514-89	1282	1.27			Bit Scotland 514-66/94	15 15/16	īй	99%	10014	ı
19 5Y2-93	13/2	421 520	101	99% 101% 100%		13%	5 24	9014	7942	ŀ
	13/4	5-20	100	100%	Sarwa Inti Fin 514-48	1714	5 24 9 24	100%	100%	i rie 876-84	1915/16	29	100%		S.G. Alsoc 5% 89/91	17% 18 7/ 16	1-15	9914	0064	ı
	18 7/16	12-17	100	100%	SGB 5V-47	171/14	4-30	707	10134	ı
	18	12-20	95%	9916	5GB 1989/92	18 5214	12-31	174	100	L
-65	19572	12-17 429	9974 10144	100%	Stond & Chart. 614-44	12 15/16	5-28 2-16	9994	1001/6	ĺ
	19%	126	iciv	inte	Stand. & Chart. 512-90 51and. & Chart. 514-90	19 19 1/ 16	39	1001: 1001:	1977	ι
i	14 15/16	12	100%		State &k India +14-67	1215/76	578	옜노	885°	ı
	19 5/16	3-1	1014	102	Sumitomo Fin 51/2-88	199716	24		10975	ı
	189/14	1-21	100Vz		Svenska Handels 5-67	184	īŭ	77%		ļ
	19	鬶	101 Ye	70172	Sporebunken 6-87	12/12/14	12-21	9874	994	ı
2	1634	1-29	999	10014	Ste Fin Europ 54-88		5-19	9814	9876	ı
	18%	證	1089 ₂ 1093 ₈	10076	Sundsvalisbken 6-85	17	41	991/2 100%	987% 10074	ı
	19 1/16	ᇲ낁	100-6	100%	Trade Develop 6-86	191⁄a	2-24 2-23	100Va	1001/2	1
ecs 5-90	1714	12-11 12-15	9834	99% 100%	That Formers 744-64	18		95%	7776	1
ecs 545	1714 193/14	127		100			1-25	100%		ı
		11:30	99%	9772	UBAF 74-82	174	12-5	9924 100%	100%	ı
S4-61/91		1-15	77	7///2	Union Finland 615-52	16 13/16 ' 18%	10-22	100		ı
37-0271	12 1/16	2-6	777a	99% 99%	Union Norway 6-89 United O'ssas 6-83	17774	뵭	9674. 100%	10004	ı
-RRN	121/16	2-6 12-31	334	99%	United C'scas 6-69	1816	231	77%	7796	ı
	1576	12-10	9924	1604	Urguijo inti 74-81	HB 1716	12-23	997	-/-	ı
Md '	167/16	4-13	180%	1001/2	Uraulia inti 6-86	174	12-23	1001/2	10176	ı
-C MJ	12	3-2		991/2	WIL Glyn's Bk 612-84	1995	2-26	10176	1014	ı
	18%	1.29	777:	9978	Wil. Glyn's 8k 54-91	1574	3-16	10016		ı
	159/16	2-5 2-6	99_	2236	Zentroispork, 514-91	18 1/16	1-11	9914	97V2	ľ
	1954	44.	997	HINE
1 18-24 a 10	10 IJV 10 1845	12-17 1-13	100%	100%	Non	Bank	3			П
	181/2	1-13	10072				_	_		ı
	15 11/14	27	10044	ini l	Issuer-Min con-Mat.	Coupen P	text	5id /	Askd	ı

AMEX Index

Incisive. In depth. International.

Ctg. +237

NYSE Nationwide Trading Closing Prices Dec. 4 Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street.

(Continued from Page 6) ## UNBARDS ## AR STATE ## AR UNBARDS ## AR U 13"4. UPPL P
26"4 VPF Ca
20"4. Voley's
5% Voley's
5% Voley's
17% Vorcos
17% V

ASK FOR IT EVERY DAY. EVERYWHERE YOU GO.

International Herald Tribune We've got news for you.

1,850 1,855 1,900 1,903 1,925 1,940 1,950 1,940 1,965 2,905 1,965 2,905 2,016 2,840 2,010 2,840

+ 3 + 9 1257½ + 15 + 15 + 15 + 15

Commodity Indexes

Dec. 4, 1981

83.00 82.85 82.90 82.30 85.30 84.90 85.30 85.40 86.40 86.44 86.30 86.40 86.30 84.30 86.30 86.30 84.30 84.30 87.40 91.15 91.15 91.30 97.20 92.10 92.78 92.10 92.80 Chicago Futures Friday's

New Highs and Lows

Reagan Opposes Antitrust Study

WASHINGTON - The Reagan administration has opposed a commission to study relaxing antitrust constraints on U.S. business activi-

Assistant Attorney General William Baxter said Thursday it would be more practical to work out differences over antitrust enforcement with other nations in international negotiations. Administration officials also said the study would cost too much and be too

Sherman E. Unger, the Com-merce Department's general coun-sel, said he favored the the goals of the proposed study but "unfor-timately the Commerce Department can't express support be-cause of budgetary constraints." The study, intended to be completed in a year, would cost an esti-mated $1 million.

U.S.-Mexico Science Talks

MEXICO CITY — Two days of talks on scientific and technical cooperation between the United States and Mexico have begun at the Foreign Ministry here. A min-istry statement said the purpose of the talks is to draft plans for possi-

Executive Opportunities" appe vs every Tuesday, Thursday, & Saturday

"International

5.12 0.40b of 5. sf7.26 pf1.50 pf1.50 7.04c 3.24c 3.70 4.480 pf4.50 5.20 5.20 1.22c

18 Numoc g.20
10 OEA See
14% Oakwd 12b
4% OAArt 24
4% OASeel 25
9% Oilcins 48
14 Ooklep 38
10 Oriotett 1b
470 Ormend
670 Orrown
670

560 .92 1.65 1.65 .30

5 90 9.20 9 1.20 9 1.20 9 1.20 9 1.20 9 1.20 9 1.44

23 25% 74k 11% 15 58k2 24% 9k 20 18 9 8% 13%

1994 2094 7 81/2 121/2 241/2 141/2 57/4 171/3 67/4 94

AMEX Nationwide Trading Closing Prices Dec.

Tables include the nationwide prices up to the closing on Wall Street. 2816 + 6 378 + 12
378 + 12
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16
1578 + 16 15. Cander 221
215. Cander 225
216. Cander 225 20 年 1573年 1677年 1686年 1887年 1950-1972 9 130764555 13076 13

The District of the Country of the C 5% + % 13/2+ 16 13/2+ 3% FG!
12 FPA s
13 FeIring
14 FeIring
15 FeIring
16 FeIring
16 FeIring
17 FISLS
16 FEIR
17 FISLS
18 FI 117

12771197744 White white which which with the war and t 1712 1714 1534

Other Stock Markets

Dec. 4, 1981

Toronto Stocks Closing Prices, Dec. 3, 1981

772 - 872 MAVMEN

3114 131. NERTIS

3154 131. NERTIS

3154 1418 NIFITE

3154 1518 NIFITE

3155 NIFITE

3156 NIFITE

3156 NIFITE

3156 NIFITE

3157 NIFITE

3158 NIFITE

3158

22% Hotelin 3
% Hours' 1
% Hours' 1
% Hours' 1
% Hould 1 .23e .23e .40 .40 .540 5 — 14 17 4 — 15 11 274 + 16 374 + 16 1876 + 16 1876 + 16 276 - 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 276 + 16 31 17 5 7 19 30 4 13% 61% 55% 23% 23% 67% 67% 7%

414—16 16 1744—16 1.12 20 8.400 .13e 40 72 7

14% 59% 4 10 12% 4 16 12% 10 1 · 海外域经济5年的新游用经济的政府的各种11年的方面的各种 . 설 1 20

SANSARARINAN PROPERTATIONAL PROPERTATION OF THE PROPERTY OF TH

222

Montreal Stocks

SH ROVER S

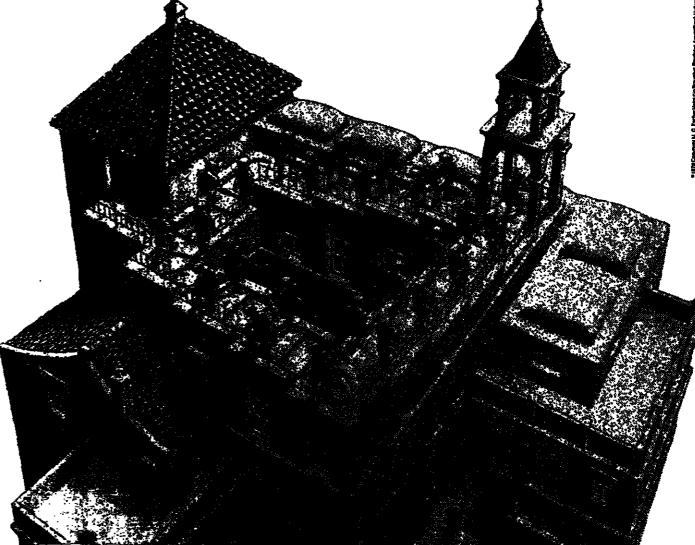

SH ROVER S

SH ROVER S

SH RESHOW S

SH RESHO 爱 249 249 249 249 249 Medical Company of the Company of th .30 .976 .49 .16e .36 .10

n | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 | 1.22 #25] $ 28 24 131/2 6 20% 191/4 131/2 131/4 .20 .20 .200 .201 n

Beware of the first impression.

The received opinion. The conventional view

They can be misleading. If not downright dangerous. And never more so than in today's rapidly changing world.

We all need our wits about us. And the wits of others to help our judgment.

That is why The Economist is so avidly read by decision makers in over 160 countries worldwide.

Economist readers recognise the value of a journal which reports the news (and the undercurrents behind the news) without fear or favour.

A journal with a thoroughly international overview, which covers the key trends and events in the world - often long before they are touched upon by other publications.

They know, to ignore The Economist is to set even the most careful planning at risk.

Because, for in depth coverage of politics, current affairs, business and increasingly science and technologyThe Economist is quite simply second to none. If that makes The Economist sound worthy but dull, nothing could be further from the truth. First and foremost, The Economist is a truly entertaining read. Every week, it reports what's really happening in world with insight, wit and a refreshing sense of humour. Take The Economist today. It could help you see more clearly.

The Economist

Look at it another way.

Page 13

ian ild the mg w- mg ar a x-id agt

ek ot on nt

THE ALANDARY OF THE PROPERTY O

VANSAMAN ATTER TO THE STATE OF THE STATE OF

Hong Kong

London

wt p1.40c .42t 5.76 2.76 2.35 p1.46 .50

.786 9.30 .74 .44 .250 .80 .14 Amsterdam

ASM Holding ACF Holding ACF Moding
ACF Moding
ACF Moding
ASTOTOR
ASTOT

Frankfurt

Eurocurrency Interest Rates

Yolpi Sales iSC3# shares

Canadian Indexes

Closing Prices, Dec. 3, 1981

Edited by EUGENE T. MALESKA

ACROSS

—tu,' Verdi aria 76 Virginia City

phenomeno 77 Quadragesi mal period

78 Immersed $2 Machiavelli officer 85 "The_

90 Pinza 91 Highway sign 92 Card game

84 Navy warrant

Handel opus 86 Forecast:

precipitation 89 Suppliants

95 Pop 96 Monk's cloak

👀 Hindu lute 101 Group of 104 Forecast: -20°

100 President Doe's land 112 "——cannot be undone": Lady

Macheth

114 Whence Tosca

116 Church mem.

113 Arrowroot

leaped 115 Chaplin's

117 Prefix for 118 Forecast: smog warning 119 Film

120 Сурзу 121 Want-ed abbr.

MANILA

MONTREAL MUNICH

ROME SALISBURY

SAG PAULO

TAIPEI

ZURICH

UNION INVESTMENT Frankf

s Fund Infl... s intercontine

Legistration of the control of the c

Stocker Ltd
Tolent Global Fund
Tolent Global Fund
Toleyo Pac, Hold (Sea)
Toleyo Pac, Hold N.V...
Transportific Fund
UNICO Fund
United Cap Isv. Fund.

Other Funds

ADVERTISEMENT

INTERNATIONAL FUNDS December 4 1981

DM 17.75

CAPITAL INTERNATIONAL

DIT INVESTMENT FRANKFURT

BANAGEMENT (UK) LTD
Berry Poc. Fd. Ltd.......
G.T. Asia Fund.......
G.T. Bond Fund.......
G.T. Investment Fund.......
G.T. Investment Fund......

INTERNATIONAL INCOME FUND 28-34 Hill St. St. Heller, Jersey — (d) Short Term 'A' (Accum) ... — (d) Short Term 'B' (Accum) ... — (d) Short Term 'B' (Accum) ... — (d) Short Term 'B' (Distr) — (w) Long Term

ROTHSCHILD ASSET MGTM (CI); — (r) Q.C. Dir Commodity Tr.....

TEL AVIV

Cloudy Fair Fair Cloudy

68 Archibald

Leach

72 Born, in Bourges

4 Tax 8 500 lbs. of 12 Forecast

tornado alert 19 V.L.P. at Burning Tree
20 City in Kansas 21 Type of car 22 On a 24-hour

23 Regatta necessity 24 Enlivening 26 Charms 27 Forecast: 20°

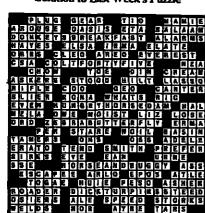

30 Actor Erickson 31 Basketry fiber 32 Lowell and Carter 33 Univ. degrees 36 The Red

39 Mar. follows 41 Start of the 42 Island off 44 Forecast: flood

50 155-mm. gun 52 — B'rith 53 Cottonseed 90rt $5 N.B.A. tean 56 Tamarisk salt

58 Certain pols 59 Suffix with

Solution to Last Week's Puzzle

WEATHER

ALGARYE ALGIERS

AMSTERD/ ANKARA ATHENS

WCKLAND

BUCHAREST

CAPE TOWN

COSTA DEL SOL DAMASCUS DUBLIN

FLORENCE

GENEVA HELSINKI

HELSINKI HONG KONG HOUSTON ISTANBUL JERUSALEM LAS PALMAS

DOWN I Damage 2 Teed off 2 City SE of Dallas 4 Outer portion of the earth 5 Product of a Spanish pine 6 Malvolio's symmenc rubber Stage direction of "Julius Caesar"

11 Raw-cerved 12 Dialect of a people 13 Hop of the 40's van Leyden 15 Fay of "King

DOWN 17 Turner or Hentoff 18 Librarian's deg.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Musical Meteorology By Bert Rosenfield

25 — ego 28 Forecast: travelers' advisory 29 Pool for an 33 In coerse fashion 34 Appalachian effects 37 Leave intact

38 He has a stab job 39 Mallard genus

BOOKS

Kálmán operetta 63 Heathlike 65 Waugh's "The Loved — " 66 Seine tributary 68 Used a thurible 49 Hawaiian staple 41 Rainbox

DOWN DOWN 43 Gram weight 45 Evening in Berlin 46 Fit together 47 Emblem 70 Poly preceder 73 Kind of bath or

74 Shakespear "Hurry!" 77 Real estate nuclei
48 Plat. or plut.
51 "Me and — 80 Stirrup site 81 A.L. tenth n 83 — Magne 84 Cote noise air for Feb. 2 55 Triton 56 Constellation 60 The Panthers 61 Forecast:

clearing trend 62 Countess of a 97 Awards Im

DOWN ther Knows WHAT E ON 90 Not enough 100 Whits 182 Stigma

162 Name on the world's tallest building outlding 184 for H 165 Bills seldon 106 Loufer, e.g.

107 In Gallic har-

100 Pelican State 110 Author Flem

THE NAMELESS

By Ramsey Campbell. 230 pp. $12.95. Macmillan, 866 Third Avenue, New York 10022.

Reviewed by Michele Slung

THERE are lots of book titles that are, in themselves, works of art. I "The Doll Who Ate His Mother," by horror writer Ramsey Campbell, to be one; funny-sinister, flatly surreal, it's better than the book. Now, with his new novel, "The Name-Campbell's gone in the other direction. Not only is the unspeakable evil cult at the center of the book's web without a name, but by titling the novel after them - i.e., no name - he makes the title part of the plot. How much more do we fear things that refuse to allow us to identify them, even a book sitting on the bedside

The heroine of "The Nameless," Barbara Waugh, is an ordinary enough woman. A successful London literary agent, she does have two trasedies in her past: the heart attack death of her young husband and then the kidnapping murder of her little girl, Angela. But it is now nine years later, and she has buried her memo-nes in her work. Until one day, she picks up the phone and hears a voice call her "Mummy"; after that, she be-comes obsessed with the idea that Angela is alive and still being held captive by the people who abducted her.

Because the disembodied, girlish voice (can it really be Angela?) directs her to a house with a bricked-up gate off the Portobello Road, Barbara, despising herself for gullibility, goes there to reconnoiter. But she finds nothing to connect her with Angels, only a white-haired woman dressed in black who seems to be spying on her from the sidewalk and the abandoned, empty building itself. For one brief second, Barbara imagines someone looking at her from one of the windows; then she realizes it is only "cobwebs, lumpy with dust. She saw an edge of the gray mass slithering down the pane a moment before it sank out of sight."

The house is deserted all right, but don't breathe a sigh of relief too soon. The chilling, revolting, nerve-curdling worse is yet to come.

Campbell's two great strengths as a writer of horror fiction are his talent for not quite not describing the monstrous forces and events that propel at opening the door on bad things than he is at closing it. strous forces and events that propel his plots and his ability to blast any of the reader's lurking complacency when he does go into detail. That particular "cobweb" — gray, shapeless, menacing — appears in many gnises throughout Campbell's work. As dust, ashes, fungus, earth, fog, this always gray, always indistinct thing is a familiar of Evil and, as such, is familiar to Campbell fans. In "The Nameless" Campbell fans. In "The Nameless," the "gray mass" is more active than usual, even aggressive: "It was so quick that it had swarmed up her body and was almost at her face before she began to scream."

Names Don't Matter

What Barbara Waugh discovers in "The Nameless" is very much like what Rose Tierney discovers in Campbell's "The Parasite" or Clare Frayn in "The Doll Who Ate His Mother." She learns that a single, very powerful personality has drawn to him other, weaker people in order to gain more strength through the perpetration of atrocities. In this case "names don't matter," for the cult members are utterly stripped of their humanity, and rumors of the nameless people have them so vile as to make the Manson family "look like Disney-

The nameless have no names because they are "only the tools" of what they are doing and anything that is known about them is known because of occasional defectors who "deliberately give themselves away because they were close enough to achieving their goal to have an idea All the more reason to dread it. Campbell, by refraining from saying anything too specific, makes hapless readers, through their imaginations, into accomplices. The presence in the cult of Angela,

Barbara's daughter, is another of the many examples in Campbell's work of his fascination with the effect of evil upon good and vice versa. Her very name is symbolic of her latent power, and the cult members, recognizing this incipient force for good that might threaten their aims, steal her might threaten their aims, steal her away from home, sustituting the body of a more disposable child. Why they prefer to corrupt her rather than destroy her is one of the mysteries of the book. Perhaps it is indeed because she, though only a child, is already more powerful than they. But another mystery is where the cult, whose English members appear loathsomely scruffy (one is supposed to believe that this nameless band has existed in many countries, for many decades. many countries, for many decades, even centuries), found a "nicely dressed and beautiful spoken" man to remove Angela from the care of her nursery-school teacher.

I guess it doesn't matter, any more than it does to wonder why Campbell has Barbara feeling guilty about hav-ing put the 4-year-old Angela in school in the first place, so she could establish her career. Yet ambivalence about motherhood is a clear concern about motherhood is a clear concern of Campbell's, and, like Ira Levin before him, he sees the horrific surprise potential of pregnancy. Thus, Campbell and so many others have given us the babies of "Rosemary's Baby," and it doesn't necessarily signal misogyny. The creepiness of "The Nameless" is unassailable until the very end. I don't think it's unfair to say that dedon't think it's unfair to say that, despite his technique, Campbell is better

Michele Shing is on the staff of The Washington Post.

Auction at Old Vic Brings In £24,500

The Associated Press LONDON - Yorick's skull was sold to the highest bidder Thursday, along with a cream-colord shirt and gold-braided velvet jacket used by actor Derek Jacobi as Hamlet. It brought £120 ($230) as part of an auction of costumes and props from the now-defunct Old Vic Company.

The auction, conducted at the Old Vic Theatre by Christie's, was to help the company of the company.

pay the company's debts. Continuing financial troubles, capped by the loss of a £300,000 government grant, forced the Old Vic to close last May. About £24,500 was raised by the auction, Sold were more than 2,000 items - including wardobe pieces, wigs, swords, armor and other props. Auctioneer Christopher Elwes said: "It's a very sad occasion. We have never had to sell a theater company's wardrobe before. It is the most unusu-

COLUMN

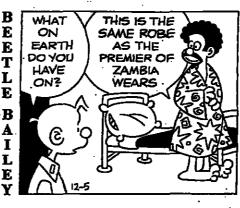

Rans

COLLIMN

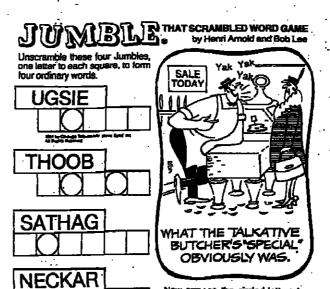

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon. Print answer here: Jumbles: CRAFT TULLE FABRIC HAPPEN Answer: "What was the name of the girl we found in the bar?"—"BERTHA"

Imprimé par P.I.O. - 1, Boulevard Ney 75018 Paris

HERE'S HIS HAT DAD NOW CAN I WATCH HIM TALK THROUGH IT?

ه کوامن برجول

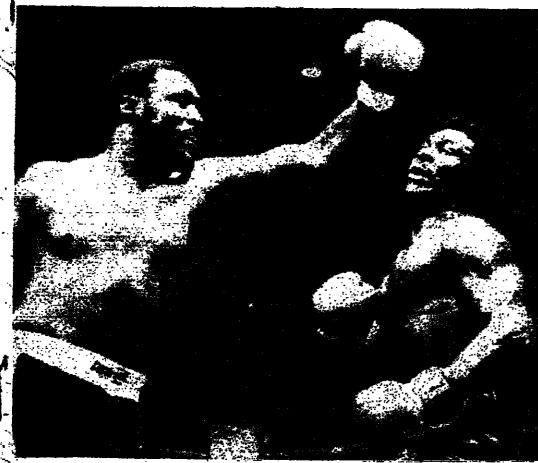

Afor Section

Mes Houston

w Therelogat

L.Sundings

The Smoke Is Gone: Frazier Struggles to a Draw

Joe Frazier had Floyd Cummings reeling after a shot to the head, but such blows were few.

Also-Rans' Mood Is Hard to Gauge

By William N. Wallace

New York Times Service NEW YORK - What kind of a game are the Scattle Scahawks pre-pared to play against the New York Jets? And what of the Baltimore Colts against Dallas, the Washington Redskins against Phil-adelphia or the New England Pa-triots against Miami?

Most difficult to estimate is the mood of a team out of contention for the playoffs late in the season when matched against a contender for one of the 10 playoff positions. Adding conjecture to the game in Seattle is the unknown ability of David Krieg, who will be starting at quarterback for the Seahawks in place of the injured Jim Zoro.

The Seahawks, the Colts, the Redskins and the Patriots are cast as the spoilers in four of Sunday's 12 games. Two first-place teams, the San Francisco 49ers and the Bengals, are matched in Cincinnati. The 49ers, winners of the National Conference's Western Division, and the Cowboys, who have clinched at least a wild-card berth in the conference, are the first two teams to have qualified for the playoffs. Previews of all sames follow, with season records in parentheses and betting lines from Harrah's

Reno Sports Book. AMERICAN CONFERENCE

New York Jets (8-4-1) at Seattle (4-9) — The Jets have to be wary of what kind of an offense Seattle may try with Krieg, the new quart-

Sub for Stabler Rallies Houston Over Cleveland

The Associated Press HOUSTON — Quarterback Gifford Nielsen, thwarted all season by injuries and the shad-ow of Ken Stabler, came off the bench to throw a 30-yard touchdown pass and the Hous-ton Oilers went on to a 17-13 National Football League victory over the Cleveland Browns on Thursday night.

Nielsen, who was to have hecome the Oilers' starting quart-erhack this season before Stabler ended a brief retire-ment, replaced Stabler after halftime with Houston behind. 6-3. He threw 30 yards to tight end Dave Casper for a touchdown to put the Oilers ahead.

Moments later, when the Browns were forced to pant for the first time rookie Aron Riley dashed in and blocked Steve Cox's punt, and Adger Armstrong scooped it up and ran 8 yards to the Browns' 3-yard line, Earl Campbell scored on a 1-yard touchdown run. The Browns, who lost for the fifth time in six games and fell to 5-0, had taken a 6-3 halltime lead on field goals of 18 and 19 yands by Matt Bahr. The Otlers, new 6-8, got a 32yard field goal by Tom Fritsch on their first series of the game.

NHL Standings

alsi conference | Diversion | 154 to 152 54 to 7 4 106 77 32 54 107 57 32 12 6 7 117 64 37 12 6 7 10 17 31 5 11 6 7 01 27 31 5 11 6 7 01 27 31 Boston e, Buffale 2 (Crement 13), Janustian (5), et que 14), Meldiche (17), Palifernic (3), (neat 16), Sacrat (4), Patropuli (7), McCourt.

moutaining a Colyary I (Harimeyet. grap (a), Lauth 2 (18), Pross. (28), Fisch-erback. But New York's considerable class should tell. Betting line:

New York by 8 points. Buffalo (8-5) at San Diego (8-5) — Joe Cribbs, the runner who means so much to the Bills, is still questionable after a week off. Roland Hooks is the capable replacement. The Chargers scored 89 points in their last two games and the shaky defense had 11 quarterback sacks. Betting line: San Diego by 4½. New England (2-11) at Miami (8-4-1) - The Dolphins are encouraged because of a strong display the defense in the last game, a significant 13-10 victory over the Eagles. The Patriots have lost their last six games and their last 13 in Miami. Matt Cavanaugh is their quarterback again with Steve Grogan hurt. Betting line: Miami by 5.

NFL PREVIEW

Kansas City (8-5) at Denver (8-5) — Steve Fuller has replaced Bill

Kenney as the quarterback for the Chiefs, who have two more firstplace teams to play after this game. Miami and Minnesota. The roncos' good defense was missing in their two recent defeats, giving up 72 points. A rookie, Dennis Smith, will be making his first start at cornerback, in place of the in-jured Louis Wright. Betting line:

Denver by 3. NATIONAL CONFERENCE

Los Angeles (5-8) at New York Giants (6-7) — The mood of the Rams is subject to conjecture after four straight defeats. The coach, Ray Malayssi, says young players will get more playing time. The Gi-ants offense has disappeared, once more. Betting line: New York by 32: points. Philadelphia (9-4) at Washington (5-8) - Six starters who had been hurt are ready to start for the Red skins, including Lemar Parrish in the secondary and Joe Washington at halfback. The Eagles need to rally after losses to the Giants and Dolphins, games in which Wilbert Montgomery could not carry the offense. Booker Russell replace the injured Hubert Oliver at full back; he is the fourth starter at that position. Betting line: Philadelphia by 414. Atlanta (7-6) at Tampa Bay (7-6) - The Fakons should by many accounts reach the playoffs with a National Conference wild-card berth. But their defense has given up 12 touchdown passes in the last three games. The Buccancers play San Diego next and then Detroit in the scramble for first in the National Conference Central. Betting line: Atlanta by 2. Detroit (7-6) at Green Bay (6-7) - With Enc Hipple as their quarterback the Lions have won five of their last seven games. Lynn Dic-key, who missed four games with a hack injury, has returned for the Packers, and his passing made a hig difference in the 35-23 victory over Minnesota. The Detroit players, whose home field is indoors and artificial, must compensate for playing outdoors in December on grass at Green Bay, Betting line; Detroit by 24.

Minnesota (7-6) at Chicago (3-10) — The Bears too can be spoilers in the National Conference Central, The Vikings had a two-game lead in their division three weeks ago and then lost twice after leading 14-0 both times.

New Orleans (4-9) at St. Louis (6-7) — Both teams have played well lately and cherish their fu-

European TV Contract Approved for Olympics

The Assumance Press SARAJEVO. Yugoslavia — The International Olympic Committee has given final approval to a $19.8-million contract for European tele-vision rights of the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles Organizing Committee had negotiated the terms with the European Broad-casting Union. The executive board of the IOC, which will 11]
U-Man - mastrop 2 (Million III. Habet 47).
Shown of 11 Article 1312 Jarves 1301, Nasion
2314 months 231
Mastromishina a. Calpary 1 Startmayer. receive part of the money, approved the contract Thursday at a meeting in Sarsjevo, where offi-cials toured compension sites for rue 1984 Winter Games. the 1984 Winter Games.

tures. The Cardinals have won their last three games with a rookie, Neil Lomax, as their quarterback. The Saints are another team accustomed to an indoor stadium playing outdoors in December. Betting line: St. Louis by 6½.

INTERCONFERENCE

Dallas (10-3) at Baltimore (1-12) The Cowboys will probably start Glenn Carano at quarterback rather than the injured Danny White. They need White for the game against the Eagles the following week. Bert Jones' status as the Colts' quarterback is questionable. David Humm, the former Raider and Bill, would be the replacement. Betting line: Dallas by 12. San Francisco (10-3) at Cincinnati (10-3) - The 49ers, with a division title, can afford to relax, and the coach, Bill Walsh, intends to play seven reserves on offense, including Guy Benjamin at quarterback rather than Joe Montana for a good part of the game. No team has played as well as the Bengals lately. They meet the Steelers in Pittsburgh the following Sunday. Betting line: Cincinnati by 6.

MONDAY NIGHT

Pittsburgh (8-5) at Oakland (6-7) - Beware the Steelers. They won their last three games impressively, the playoffs are well within their reach. The Raiders are facing a bitter foe of the past whom they have beaten in the last four meetings. Betting line: Pittsburgh by 31/2.

NFL Leaders

-	Leo	dina Posse	Ta
-	1. d	ASS, CONT.	s. Yerta A B 3143 B	W. TD
	Anderset, Cin Marian, Den		4 2612 F
7	Fouts SD	471 2
	D.White, Dal	491 22 220 11 415 24 365 27 446 24 341 11 397 23	2434 2	103 17
1	Montano, SF	475 2	1 3068 7 2 2539 6	JF 14
1	Tedd, NYJ	365 Z	2 2539	SP 19
	Bortkersk, Atl Brotshow, Pt	448 34 361 11	19 3010 A	21 D
ı	Zora. Sea	397 Z	, 2000 / 16 2788 ?	122 13
ì	Jamorski, Phi	325 21	19 2614 8 11 3068 7 12 2539 6 15 3310 7 77 2843 7 16 2517 6	J1 18
,	يمتاوديا	Pest Rece	ivers.
i		He	Yorks Av	g. TD
-	Brown, Min	7	480	LP 2 LJ 2
ľ	Citeria, S.F. Sector, Ahin	7	3 971 E 1 931 E	L 2
•	Winslow, SD		254 1	9 Y B
ì	Letten, GB	•	2 1125 14	L1 6
-	Andrews Ali		585	2
t	Lowis, Buf Newsome, Cle	5 6 6 5 5 5	1125 15 1125 15 1125 15 1125 15 1126 15 112	13 4 43 4 13 6 13 13
	Lorpent Sen	3	702 1	3 2
	Jenkins. All	Š	1169 3	12 13
	Real_Cin	5	767 1	12 $
)	Washington, Wash			L1 2
ř).abs	Ans Russia	h	_
l	G.Repers. NO	76a 29	Yards Av	L 150 L7 10
	Corsett, Del	34	1301 3	5 4
Ŀ	Campbell, Hos Sims, Det	31	1226	LT 1
Ŀ	Sims. Det	24	1197 4	9 11
•	Anderson, SfL Manipamary, Phil	24	5 1726 4 7 1721 4	13 P 19 7 19 3 15 6
t	Deteney, KC	212	7 1649 4	5 5
	Andrews Aff	233	1043 4	3 6
	Paylon, Chi	78 23	1829 5
;	Brewn, Min		154 4	U9 4
	Lea
_		iles Punter	3
) -		X44	Yerds 2017	AVE.
)	Ancinativ. Cin Skiedeny, Det	144	2617	AVE. 44.1 44.2
)	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Det Gay, Clek	144	7236 3485 3143	42
7	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Det Gay, Clek	MEA. 61 54 80 77	2612 2600 2539 3397	43 43
	Ancinativ. Cin Skiedeny, Det	Ma. 41 54 80 77 33	2612 260 2539 3317 1454	42
•	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Det Gay, Clek	Part Rate	2672 2490 2539 3317 1454	41 41 42
	Ancinativ, Cin Skiedenv, Dat Guy, Ook Jennings, NYG Comorlik, NE Leading	Part Rate	2612 260 2539 3317 1454 Thers	441 471 471 471
	Ancipasity, Cim Sidodony, Dal Guy, Ook Jestings, NYG Comprille, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD	Part Rate	2612 260 2539 3317 1454 Thers	144 471 471 471 471
	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Dat Guy, Ook Jennings, NYG Comprise, NE Landing Irvèn, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi	Part Rate	2612 2600 2539 3347 1454 Titeris Titeris 322 345 452
	Ancincity, Cin Skindowy, Dail Guy, Colt Jestings, NYG Cosportite, NE Landing Tryin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Visorito, Alia	Part Rate	2612 2600 2539 3347 1454 Titeris Titeris 322 345 452	41 41 41 41 41 41 41 41 41 41 41 41 41 4
	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Dat Guy, Colt Jennings, NYG Comprille, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Faher, Chi Vigerite, Mic Groft, NO	#6. 61 54 80 77 33 Putt Ratu #6. 17 34 22 22	2672 2690 2530 2547 1454 76473 457 245 245 245 245
1	Ancincity, Cin Skindowy, Dail Gury, Colt Jestings, NYG Cosportite, NE Landing Tryin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Yiperiko, Alia Groft, NO	#6. 61 54 80 77 33 Putt Ratu #6. 17 34 22 22	2672 2690 2597 1454 1454 1454 257 257 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245	443 441 441 441 144 144 125 125
	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Dat Guy, Ook Jennings, NYG Comprille, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fister, Chi Vigerito, Alle Groth, NO Landing I	Ma., 41 54 59 77 39 9 Parti Ratu Ma. 34 17 34 28 Clickell Rate Ma.	2672 2690 2597 1454 1454 1454 257 257 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245	443 441 441 441 153 144 177 183 170
1	Ancincity, Cin Skindomy, Dat Gury, Cott Jestings, NYG Cosportite, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Neims, Vise Reportes, May	His., 411, 451, 451, 451, 451, 451, 451, 451	2672 2690 2597 1454 1454 1454 257 257 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245 245	441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441
1	Ancincity, Cin Skindomy, Dat Gury, Cott Jestings, NYG Cosportite, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Neims, Vise Reportes, May	Ma., 41 54 59 77 39 9 Parti Ratu Ma. 34 17 34 28 Clickell Rate Ma.	2672 2600 2509 2509 2509 1651 1651 1651 252 245 245 245 245 246 246 247 248 249 249 249 249 249 249 249 249 249 249	443 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441
1	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Dat Guy, Ook Jennings, NYG Comprille, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fister, Chi Vigerito, Alle Groth, NO Landing I	Ma., 411 54 80 77 33 9 Partit Rodius Ma., 34 17 34 28 Clickoff Bank, 51 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21 21	2672 2690 2397 1454 TRIPES 357 452 345 345 345 345 345 345 345 345 345 345	441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 441
	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Dat Guy, Ook Jennings, NYG Comprist, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J. Fleter, Chi Vigerito, Mia Groft, NO Landing I Maine, Mos Rooches, Mos Landing, SA Hostour, Asia Tutlis, Plou	Ma. 480. 480 977 323 9 Powell Reads 344 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325	2012 2009 307 1651 1661 1661 202 202 202 203 203 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204	443 441 441 144 153 144 173 173 173 247 247 247
	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Dat Guy, Ook Jennings, NYG Comprist, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J. Fleter, Chi Vigerito, Mia Groft, NO Landing I Maine, Mos Rooches, Mos Landing, SA Hostour, Asia Tutlis, Plou	Ma. 480. 480 977 323 9 Powell Reads 344 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325	2012 2009 307 1651 1661 1661 202 202 202 203 203 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204	443 441 441 144 153 144 173 173 173 247 247 247
	Ancinesty, Cin Skiedeny, Dat Guy, Ook Jennings, NYG Comprist, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J. Fleter, Chi Vigerito, Mia Groft, NO Landing I Maine, Mos Rooches, Mos Landing, SA Hostour, Asia Tutlis, Plou	Ma. 480. 480 977 323 9 Powell Reads 344 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325 325	2012 2009 307 1651 1661 1661 202 202 202 203 203 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204 204	443 441 441 144 153 144 173 173 173 247 247 247
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	2012 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000	443 441 441 144 153 144 173 173 173 247 247 247
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	THE STATE OF THE S	443 441 441 144 153 144 173 173 173 247 247 247
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200	443 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 123 123 123 123 207 207
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200	443 443 441 441 441 441 1144 1123 1128 441 277 277 217 247
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	TOTAL SERVICE STATE SERVICE SE	443 443 441 441 441 441 1144 1123 1128 441 277 277 217 247
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200 200	443 443 441 441 441 441 1144 1123 1128 441 277 277 217 247
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	262 269 269 269 269 269 269 269 269 269	443 443 441 441 441 441 1144 1123 1128 441 277 277 217 247
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	262 269 269 269 269 269 269 269 269 269	443 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 123 123 123 123 207 207
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Power Reference State St	262 269 269 269 269 269 269 269 269 269	442 441 441 441 441 441 441 441 144 173 173 207 207 207
	Ancincity, Cin Skindony, Dail Guy, Goit Jennings, NYG Cosnorlik, NE Landing Irvin, LA Brooks, SD J.Fisher, Chi Vigerito, Alia Groft, NO Landing Inches, Was Inches, Hee Learnestos, SF Visitor, Alia Turlis, Hou	Ma. 41 45 46 47 73 7 Post Reine 34 34 38 36 Gickell Rein 46 47 37 38 39 Gickell Rein 48 48 48 48 48 48 48 48 48 4	2012 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000 2000	443 443 441 441 441 441 123 123 123 123 123 123 123 123 123 12

Maker. Mg Tullis, Hou	32 38	471	2U 2U
NBA Standings
EAUTERN CONFERENCE Affantic Division
Philodyletia Teston New York Woshington New Jersey	W L 14 3 7 9 7 9 7 9 7 9 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	PG. 255 254 437 313 238	0± - 7 †
Central Di Attimation Attimation Indiana Deficial Chicago Clovelanti	Minima		11/2 21/2 5
. WESTERN COM	~ =		4-7
	W L 5 4 7 8 8 4 12 5 11 2 15	Pci. -7% -533 -530 -533 -233 -233	2 3 30 40 40
Pacific Di	wisies		-
Las Acteries Phannis Section Guiden State Son Divers	12 4 13 4 10 5 7 4 7 7 5 11	78 44 40 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50 50	70 100 100 1
Thursday's Comis Son Dispo 111, Dulles 111 (P. Smile 2s, White- buot 28, Williams St. Hallette 3s, LuGarde 181. Photolis 127, Delver 187 (Hones 2t, Rassesson

By George Vecsey
New York Times Service

CHICAGO — Joe Frazier's Wrecking Machine sputtered and lurched, but in the end the former heavyweight champion's comeback dreams were foiled by a 10-round draw decision against Floyd (Jumbo) Cummings after a five-and-a-half-year layoff.

After the fight Thursday night, Frazier said he wants to fight again in "two or three months," but a state boxing official said Illinois would turn him down if he applied for a fight here.

With both judges calling the fight a draw, and the referee, Nate Morgan, the man closest to the action, giving Cummings a 46-45 edge, Frazier survived to talk of fighting again.

"I got some bumps and bruises but I ain't hurt," Frazier said later. "You can get beat up worse in the streets of New York and you don't get nothing for it. I want some of those top-10 guys but they don't want me."

Only Punishing Round

Cummings staggered Frazier in the eighth round, the only onesided and punishing round for ei-ther man. The 30-year-old unranked Cummings, who spent 12 years in Illinois state prisons as an accessory to a murder, said: "I was robbed. The least they could have done was give me my propers. I hurt Joe Frazier seven of eight times and he never hurt me."

Although the two judges called the fight a draw, Nick Karasiotis, the executive secretary of the Illi-nois Athletic Board, said of Frazier: "I think the man should quit right now. He wasn't in shape to fight. We wouldn't want Smokin' Joe back. Maybe he proved some-thing to himself against a man who isn't even ranked.

"The fight was close. I had hoped for a close fight. Joe got hurt two or three times. We don't want to encourage anyone to fight. If he applied to fight again here, we would try to turn him down." Frazier, who is nearly 38, said he was attempting a comeback because "I always need more money" and because "I have too much energy to waste." He had not fought since June 15, 1976, when George Foreman, then the heavyweight champion, knocked him out in the fifth round.

A Layer of Flab

On Thursday night he entered the ring with a glaring intensity, but with a layer of flab on his chest and midsection, he was far from the Smokin' Joe of a decade ago. "Five years," he shouted in his dressing room after the fight. "I

UCLA Reported To Face Sanctions From the NCAA

Los Angeles Times Seroce LOS ANGELES - Sources close to the UCLA athletic prosay the National Colleg Athletic Association has placed the school on probation for two years and banned it from partici-pating in the NCAA basketball tournament next spring.

But none of UCLA's teams has been banned from appearing on television or in other post-season events, the sources said. The sources — influential alumni and UCLA boosters who asked not to be identified - said the basketball team would be eligible for the 1983 NCAA tournament, in the second year of the probation. [UCLA Athletic Director Bob Fischer said Thursday the report is "speculation," and said there is some truth to it, some untruths,"

The Associated Press reported.] The NCAA reported Tuesday that it had completed an investiga-tion of the UCLA athletic program, but neither it nor the school would comment on the findings. UCLA has the option of an appeal within 15 days. The sources said the allegations involved only the basketball and football teams and were numerous but not major.

Rutgers Scores Upset

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Clarence Tillman and Roy Hinson combined for 31 points Thursday night and led a second-half rally that carried Rungers to a 57-54 upset of UCLA. It was the Bruins' second loss in three games this season.
Rutgers trailed 33-21 at halftime but outscored UCLA 16-2 at the start of the second half.

Transactions

Mattend Ladges
LOS ANGELES DODGERSlendov.outileider, to a one-year contract PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES—Nathed BASKETBALL

National Busharings Association CLEVELAND CAVALIERS—Fired Data Delta od czach while rytakine him ex Sahar er: Norsed Bab (Consenbers, Meldan her in hadd goots with remains risin as well as it manager. Homes Bob Clauseshpert, delicited coots, as interior most coots. LOS ANGELES LAKE RE-Morred BUI Bertis traitated coots thelactive Jerry Wad, who returned to the Frest efficie. Announced that Policites Jerry Wad, who returned to the Frest efficie. Announced that Policites Jerry Wad, who returned to the Frest efficie. Announced that Policites Jerry Wad, who returned to the Policites Jerry Wad, who returned to the Policites with the Policites and Policites with the Policites Wad.

red of the secson.

FOOTSALL

Neglecul Feether! Langua

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS—Stand Herb Willers, developed Feether!

SAN FRANCISCO Stars—Floorid Pelo Konfer.

Internation on the Internation on the International Conference (Int.

LCI voted Alian Kannedy, 1800s. HOCKEY

Highwat trectory Labour

SY, LOUIS SLUES—Auctional Jan Mellon,
Tight whee Addis Labour, carber; and hell Labutte, defensement, to Salt Labo of the Cantral

SOCCER Nayth Alterlices Sector Lawyes DS—Superi Helsi Marain, salas the indeer second. SAN DIEGO SOCKERS—Signed Ade Johan, propre, and Visti Farmendet, midfletter TORON TO BLIZZARD-Hamed proved to myself I could go 10 rounds."

Morey and sen-development post. English League Third Division. PRESTON NORTH END—Fired Temrey De-merty, manager. Horsed Ann Kelly Inferior COLLEGE MORTH CARDLINA STATE—Associated the residentials of Dick Austr. God Trains and Dove Suckey, naphtern football concres.

With his 21-year-old son, Marvis, acting as his trainer in the corner, the old champion had little left from the battering ram who used to plow straight ahead, take the best punches, and wear down the opponent.

Frazier entered the ring jawing at Cummings, but he was less aggressive once the fight began. He threw a few hard left hooks from memory, but too often bobbed and weaved an arm's length from Cummings — hardly the Smokin' Joe tactics of old. Cummings, who has a magnificent set of muscles developed in 12 years in Stateville Prison, was able to shove and clinch without being pushed back.

Looking to the Future

Frazier's best round was the fifth, when he threw a good left book. Cummings stuck out his tongue in defiance, and Frazier threw a hard right to Cummings' head. The crowd chanted "Joe-Joewhen the sixth round began, but Frazier could never mount anything like that again. After Cummings belted Frazier in a neutral corner in the eighth, the former champion did not try any ma-jor offensives in the final two

But will Frazier fight again? Marvis Frazier cast his eyes down-ward when asked about the result and said, "I thought it was close. We'll have to talk about it, the whole family, like we did before. I was very impressed. Everybody called him an old man."

The fight took place in the dismal International Amphithea-tre, hard by the Chicago stockyards - a setting far from the glamorous arenas where Smokin' Joe once won and defended and lost his title. The attendance was estimated at 6,500, far better than had seemed likely a day earlier.

Frazier decided on the comeback several months ago, against the advice of most of his friends and boxing associates, who claimed he had lost much of his absorbent power in losing three of his final five fights. No television network or major promoter would touch a Frazier fight, and it was eventually promoted by Bill Coo-ley, a Minnesota land developer. The Illinois Athletic Board licensed the fight on the theory that "you can't tell people what to do," as Karasiotis put it last week. The board even waived its right to conduct extensive physical tests of Frazier. Frazier and Cummings each passed a brief physical scrutiny at noon Thursday in the offices of the Illinois Athletic Board, Dr. Jorge Tovar, the board's physician, termed the examination "superficial" after administering it, but said he saw no reason why Frazier should not fight.

Irene Epple during one of her giant slalom runs on Friday.

Irene Epple Takes Giant Slalom

By Nick Stout

New York Times Service VAL D'ISERE, France - When Irene Epple of West Germany skied across the finish line here Friday, she looked up and saw the outstretched hand of her younger sister, Maria, who had swerved around the steep and icy giant slalom course inst moments before.

Since Irene Epple had not yet looked back at the clock, she was not aware of having won the inau-gural race of the World Cup season. Her jump for joy at complet-ing the handclasp indicated that good news was delivered at

To win she had to outdo the reigning slalom and giant slalom champions, but few spectators were surprised at her triumph, because it was Irene Epple who won this race a year ago.

Hess is Runner-Up

Erika Hess of Switzerland, the World Cup slalom champion, was the runner-up, 67 hundredths of a second behind, and Tamara McKinney of the United States, best in giant slalom last winter, finished third, slightly more than a second back. Pernine Pelen of France was fourth, and Maria Epple was fifth.

Both the morning and afternoon heats were run along a 2,680-meter course that dropped 302 meters. Racers were required to weave through 50 gates in the first run and 48 in the second. Irene Epple, 24, was first in both heats, posting a composite time of 2 minutes. 30.24 seconds. But she acknowledged some surprise at having won in the afternoon.

"In the second run I really fought it," she said. "I made a mistake at the start and tried to make it up. I thought I lost some time there. The course was quite tight, and I don't like tight courses. But I was quite confident after the first

McKinney, whose giant slalom championship last winter has transformed the disposition of the entire U.S. women's team, savored a few moments as the morning front-runner before she was overtaken by Epple. She went into the afternoon heat as the runner-up, with a reasonable chance of making up the lost time and winning the race. But it was Hess who was able to put the second heat to her advantage, moving from fourth place into second.

"I'm not disappointed with fin-ishing third," McKinney said. "I felt I could have skied better, and I'm happy that I can feel that way and still finish third," Her maturity at age 19 was evident when she was overheard saying to a teammate, "My theory is not to get mad at myself for making mistakes. A lot of people make mistakes."

As for her assessment of Friday's race, McKinney said: "The course was irregular and rough. and near the finish it was soft, so it was important to remember where the snow began and to ride the ruts and not dig in so much." It was certain that she lost time at the bottom because her clocking at the intermediate point was the best of the afternoon "I was fighting but not accomplishing much except tiring myself out more," she said.

The reaction from the top was less critical. "Any time you finish in the top three yon've got to be pleased," said Bill Marolt, the U.S. Alpine program director. "It shows that our summer training program has been on schedule."

McKinney said she was relieved to have the first race behind her, and when someone offered that she had broken the ice, the skier replied: "Yes, literally." She explained that the course was indeed 'chattery" in many places. After McKinney had finished her morning performance and had taken off skis, Marolt leaned over her shoulder and said something close to her ear.

When asked later what the boss had to say, McKinney responded: "Oh, his usual samous quote: 'What a way to charge!'

WOMEN'S GIANT SLALOM
1. Irene Epple. West Germany, 2:3024.
2. Erika Hess. Switzerland, 2:30.91.
3. Tomora McKinney, U.S., 2:31.29. 4, Perrine Pelen, France, 2:31.56. Maria Epple, West Germany, 2:31,72. Morio-Rose Querio, Hely, 2: 12.39 7. (1te) Foblishne Serrot, France, 2:3 Fraula Kotzett, Llechtenstein, 2:33.0. 9. Hanni Wenzel, Liechtenstein, 2:33.23. 10. Efisabeth Kirchler, Augstria, 2:33.83. oce. 2:33.10. one 11. Element Fernandez-Ochaa, Spoin, 2:34.24. 12. Christin Cooper, U.S. 2:34.41. 13. Christia Kinshofer, West Germany, 2:35.24.

14. Daniela Zina, Holy, 2:35.33,

AUTOS TAX FREE	CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS
TAX FREE CARS	CHASSIFIED ADVERTISMANTS
Largest inventory in Europe. European, Japanese and American cars. All brand new. Same day delivery and transit registration.	(Cont	inued from Back	: Page)
P.C.T. Export International 604, Bradaboon - 2050 Merisens- Antwerp-Balgrum. Tel: 031/46.50.15 or	SERVICES	HOTELS	HOTELS
46.50.31 or 46.70.91. The 35546.	YOUNG INT'L INTERPRETER excellent presentation, English, French, German, Indian, Call Paris 633 97 88.	RESTAURANTS NIGHT CLUBS	RESTAURANTS NIGHT CLUBS
TAX FREE CARS	VP WELCOME Interpreter-tourist	FRANCE	TISA.
ALL MAKES & MODELS	guide (4 languages), Limousine avail- oble. Call Para. 798 94 84.		TUDOR HOTEL 304 East 42nd St., New with Swits Scence plotus.	PR YOUNG LADY, trilingual, excellent appearance. Paris 527 0193.	Ave. E. Zolo, 1-2-3 room: flats, both,	York City. In fashionable, East Side Manhattan, 1/2 block from UN. Single
RANFY MOTORS INC.	PARIS-YOUNG LADY PR. Excellent appearance, muhilingual 553 62 62.	lotchen, fridge. 577 72 00.	from $48; doubles from $60. Telex: 422951. Tel: 800-522-7558
1290 Geneva-Versoix, 89 route Suisse Tel: 022/55 44 43, Telex 28279	TOURIST GUIDE INTERPRETER. In Page 181721 3472.	GREAT BRITAIN
or 289-07	BUSINESS INTERPRETER and tourism		FOR SALE & WANTED
	goide. Paris 774 75 65.	GORE HOTEL, LONDON, a great fo-	DESE TO DEPARTMENT CO

GORE HOTEL, LONDON, a great fo-vorite with the discriminating investier. 10 mmutes West End. All rooms with color TV, bathroom, radio, stelephone. Singles from £21.00. Doubles from £28.00. Tel- 524 66 01. Teles $86671 prefor Gore, 189 Queen's Gate, Lon-don SW7. DUE TO DEPARTURE. For sole complete furnium. 2 bedrooms, iving room, kitchen equipment. Excellent condition. F75.000 negotioble. Coll. Paris 723 68 34 between 9 & 11 c.m. LEGAL SERVICES All U.S. COURTS - HAGUE, N.L. Tri-ok, finance; all marters, integrity. In Who't Who in America. Floeri Ger-man - int'l classice. Wilson Bogs. P.C., State Tower Bidg., Syncause, NY 13202. Tel: 315-471-572. (Jonuary 22 is the lost date for fixing orbitration of ITALY 13.02. 16: 415-47 (-3.22) (orbitary 2 is the lost date for Ring critication of Ironian claims before the Hogu count)
US IMMIGRATION & VISA matters
Law Office Edward S. Gudaon, P.C.
2 Poll Mail, London 5W1: 930 6451

ANTIQUES IDAICA, SASSOON, early world & Palestine maps. 01-455 4931 London. LOW COST FLIGHTS

ESCORTS & GUIDES

INTERNATIONAL

ESCORT SERVICE

AND PECMICITIONS
N.Y. - U.S.A.
Trovel copywhere with makkinguel excerts.
Moler Crude Recognised.
212-765-7896 or 765-7754.
330 W. 566 St., N.Y., N.Y., Deeded.
Intermoppinal Excerts receded.

CAPRICE

ESCORT SERVICE

IN NEW YORK

TEL: 212-737 3291.

L'ELEGANCE

ESCORT SERVICE

NEW YORK

TEL: 212-563-0322

LONDON

ZUROL VP ESCORT SERVICE Tel: 057/5 1876; 11:30am . ipm & ut 6pm

AUSTRALIA/NZ from London, Contect the specialist. REHO Trovel, 15 New Caford Sr [11] 405 8956/404 4944 WOREDWINDE LOW COST FISICHTS. Reductions on Test class trovel. EURO-CHECK, Tel-London [11] 540-6341. PAN AM & FAME respons for world-SERVICES PR/INTERPRETER & TOURISM GUIDE Pleasant presentation. English/French Para 562 QS 87. PAN AM Y FARE exposes for world-wide flights. USA #202789-0094 TO USA or WORLDWIDE, control your US travel agent, Fars 225 12 39.

BEINGUAL BUSINESS & traveling constant, Tel: 500 58 17 Paris. ESCORTS & GUIDES

TRANSCO

TAX FREE CARS
LARGEST STOCK IN EUROPE
Send for free catalog & stock let: 95
Noorderloom, 2000 Antwerp, Belgium.
Tel: 031-426740. Tbr: 35207 TRANS-E.

EXCLUSIVE CARS life Mercedes, Rolls Ferrari, Forshos, of once ovaliable, SN-CARS, 7250 Leonburg, Germany, Tel. 7152 / 48164 Telex 7245739.

BOATS AND RECREATIONAL

VEHICLES

PETRISON 46 fr. Curter fully equipped world cruiser. US$ 100,000. Tel: 679 34 37, Vetera, V. Dandolo 62 Rome

 CONTACTA INTERNATIONAL «
 Except Service in Europe: RNANY: 06103-86122 Frankfart - Wissboden - Moinz -Cologne - Bont - Dusseldorf -Serlin - Manich - Hemburg.

SMITZERLAND: 0049-6103-86122 Zurich - Bosel - Lucerne - Berne -Loutenne - Geneve. 0049-6103-86122 HOLLAND:

ENGLAND: 07-628 7969 LONDON OTHER SEC CAPITALS
Tel: Germany 0-6103-86122 A-AMERICAN ESCORT SERVICE . ESCORTS NY &

EVERYWHERE YOU ARE--OR GO America-Transworld 212-591-2934 212-461-6091 212-961-1945 Gets, be on escart. Call or write POI 176, Fresh Meadows, NY 11365, USA

NEW YORK CTTY

7.7838-8027

& 212-753-1864.

SCARLET REGENCY - USA WORLDWIDE MULTUNGUAL ESCORT SERVICE

ESCORT AGENCY TEL: (01) 402 5346 LONDON WALDORF

CHRISTMAS GIFTS HOTEL LA FENECE et des Aristes. Pro-ferred for its unique entresphere, hou-urious comfort, but moderate prices. Necr Theotre La Ferrice, 5 mins welli-ag distance from 51, Morco Squara In Reservotices, Tel. 41 3223 Venica To 11 41 1150 Ferrice. Manager Dente Apol-tonio. Glassware. 19th c. to contemporary FERTIGE 20 rue de l'Estrautes foris 6th. Tel: 325 36 62. Daily till 8 p.m.

SWITZERLAND GENEVA RESIDENCE DE FRANCE

4 Ave. de France, CH-1202 Geneva 1et 001 22/31,142,9

Becuffel, first class, air-conditioned, residential furnished aportaness and studios. Felly equipped latchen, doily mod service.

Weekly and monthly roles.

Excellent location.

CACHET U.S.A.

ESCORT SERVICE NEW YORK 212-342-0838 or 212-874-1310 MAN, FORDA 305-942-5683 FILAUDERDALE, FLA. 305-942-5477

Other major cities available.

LONDON

Portman Escort Agency

67 Chittern Street, Landon WT TEL: 486 3724 or 486 1152

LONDON

BELGRAVIA

Escort Service tel: 736 5877.

LONDON

PARK LANE

ESCORT AGENCY Tel: 231 1158 or 231 88 18.

ZURICH

Vanessa Escort Service

Tel: 01/47 02 12 - 69 22 45

Zurich - Geneva

que Escort and Guide Ser MALE AND FEMALE Tel: 01/361 90 00

GENEVA. CHARLENE GUIDE 201102 Tel: 20:29:35.

COPRESAGEN ESCORT SERVICE.

SEND THEM A GET that stey? open & open again! Winsky, cognoc, were or champogne, DENK LINK. Tek London (31) 834 9090. Open 7 days a week until 10 pm. GdTs to Britan, Europe, USA & Australia. Pay by thone. ANYTHEM FOR A LAUGH! Fun presents for all your depressed friends from 99p - £99! Conse to KNUTT-9,930pm - 11,30pm, Mon, to Sat. 1 Russell St, Covent Gorden, Landon. ESCORTS & GUIDES

ARTS WORKS OF ART. We store, restore, research, insure or sell on your behalf. Confiderated. Suite 179, 207 E. 85 St., New York, N.Y. 10028, USA

ESCORTS & GUIDES LA VENTURA

ESCORT SERVICE

N.Y.C. 212-888-1666 LONDON MAYFAIR ESCORT SERVICE Tel: (01) 408 0283

London Trafaigar Escort Service Tel: (1) 834 7251.

LONDON TOWN Tel: 752 7132

LONDON CLASSICS

ESCORT AGENCY TEL: 794 5218 / 794 2901 AMSTERDAM ESCORT GUIDE SERVICE Tel: 247731.

LONDON - CHEISEA GUEL Escart Service, 51 Beauchamp Place, London SW3. Tel: 01 584 6513/2/49, 4-12 pcs.

AMSTERDAM

Holland Escort Service. Prione: 852257. EEC. - CAPITALS ervice. Germany 0/7851-5719

LONDON ORIENTAL Except Service. Tel: 794 4637.

LONDON EXECUTIVE CLASS Excert Service. Tel 262 3168 LONDON JACOLIEUNE Excert Service. Tel: 402.7947.

BOOKS BRITISH BOOKSHOP WELCOMES you. Come either in person or sens your mail order. We offer a wide se tection of British/American books falso children's). We also sell all British toon-ist publications, med order service within Germany. Tel: 280492, Boer-senstr. 17, D-6 Frankfurt. EDUCATION

EMERSON COLLEGE, Sommer Schools 32. After a successful beginning last year we again offer firms programs. Discovering the Human Spirit and The Spirit of English. August 1st to 15th. Ethication in Steiner Schools, Aug 2nd to 10th. Full details in February, writes Secretary, Summer Schools, Dapt I, Emerson College, Forest Row, Sussex, England.

SEA PINES ABROAD American Proparatory School in the Solutions Alex. Co-ed, grades 9-12 Boarding, travel. High condemics. Catalog, Write: Sea Frest Abroad, 5324 Faistenau, Salutions, Austria.

SPANISH COURSES IN MALAGA
SPAIN, all grades, small groups; 4 hours daily, courses commercing each month. Living with Spanish fermines or in small aporthrents. Writer Centro de Estudios de Espanol, Ava. J.S. Bloomo, 110, Natioga.
INTENSIVE SPANISH on COSTA del
SOL Audio-visual fat 8 accommodation available. Groups of seven. Accdemin. Oxford. Cricamedica, 11, Mchaga, Span. Tet. 21 23 09.
DIFLOMA/DEGREE in interior design.
Correspondence course. Details, Oopt.
HT, Rhodec International, BCM/Rhodec, London WCIN 30CUK.
FRIVATE BNGLISH/FRESNCH lessons, quality professor. Paris 251 65 41

PEN PALS GIRLS AND GUYS oil continents want pen pols Details free Hermes Verlog, Box 110660/N, D-1000 Seriin 11, West Germany.

ESCORTS & GUIDES GENEVA V.I.P. Excert Service Noon to midnight. Tel: 41 20 36

LONDON ZARA Escort Agency, London, Hechtrow & Gotwick creas. Tel: 51 579 8038.

HEATHROW EXECUTIVE ESCORTS
Also London Reading & Oxford Tel: 0452 23146 PRANKTERT ESCORT AGENCY TEL 001-071653 PRANKTERT ESCORT AGENCY TEL 001-071653 VENNA - EXCLUSIVE Excert Service.
Tel: 47-74-61.
SKUSSELE: Annual Control of the Tel: 47-74-61.

PRUSSES: DIANA ESCORT SERVICE.
Tel: 640-49-31.

MADRID 11A ESCORT SERVICE. Tel:
MADRID 14A ESCORT SERVICE. Tel:
MADRID RUTH ESCORT SERVICE Tel:
247-30-21 - 242-27-92.

THESSES POWER SECORT SERVICE. Tel: 247 30 21 - 242 27 92.

DUESSEDORF SECORT SERVICE: Tel:
0211-02405.

FRANCY, ET.:
STREET SECOT SERVICE: Tel:
0211-02405.

FRANCY, ET.:
STREET SECOT SERVICE: 0611/282728.

DUESSEDORF-COLOGNE:
English Excert Agency: 0211/38 21 41.

ZURICH-BASEL-GENEYA. Omega
Excert Service: 0049-6103-82048.

MUNICH - LONDON - STAR Excerts,
Monich 311 7900 London 285 3-690

ENABRIERT - KADEN Front Service
ENABRIERT - KADEN Front Service. FRANKFURT - KAREN Tel: 0611-681662

FRANKFURT ESCORT SERVICE Near Frankfurt Arport 06171-73908. HAMBURG ESCORT SERVICE. Tel: 040/45 65 C1. PRANKFURT. SYBILL ESCORT Service Tel: 0611-417480. CONDON KENSINGTON Exart Agen-cy, Loadon 231 83/8/231 1158 CONDON ALANA ESCORT SERVICE Tel London 937 8621. ENGLISH ESCORT SERVICE.
London SEI SEI ESCORT SERVICE.
Tel: 01 402 0223.

LONDON REDY Exact Service. Tel. (1) 883 (187).

AMSTERDAMS IR Essent Service.

20025 Belle Westingenbrook 3 - 5.

COPENHAGEN ESCORT SERVICE.

Tel. (1) 19 70 32

Art Buchwald

A Visit to the Folks

WASHINGTON - I went over to see Harvey Dunlap during the Thanksgiving holidays and pay my respects to his kids, who were home from school.

Max was eating breakfast, Chris was eating lunch and Dottie was holding hands with her boyfriend. I'd never seen Dunlap so happy.

This is the first time since they've been home that we've had this many at the table at the same time.

"Who is that down at the end?" "That's someone Dougie Buchwald brought from school. I think her name is Anna, and she's from Brazil. Do you speak Portuguese? "No. Where's Dougle?"

"He's upstairs sleeping. I have an appointment to see him at "An appointment?" I said.

"Yes. You see, Dougie said he would be so busy this weekend it would be best for us to make an appointment with him. He worked Edna and me in for 5 o'clock." "That's damn decent of him," I said. "Most college kids aren't that thoughtful."

"Well, as you know, Dougie is studying to be a doctor, and he probably got the idea from that." * * * "You want to go to a movie?" I asked Dunlap.

"I'd like to, but I don't know what the kids are doing yet, and I can't walk out on them in case they decide to stay home." When will you know?" "I'm not sure. They never can tell you until the last moment."

Widow Wills $200,000 To Buy Mystery Novels

SACRAMENTO — A 70-year-old widow has left $200,000 to the municipal library system so it could buy more mystery novels.

Bernice Horne Moore, who read as many as six mysteries a week, died Nov. 18 and left her entire $200,000 estate to the library system. She directed a trust fund be established for the library to buy "novels and, particularly, mysteries and novels of suspense."

"Why don't you take a head count in the morning as to who will be eating dinner at night?" I suggested.

"We tried that yesterday. Everybody said they would be home for dinner, but as the day progressed they kept peeling off, because they had gotten a better offer. In the end there were only three of us — Edna, myself and Anna.

"Dougie left Anna at home?"
"He had a date with his pals from high school, and told Anna she'd be bored." * * *

"Max looks good," I said. "Come to think of it, he does. This is the first time I've seen him since he got home." Wasn't he at your Thanksgiving dinner?" "He was going to Florida with a friend, but at the last moment the friend decided to go to Aspen, so he drove home and missed our turkey by a day."

"How long is he going to stay?"
"He says either until tonight, tomorrow or Monday, depending on some friends he's waiting to hear from in Vermont."

"It must be hard for you and Edna to make plans when no one is quite sure what they're up to. Where is Edna?"

"She's out in the kitchen cooking a roast beef just in case anyone decides to stay home." "Has she seen the kids yet?"

"Yes and no. I believe they kissed her when they arrived, and she caught sight of two of them coming home this morning at 7 o'clock. But I think the only extended conversation she had was when she asked who took her car

"If I were you," I said, "I'd make them sign up on a schedule indicating when they were arriving, how many friends they were bringing home, how many meals they were planning to have, and when their flights were leaving. As a parent you have a right to know that much about your children."

"We had that information when they came — but no one stuck to the schedule."

"So forget about them and do what you want to do." "We announced that yesterday, and Chris said, 'If all you and Mom are going to do is go out, I don't see why we came home in the first place."

© 1981, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Shaw's Tune

By Donal Henahan New York Times Service

NEW YORK — "I could make deaf stockbrokers read my two pages on music," Shaw once bragged, and he was right. That his music criticism, every scrap of it, has been pulled together into one edition for the first time is not only unfair but an embarrassment to the whole reviewing clan. But, as Shaw himself observed when he was accused of being unfair, only God is fair. He was content, as any critic should be, with arousing his readers and engaging them in lively discussion about serious matters.

Perhaps because so many generations of callow critics have tried to ape his prose mannerisms, Shaw has sometimes been dismissed by musicians as a clev-er impostor. In fact, his posturing was a ruse, behind the Mephistophelian facade was a serious, musically knowledgeable critic who combined an irresistible buoyancy of spirit with a born comedian's ability to force a smile out of a tax inspector. And, for all the stage-Irishman blarney and sarcastic banter, he was not mean-spirited. He did not think, apparently, that it was necessary to be rude - merely witty, clear and right

Report on Liszt

On Feb. 15, 1885, for instance, the 29-year-old critic reported in The Dramatic Review that he had heard a new work by Liszt, the "Dante" Symphony, and found it "shallowly conceived and detestably expressed." Here is the novice poking poor Liszt in the ribs and doing a virtuoso turn on the music's hollowness: "It is hard to say what the characteristics of Dante's Hell are. Turmoil, hurry, incessant movement, fire, roaring wind, and utter discomfort are there; but so they are also in a London house when the kitchen chimney is on fire. . . . I am seriously of the opinion that if the symphony were dubbed anew The Conflagration, and a careful analytical program comriled, assigning the various epi-sodes of the allegro to The Alarm, The Fire Gaining Ground, Awakening of the In-mates and their Flight, Gather-ing of the Crowder of Firemen Engines, Exertions of Firemen Mob, with the Falling In of the Roof as a climax, not one of the audience would perceive the slightest incongruity between the music and the subject."

That is using Niagara Falls to put out a campfire, perhaps, but most modern criticism would uphold Shaw on the worth of "Dante." In fact, despite his lingering reputation in some circles as a flippant writer who knew less than everything about music, Shaw turns out to have been an amazingly solid critic. He did indeed offend many readers, since he made his points with more wit and force than the Eng-lish musical community of his day considered in good taste.

Taste and Cowardice

As Shaw himself put it, taste is often used as a synonym for moral cowardice. As a young critic, he had set out to change the climate of discussion, and on balance he succeeded better than any one writer could have hoped to do. "Musical criticisms, like sermons," be said, "are of low average quality simply because they are never discussed or contradict-

How he wrote as well as he did will never be quite clear. His own account of his early years as a critic is not entirely trustworthy, according to Dan H. Laurence's otherwise idolatrous introduction to a three-volume, 2,855-page collection - "Shaw's Musi published by Dodd, Mead & Co. ($150). But, as this invaluable collection shows, Shaw found his voice as a writer remarkably early, though not quite in the cradle as he liked to pretend. Many writers need the better half of a career to find any voice at all, let alone a voice that they can recognize as their own and not some laboriously acquired patchwork of literary tics and mannerisms. As Shaw observes in admonishing one letter writer with a pretentiously murky style, most people use language chiefly to conceal their deepest thoughts.

Shaw's voice, however, is already sounding recognizably, although circumspectly, in unsigned notices that were appearing in The Hornet, The Dramatic Review, the Pall Mall Gazette and other British publications for a dozen years before he became the first-string critic of The Star and adopted his famous pseudonym, Corno di Bassetto. Lanrence, the Shavian apostle who oversaw this complete edition. found more than 150 reviews and articles, amounting to some 125,000 words, that had not appeared in any previously published collection. Some are little more than barrel scrapings, but many are pieces of considerable size and interest. To be sure, Shaw dug himself many a hole and fell into it, especially in his cub days. He under-rated "Falstaff" and most Italian opera, probably knowingly, as a way to elevate Wagner's reputation in England, which was surprisingly late in catching Bay-reuth fever. But he was not afraid to champion Mayerbeer, in defiance of the decree from Bayreuth that the composer of "Les Hugnenots" was a Jew unacceptable in the realms of art. He despised Gounod, refering to him as "the French Mendelssohn," but he carried on a lifelong campaign in favor of the now-submerged Hermann Götz, whose "The Taming of the Shrew" he considered the greatest comic opera of the 19th century.

Here he is being arrogant; perhaps only a drama critic would say he was being ignorant: "I suppose no one will deny the right of the fully accomplished musical critic to look down upon the mere dramatic critic as something between an unskilled laborer and a journeyman. I have often taken a turn at dramatic work for a night merely to amuse myself and oblige a friend, whereas if I were to ask a dramatic critic to take my place, I should be regarded as no less obviously mad than a surgeon who should ask his stockbroker to cut off a leg or two for him, so as to leave him free for a trip up the

Musically, he was far ahead of most of his colleagues. While England was producing what seemed to be an oratorio a day in an attempt to find another "Elijah," Shaw was hitting out sarcastically at these gray slabs of imitation Mendelssohn. While the academics who ruled English music were mooning over Gounod's sentimentalities. Shaw was lecturing the nation on the infinite superiority of "Don Giovanni," which was either ig-nored or performed in debased

'I Could Make Deaf Stockbrokers Read My Two Pages on Music,'

It was not often that some critic of critics could back him into a corner, either. Here he is replying to a correspondent who accused him of being an "ignorant ass": "The term 'ass' I take to be a compliment. Modesty, hard work, contentment with plain fare, development of ear, underestimation by the public: all these are the lot of the ass and the last of the Bassettos."

The wit seldom was random. but usually went directly or indirectly to a musically valid point. As in this complaint: "The con-cert began with Mozart's Figaro overture. If you want to ascertain whether a musician is hopelessly belated, benighted, out of date, and behind his time, ask him how his overture should be played. If he replies 'In three and a half minutes,' away with him at once; he is guilty. . . . However, the overture, so treated, is undemably useful to boil eggs by, though I prefer them boiled four minutes myself."

PEOPLE: And 2,855 Pages of His Criticism Have Been Published to Prove It

'Test-Tube' Mother Awaiting a 2d, or 3d

Lesley Brown, mother of the world's first "test-usbe" baby, is expecting another, or possibly twins, the domestic British news twins, the domestic British news agency Press Association reported Thursday night. The agency said gynecologist Patrick Steptoe and physiologist Dr. Robert Edwards, joint pioneers of the technique, had telephoned Mrs. Brown, 34, and her husband, John, at their home in Bristol to confirm the news. The agency said the new arrival is due next July, arround the frough birthday of Louise Brown, the world's first authenticated test-tube baby, who is leading the life of a healthy, normal child. Louise was born July 25, 1978. At least 18 test-tube babies have been born in test-tube babies have been born in Britain, Australia and India since the birth of Louise at Oldham General Hospital in northern Eng-land. The Steptoe-Edwards clinic at Bourne Hall, Cambridgeshire, said last October that 60 more are due to be born in Britain. The world's first test-tube twins were born at the Oueen Victoria Hospital, Melbourne, Australia, on June 6. The baby Mrs. Brown is expect-ing next July will make her the first woman to have two tost-tube children by two separate births.

The will of actress Name Wood, filed in Superior Court, leaves the bulk of an estate estimated in the millions of dollars to her husband and daughters. Miss Wood drowned last weekend in an accident off Santa Catalina Island. Her husband, actor Robert Wagner, who was also named executor received all of her personal belongings, including cars and furnishings. The will set up a trust fund for her daughters, Natasha Greg-son, 11, and Courtney Brooke Wagner, 7. Wagner's daughter by a previous marriage, Katharine, 17, was given one-tenth of the assets. The full value of the estate has not yet been determined.

Former "Annie" star Shelley Bruce, 16, is back at her home in New Jersey after being released from Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center where she underwent treatment for acute lymphoblastic leukemia. She will continue receiving outpatient treat-ment at the hospital once a month. Her physicians say there is a 65-to-75 percent chance of a long-term

NJEOSRJ. Travelers' messages. Write Box 6262, Olympia, WA 98502, USA. ANNOUNCEMENTS

SUBSCRIBE to the INTERNATIONAL HERALD

TRIBUNE AND SAVE

As a new subscriber to the you can save up to 42% the newstand price, depending on your country of residence.

For details on this special introductory offer,

#IT Subscriptions Department, 181, Averne Charles-de-Gasile, 92200 Neutly-sur-Seine, France. Ir phone Paris 747-12-65 ext. 305 IN ASIA AND PACIFIC

contact our local distributor or: International Herald Tribus 1801 Tat Sang Commercial Bai 24-34 Hennessy Road HONG KONG Tel: HK 5-286726

PLAYBOY, U.S.A. is looking for YOUNG AMERICAN WOMEN living in Europe for an upcoming pict of, if you are interested, please a photographs and theaterments to PLAYBOY Photo Correspondent: Stewart, Box 78, Foreign Press Association Via Della Mercede 55, Rome 00187

AT CHRISTMAS SAVETIME

CUT DOWN ON YOUR POSTAGE Send Your Greenings Through An Ad under "Season's Greetings" YOUR ANCESTRY

Ask the leading experts to trace and comple your FAMELY HISTORY or research your COAT OF ARMS,
All credit cards accepted. Write to Achievements, Northgrise, Contentury
CTI TBAUK or telephone (1227)-62618.

DIVORCE in 24 hours. Contested/un-contested. Bufete, Inc. 35 Wisconsin Circle, Wostington, DC 20815 FEELING low? - howing problems? SOS HELP cross-line in English. 3 p.m.-11 p.m. Tel: Poris 723 80 80.

AMERICA CALLING ANNOUNCEMENTS

EMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE Services. Sunday: French 10 am., English 11.15 am. Wednesday: French & English, 7 pm. at Second Church of Chres, Seieulist. Faris: 58 Bivd Rendrin, Peris 16th. Metro Porte Deuphina. All welcome CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH. 13 r. du Vieux-Colombier, Paris 6, Ma. S. Sunday worthip in English 9.45 am, Rev. A. Sommerville 607 & 02.

PERSONALS

NINA VAN DYKE contact home imme-diately. Anyone knowing her whereabouts please phone collect: John R Van Dyke, 302-227-2139 USA. MOVING

INCREDIBLE MOVES INTERDEAN

> The International Mover

AMSTERDAM: ATHENS: 8ARCELONA: BONN: BREMEN: BRUSSELS: CANCE. CADIZ: CHICAGO: FRANKFURT: GENEVA: THE HAGUE

AUTOMOBILES, REMOVALS, BAG GAGE Special notes by air to U.S.A., Canada, & other destinations. Tran-scar, Paris 500 (3) 04.

SUN N.Y. TIMES, jet Euro-delivery. Write POB 2, 1000 Brussels, Belgium. WEIGHT LOSS & Computative Enters Group, US therepist. Paris 293 4077 AA in English doily, Paris. Tel. 325. 76.03.7551.38.90. IYPNOSIS. Stress, drinking, phobics habits, past lives, Paris 293 40 77,

RELIGIOUS SERVICES FRANCE

56 Rue des Born-Roisins, Reul-Malmaison, Western Suburiss. Sunday Worship 10 a.m.; Sunday School 11 a.m. Service in English. Tel. 749 15 29, 722 71 03.

65.09.57 21.05.91 249.54.00 86.31.44 595.7664 (06190) 2001 43.85.30 601108 448.9553 961.41.41 598.5551 671.24.50 141.50.36 738.32.88 490.7444 490.7444 490.7444 4363.20.00

CONTINEX: TEL 281 18 81 PARIS. [Near OPERA]. Air & Sea to all countries. Economy rates. Also baggage.

INTERNATIONAL

GERMANY: INT'L MOVING SERVICES Frankfurt, 0611-781006. Munich, 089-142244. Dusseklorf, 02102-45023/24.

UNITED VAN LINES

THE CUALITY MOVERS
Host Intersectional Moving
15 Rue Philippe de Dangeau
78000 Versalles
Tel: (3) 950 77 44 - Talen: 696301 F

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

FRENCE PROVINCES COTE D'AZUR

PORT GRIMAUD 'Fishermon's House' living room, 4 bedrooms, mooring 12m F1,250,000 or necrest offer. GARDE FRENET Village house in hom-let which can be extended, fiving room, 3 bedrooms, kitchen, bathroom, solari-um, Water, electricity, phone. F 450,000 or nearest offer.

MOVING

ALLIED

VAN LINES

THE CARFFLE MOVERS

NEAR CROIX VALMER Overlooking see, excellent opportunity to purchase semi detached houses with small private gardens, 3 to 5 rooms, Prices from F-605,000 to F1,100,000.

Apply: JOHN TAYLOR S.A. B.P. 66, 83970 ST-TROPEZ Tel: (94) 97 07 30,

CENTRAL ATHENS, in the center of the most prestigious Kolonatis Square, just refurbished leavey office premises of 250 squ. on the whole of the second floor, Pessibility for an extra 142 squ. on the first floor. For further information, contert Tirifon Apostologoulos, tel: Athens 683 2712, teles: 218266 KT GR. HOLLAND

MISTERDAM. COMFORTABLE ville, unspecified view overlooking Amstell riv-er. 8 rooms, 2 bothrooms, open fire-place. Landscaped garden, garage. er. 6 rooms, zeemoorst, geen un-pioce. Londscaped garden, garden, sami-rurol, excellent shopping, Goy occess to city and arport. Write Box 13304, Herald Tribune, 92521 Neutily Cedex, Franco. COMING TO LIVE IN AMSTERDAM Your best bet is a charming, highly fiv-able houseboot on an historic canal POB 10805 Amsterdam, Call: Holland, (0) 20-843105.

PARIS & SUBURBS IN PARIS, OWNER SELLS magnificent operheert, 280 sq.m. Neor Chomps Bysses. 80 sq.m. gorden. Available immediately, enhirsty decorated. Splendid view on Effel Tower. Cell 541 01 89/539 55 75.

PORTUGAL ALGARVE Center of Loule, (16 lars. from Faro 8 10 lans. from Vilamoura). For sole, 20 year old binking in 340 sq.m., 1st flear residence with 7 bed-rooms, 3 baths, I lwing room, formaca Ground floor with commercial center in activity. 1-car garage. Ressibile approval to build 3 more floors of commercial center. Price US 435,000. Write Box 3371, Herold Tribune, 32, R. Janekat Verdes, 1200 Lisbon, Portugal.

SWITZERLAND

VEX.SER - A selection of operhisents in this formous six report. All authorized for sole to non-Swiss, from SF 92,000. For property list, contact Hillary Scalif, 422 Upper Richmand Road West, London SW 14. Tel. London 876 6555. Telen. 934386.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS REAL ESTATE FOR SALE SWITZERLAND

and Struggle of Police with the FOREIGNERS an buy apartments on LAKE GENEVA can bey opportunists on LAIC GENEVA, in Montreux near Lousanne, or all year round resorts St. Cargue near Geneva, Villars, Les Dichlerets, Financing up to 50-70% at low trisenest rates. Also quality opportunents in France EVIAN on Lais Geneva and MEGEVE, purmer and winter paradises both opproximate and winter paradises both opproximate and winter paradises both opproximate and service of the contract of the con

SWITZERLAND
PORTIGINALS CAN BUY
APARTMENTS in Mortreux & furnous mountain resorts, 8ank loan available Writes Postfack 406, 4102 Birmingen 1, Switzerland. Tele 061/44 50 70

SWITZERLAND
FOREIGNERS CAN BUY
APARTMENTS in Montreux & form mountain resorts, Bonk loan ovallab
Writzer Posificah 405, 4102 Benningen
Switzerland, Teb 061/44 50 90 SPAIN

MARBELLA

Opposite Morbella Club. 4-bedroor town house. Pricad to sell. Contact P.C Box 264, Marbella (Mologa), Spain. Tel 52 / 776 350 or 52 / 773 212. USA GENERAL

RIVEST IN SOUTHERN CAUFORNIA Apartment, Commercial and Industrial complemes, currently manages $ 300 million of Real Stotles, $ 190,000 min-mum, Contact Michael K. Hayde, P.O. Box 6348, Orange, California 92667, U.S.A. USA RESIDENTIAL

HOTEL DES ARTISTES - N.Y. Rore opprovince see ARTISTIES - N.T. Rore op-portunity to purchase 3-bachcony. 2-both duplex operanes in this unique building. Belcomy, living room with 20 ft. ceiling, diring room, large foyer. Easton & Echtman, P.C., 127 E. 42nd 5t., New York, N.Y. 10168. Tel: 212-687-0140.

USA COMMERCIAL & INDUSTRIAL LOS ANGRES COUNTY, Catifornia. 18-hole golf club, 6500 yords. Rated 71-por 72. Contact Mr. Welt Montini, 320 West G. Street, Ontorio, Colifor-nia 91/62. Tel: 714 983 5985.

REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON BELAGRAVIA, to let. Excel-lent flot, 2nd floor, lift, holf, double bed-room, reception room, bethroom, king-en. Fully furnished. £140 per week. Tel: London 373 0914. LCNDON opposite Millionaire's Row, Kensington. Superb luxury flats. £150 to £275 per week. Company Lets. Tel: (01) 740 6834.

LONDON Aprory properties, short/long lets - HERRIST 01 434 3717/8/9. GREECE CENTER ATHENS, residential, Souidios, 70, 130 sq.m. flot. Large living, 2 bed-rooms, verando. Tel: 712473, from 8 to 10 a.m. or 2 to 6 p.m. HOLLAND

020-448751 (4 lines) Amsterdom, Bolestein 43. DUTCH HOUSING CENTRE 8.V. Dehose rentals. Valeriusstr. 174, Amsterdam. 020-721234 or 723222.

Renthouse International

INT'L HOUSING SERVICE for rent houses and opartments AMSTERDAM, Tel: 020 - 768022. PERRE'S SERVICES in Amsterdom, HE versum & Utrecht crecs, Tel: 035-12198, Kopittelweg 389, Hilversom.

REAL ESTATE WANTED/EXCHANGE REAL ESTATE TO RENT/SHARE ITALY

When in Rome:
PALAZZO AL VELABRO
Lizury aportmeré house with furnishe flots, avaisible for 1 west and mon from $50 e day for two.
Phone: 6794225, 6793450.
Write: Via dal Velebro 16, 00186 Rome. AT BARGAIN PRICES.

Clab Eurosia in Coarmoyeur, the Itolian side of Mont Blanc. Price includes leaving the testing side of Mont Blanc. Price includes leaving fift pass and resort rep. 1 week DM 435, presented to the price of t PARIS AREA PURNISHED NEAR ETCALE. 70 sq.m., modern building 4th floor, living, bedroom, equipped latchen. F 5000 net. 501 66 74

CHAMPS ELYSES: Lorge studio. Co 720 54 54 CONVENTION: 2 bedrooms, P2900 net, Couple only, 531 89 00/828 81 65 IE ST LOUIS: Luxurious studio, Call 325 95 43.

95 43.
NO AGENT BOURTED DUFLEX opentment, short term. Coll 606 04 37.
SHORT TERM near Luxembourg gardens. No agent. Tel 329 38 83. U.S.A.

RICEIDA, furnished, hecutiful opera-ment directly on beach. Sunny & warm oil year round. Rent or exchange. Apply for datala. PO Box 1052, Bron-don, Florida 33511, USA.

GREECE BY YACHT. Motor/soil. To discover 2000 islands at leisure. INN ON THE SEA, Laskou 12, Pirasus, Greece. Tel. 452 4069, The 211249.

SIQ-INSTRUCTOR [fully qualified], gives lessons family/groups over Xmas period. Tel: 366 59 41 Paris. HELLAS YACHTENG. York charters Academics 28, Athens 134, Greece.

International Business Message Center

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL

LUXURY SKI HOLIDAYS AT BARGAIN PRICES.

CHARTER A VALEF YACHT in Greece, dwect from owner of largest fleet in Europe. American management. Bookerf crews, service, manistenance, govt-bonded. Volef Yochs Ltd., Akti Themistokicous ZXC, Procus, Greece. Tel., 4529571, 4529486. Teless 21-2000.

over a quarter of a million readers worldwide, most of whom are in business and industry, will read your message. Just telex us Parts 613595, before 10:00 a.m. ensuring that we can telex you back and your message will appear within 48 hours. You will be billed at U.S.$8.20 or local equivalent per line. You must include complete and perifiable billing address.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES COMPUTER PORTRAITS ANAPOTER PORTRAITS

BN COLOR OR B & W

AN INSTANT MONEY MAKER THAT CAN EARN YOU
$ 6000/$ 8000 per menth
A portrait from a five subject or from a photo in less than 60 sec. This can be instantly transferred on to a T-chief or most cray testile item. Full or part-time.
ALL CASH BUSINESS. Fortable. No evcenence necessory. Excellent for shopping centers, resorts, shows, holes, mail ander, cornwols, fairs or only high treffic focation. Systems priced from $10,000 to $20,000. FOB Frontiert
KEMA COMPUTER SYSTEMS

DEFT DOS FOSTFACH 174082, 6 FRANKERET GERMANY.

6 FRANKFURT GERMANY. TREEX: 412718. Office hours 10 c.m. - 6 p.m. IN COLOR OR B & W

PANAMA Consider operating intermationally compliately text free. Write for informative free brochere about utilization of Panama companies, ship registrations, trust services, company monogeness, or ist of official English translations of Panamarian Laws. We are Panama's ternational Service Company, In Interseco Building P.O. Box 7440, Panama 5 Republic of Panama Tel: 64-8000. Cable: RNTEISECO Telexas: rTT 3151 - WUI 2708

STOCK LOTS OF CLOTHING WANTED
consignments of branded and unded jeans. Trousens, suits, jackets, sweat shirts, lantwear, immediate on rijade. Cosh payment on sight of goods. Tel: London 637 2782/2789 (9:30:5:30) U.S. REAL ESTATE DEVELOPEIS sock U.S. REAL ESTATE DEVELOPEICS seek project financing for exclusive developments in the United States. Significant returns are guaranteed for short and long term investments secured by first martgages. Centach SYTE. OVER. SEAS SERVICES S.A. Aspholie House, Poloce Street, London SWIE SHS. Tel. 01 828 4577, The 913001.
GOVERNIMENT OF COUNTRY soon to become independent seeks contact with highly substantial investors to develop various mining operations. Box 15315, Herlad Tribune, 92521 Nevilly Ceden, France.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES AVARABLE INT'L IONOWN fronchise restourcht, Grand Central area, N.Y.C. Long term favorable lease. 8as. 13311. Herald Tribune, 92521 Neolly cedex, France.

13311, Heradi Inture, YSZI Netury cedex, France.

PRE, LONG ESTARLISHED PRENCH restourcer evalidate in midlown N.Y.C. Fovorable lease. Write to box 13312, Herald Tribune YZZI Neutly cedex, France.

MONITELY TRADING MAGAZINE, worldwide circularion, tells you where and what to sell and buy internationally. Free sample from PCB 503, Marine Parade, Singapore 9144.

EXCLUSIVE LOG CHALET business, sole French Franches, seels steiented person to participate development. Tell London (01) 674 5287. BUSINESS SERVICES DON'T VISIT PARIS ALONE. Toks high standard private guide with our. Coll AFOS: 541 01 89/539 5575.

FINANCIAL INVESTMENTS LOST One slightly dispped mollusk from the hull of the Titoric, Reward, KONCEPTS. Tal. 288 50 42 Paris.

DIAMONDS To Diamond Owners ☐ WORLD WIDE ☐

And all those who want to know what is the real market price of diamonds. We are the only publishers of a morthly booklet giving the most serious and accurate prices and information of the diamond made world wide.

Circulation: 25,000 copies per month. To obtain a free copy, please mail a self-addressed envelope to:

Georges Evens

Arthr Poished Dept.,

92 Pelitocenstrees

2000 Antwerpun, Belgium.

Copies also available in PARIS = 225 89 79 LONDON = 404 0341 ± 405 8587 AMSTERDAM = 22 55 41 ZURICH = 257 19 31 NEW YORK = 719 5204 ± 391 2981 RIO DE JANERIO = 237 1137 Teles: 331 17 DIMBOD 8 (BELGIUM)

HOLIDAYS & TRAVEL PORTUGAL 7 DAYS INCLUSIVE TOURS

FROM PARIS TO:

Pierse contacts Paris: Tel: 742 59 81, 742 52 64, 742 54 97. Tbs: 220550 FROM MILAN TO:

ALGARVE (HALFBOARD)651,000 Line MADERA (HALFBOARD)667,000 Line

For other programs and detailed infantacion, ask your

TRAVEL AGENT

DIAMONDS

Jewellery Consultancy Selling Buying Valuations Auctions Designs Testing

Insurance

Contact: L. ROWE F.G.A. L. ROWE (Jewellery Consultant) Ltd. 49 Conduit St. London W18 9FB. Telephone. 01-734 3101/4. DIAMONDS

nvestment

Your best buy.
Fine diamonds in any price range of lowest wholesale prices direct from Antwerp center of the diamond world.
Full guarantes.
For free price list write Josephin Goldensteiln distribution or factorists of the control of the co

DIAMONDS & JEWELRY

Export Prices Tax Free

Open Mon. thru Sar. included, MAIGIZ INVESTMENT Brussells: 150° Centre Int. Roger, 15th Roor. 02/218 28 83. Antwerp: 58 Longe Herentolsestroor 031/33 13 62 OFFICE SERVICES

Your PERSONALIZED PARIS OFFICE Champs Bysen Brolle Business & legal address, and, law, memogra & secretarial services Accounting, tex & legal existence, BORBOR, 21 rue Vernet, 75008 Paris. Tel. 723 80 46 The 630 602F

EMPLOYMENT EXECUTIVE POSITIONS AVAILABLE

in the IHT Classified Section. ARAB PUBLISHERS BUSINESSMAN SEECS English or American secretary - personal assistant, good appearance. Tree to travel, Paris based. Call Paris 563 54 08, 10 c.m. - 1 p.m. & 7 p.m. - 9 p.m. OVERSEAS B.V. Publishers of Arab Bosiness Report as if in church, while the Hallelujah chorus is being sung. It is the nearest sensation to the elevation nearest sensation to the elevation of the Host known to English Protestants." Having let you have your giggle, he can then go on to deplore the wrongheadedness of performing Handel with immense choruses. This in 1913, when festival choirs numbering in the thousands would he herded together to bellow away at "The Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." Now the choruses of 20 to 40 that he contended were all that could save Handel's music from extinction in England have virtually wiped

Shaw thought a great deal of Handel's music, despite his despair of ever hearing much of it beyond the "Messiah." He liked to draw parallels between writing prose and writing music, and his bow to Handel on that count is worth the attention of every young critic - no, of everyone who writes the language still learned that style consists in force of assertion. If you can say a thing with one stroke, unanswerably you have style; if not, you are at best a marchand

de plaisir, a decorative littérateur, or a musical confectioner, or a painter of fans with cupids and cocottes. Handel has this power," So does George Bernard Shaw, and he is funnier, to boot.

"It was from Handel that I out the old battalions.

known as English:

is lounching a new high-level Arab / English magazine
cimed at a very selective readersh in the Arab world and Furrore TEACHING POSITIONS LANGUAGE SCHOOL (15th.) ENGLISH TEACHER With TB*L toperience in France. English mother tonger of water. English day on. Mrs. MANGEARD: 575 62 96. We are looking for an EDITOR He must have a broad experience in desk-editing and preferably should have a sound knowledge in the deforse-oriented field. Applications with full C.V.

ARAB PUBLISHERS OVERSEAS B.V. P.O. Box 520 1420 CA Uithoorn Holland.

FOR MORE EXECUTIVE POSITIONS LOOK UNDER "INTERNATIONAL EXECUTIVE OPPORTUNITIES" PAGE 12

EXECUTIVES AVAILABLE. NEED A MANAGEMENT TEAM

Experientad management team ovailable to lead & succeed in U.S. business environment. Experience in depth & breadth of all major focusts - marketing, engineering. Financial & operational file experienced team is ideally prepared to established a profitable business vanture either new or turn-oround. Current positions.

 President & Director of Fortune's top 200 corporations.
 Senior Division Controller of Fortune's top 200 corporations.
 President of a large industrial corporation. We wish to work again as a team to repeat past successes. We are not avail-able on individual basis. Replies to: Bax 20323, St. Petersburg, Pla. 33702.

BUSINESSMAN, Austrian, top sales ex-ecutive. International espanence, flours' German, French. English, Span-not, Dutch, excellent background, worldwide travel regured, stella chal-lenging position. Will consider short or long term engagement. Ref., 81254, c/o P.O. Box 20246, 1000 HE Anster-dam. Tal: Holland (I) 35/16629. TOP Manague, 46, Marketing/Soles, 20 years with American company / office couplinest industry, seeks new challenge German (European) subsidiary of American company, Munich area preferred. HTI, Bott 1655, Gr. Sochenheimerstr 43, 6000 Frankfurt, W. Ger Bheilish MANNES & Methes Melos BNGUSH MANNES & Methes Melos free now. Nesh Agency, 27 Grand Pe-rade, Brighton, UK. Teh 682 666. MANTES D'HOTEL, Franch, excellent references, seeks stable position Paris. Tek (1) 374 65 12. AMERICAN BABYSITTER ovalidate. Mature, experienced. Paris 380 15 94.

PROPENDENT CHEMICAL TRADER Frontdurt based, available for estab Islaing new contracts. Write IHT, Bos 1666, Gr. Escherheimer Str. 43, 6000 Frontdurt/M., W. Gerreony.

GENERAL POSITIONS WANTED

MAINTED

MAINTED

MAINTED

MAINTED

MAINTENGUAL YOUNG LADY, Germon, Heidelberg University's interpretar discione (Sponish), engien & Economics, European Sacretoriol Academy English, Franch-Sponish), engenienced in interrectional bestness unimentarization. Seals cholenging, materizing position in Paris, Sponior of US as atterpreter, or according to qualification. Available for interview in Paris beginning January 82. White to CvG. Co Guidin, N. heimer Landahr. 18 A 6500 Heidelberg, W. Germony, PROFESSIONAL SKI INSTELLCTOR. Children/ adults. American/ European man, 32, Franch-English, beacher, mane, Unexpo intern, seals Xmas sid work. P. Bergen, Paris 354 55 97 eves. FERNCHAMA, 30, Risingual English seeks position as guide for lowest 2 business groups. Box 371, Herold Tribune, 2521 Neurly Codes, France.

US WOMAIN WRITES, Hellywood background, PR, advertings, TV, movies, open to meresting proposals. Paris 976 87 41.

EMPLOYMENT AUTOMOBILES MERCHONS MENZ 200 280 SEL 500 SEL Left Hand Drive. Tet 01 221 0538 / 0543 LIK, Telex 299907. SECRETÁRIAL POSITIONS AVAILABLE AUTO SHIPPING DON'T MISS.
INTERNATIONAL
SECRETARIAL POSITIONS

DOMESTIC POSITIONS AVAILABLE

* Active Business *

* Couple *

With one it year old, well-trav

With one 11 year old, well-travelled longist young man, required PERSON With experience in driving, homemoting and foreign one who can late complete charge of a groupus one family home in BOCA BATON, RORDA Full time, sleep-in, reliable person will be generately compensated. Apply Box 40565, BTI, 103 Kingsway, London WC2

AMERICAN/ GERMAN family in Col-ogne seeks ou pair with some board General to take care of 31% year old bry, starting as soon of possible. Dr. Gerd Schmidt, Gneisencustrosse 22, 5000 Koefn 50, Tel/2211 339 3354, Gennary, weekdays 10om - noon, All PARP 2000 Koen 3J, 1e43/21-337-3354, Germany, weekdays 10om - noon, All PAIR - near Frankfurt, au pair for nice young family, 2 children 14 and 13 yeard. Write- Dieter Halmann, Am Robentsom 4, D-6240 Koenigstein, Germany, 16: 06/12 / 1777.

DOMESTIC POSITIONS WANTED

GOVERNESS

FRENCH/ BNGLISH LESSONS References, Live-in, Box 383, Herold Tribune, 92521 Neutly Codex, Ficence

WE HAVE a number of Mathers' Help-ers & Trained Namies available for I: year contract. WORLDWIDE. Write or helpshore as near, Rembow Burson, Mrs. Greenslade, 6th floor, Carolyn House, Diegwall Road, East Cryothen, Surrey, CR' 38E, England, Tel. 01 680 5533, for 01 771 0085 other 6 pm] Ag/ SE 5038.

DOMESTIC POSITIONS WANTED

BNGUSH GENTLEMAN, 34, Poris re-gion, will travel onywhere, constale, drive, cook, escort, deconste. P.A., permanent, 14 481 44 5 France. WORUDWIDE on poirs, mothers' help, normes, houselesspers, Au Poirs Inter-national. Mrs Greeberd, 2 Pinkes St., bnei-Broq, Tel: 03/70423, larrel.

AUTOMOBILES

PRECIOUS VENTAGE MORRES 10.
1934, 4 door seden, 4 cylinders, per-fect condition, all enginel parts, US$10,000. Box 15317, Herdel Tri-bune, 92521 Neually Cedex, France.

TRANSCAIL forcon's largest for Core, onto baggage. It household effects worldwide. Solitor: London W1, 43/44 New Bord St., Tel. 499 4121, General 1219, 39/38 Ave. de Lignon. Tels 94 65 11. Frankfurt, Am Swaponi. 10, D6092 Reisterboth, Tels 05107 2051. The original is still the only Transcar Organization. TUESDAYS

ADI, INFORGATO & SAI ME ONLY INSTANCE CARGINATION OF PROMI U.S.A.
VIA ANTIMOSP AND SAVE free ho-hal Regular radings, RK/McGaire Ai-port delivery, AMESCO, Kribbestratt 2, Antwerp, Belgium, Tel. 31 42 32. PRANKFURT/HARM - W. GERMANY.
H. Issurens Gestid, Teh 0611-46907.
Pickop oil over Europe * raf/codex.
ERANSCAR 20 ros. Ls. Sanst, 7514
Para, Teh 500 03 04. Nice: 83 95 33.
Annivery 33 99 85. Comes: 29 43 44.
EROM DESTINE

Moria Air Fret. Pone 288 73 97. AUTOS TAX REEE

ICZKOVITS -Claridenstrasii 36, CH-9027 Zurich Tek 01/20276 10, Telesc 53444.

> PAGE 15 FOR MORE CLASSIFIEDS

Part Care at a

MIDE

L. c.

The second second

Mhulia ()trater

San San Care

W (11 L'inniera

 $\| \partial u_{k} \|_{L^{2}(\Omega_{k}^{2}) \to 0}$

 $(1_{\{i,j\},i+1,\dots,j+k-k})$ and the second

The Long

 $(-1)^{n} \mathcal{S}_{(n)} = (-1)^{n} \mathcal{S}_{(n)}$ STORY OF

in the

for advertising internatio contact the TRIB's office in your country. HEAD OFFICE erius Max Ferrero Tel.: 747.12.65.

BUROPE Ameterdune Alfons Grins Tel.: 26 36 15. Mhene: J.C. Remesson Tel.: 361 83 97/360 24 21. Tel.: 343 18 99. kfurts H. Jurig or K. Ohff Tel.: 28 36 78. auronne: Guy von Thuyne Tel.: 29 58 94 MK Kita Ambay Tel. 67 27 93 & 66 25 44. ions Michael Mitchell Tel., 242 5) 73. rid: A. Umlauff Sanniers Tel.: 455 28 91 & 455 33 06 Tel.: 679 34 37.

Tel.: 54-15-06-22. OTHERS tong Kong: C. Chensy Tel.: 5 - 420 906, New York: Sendy O'Here Tel.: 752 38 90. Tel Avivs Don Ehrlich Tel.: 229 873.

CAIRO AMERICAN COLLEGE

a K-12 school in Cairo, Egypt, (enralling 1,200 students from U.S. and 50 other countries), anticipates vacancies at elementary and secondary level for 1982/83. Dedicated teachers seeking a challenging position should submit a full application, including cur-

J. J. L. C. S. 1777 L. 34. 4 es a de aprime de Real Property

Superintendent, Coiro American College, P.O. Box, 39, Mandi, Cairo, Egypt. Interviews in London, (and other di-ies) in February 1982.